CFP History For The Bulldogs

This is the second time Georgia has made the CFP and the Bulldogs have advanced to the National Championship Game both times. Georgia will again face Alabama in the National Championship Game. The Bulldogs advanced this year as the No. 3 seed after topping No. 2 Michigan 34-11 in the Capital One Orange Bowl in Miami, Fla. In 2017, third-seeded Georgia beat second-seeded Oklahoma 54-48 in 2OT in the CFP Semifinal Rose Bowl Game and then fell to 4th-seeded Alabama in overtime at the National Championship Game 26-23.

Georgia-Alabama Series History

Alabama leads the all-time series with Georgia 42-25-4. Georgia won the first meeting, coming in 1895, with a 30-6 triumph in Columbus. The Crimson Tide have won the past seven meetings, including this year's SEC Championship Game in Atlanta. The last time Georgia faced a top-ranked Alabama squad was the 2018 SEC Championship Game when the No. 4 Bulldogs fell 35-28 in Atlanta.

Salute To The Seniors

The 2021 Bulldog seniors will be playing their 15th game of this season in the CFP National Championship. They enter the matchup with a 44-8 record, which ties for the most wins for a Georgia class. Forty-four victories has been done now four times, including 2005 (44-9), 2019 (44-12) and 2020 (44-9). This current group of Bulldogs has won three SEC Eastern Division crowns, and won the 2020 Allstate Sugar Bowl, the 2021 Chick-fil-A Peach Bowl and the 2021 CFP Semifinal Capital One Orange Bowl.

Georgia's most decorated senior class came in 1983 as it went 43-4-1, winning the 1980 national championship and three SEC titles (1980-82).

Aiming For 14

This season marked the first time since 1980 that the Bulldogs went 12-0 during the regular season. Georgia became only the fourth team in school history to finish a regular season undefeated and untied with double-digit victories (1946, 1980, 1982). Prior to this season, Vince Dooley's 1980 consensus national champions was the last Georgia squad to go 12-0 after defeating Notre Dame in the Sugar Bowl. The school record for wins in a season is 13, and that's been done three times (2002 under Mark Richt, 2017 & 2021 under Kirby Smart).

Mark Richt's 2002 squad went 13-1, including wins in the SEC Championship Game and Sugar Bowl, and finished ranked No. 3. Smart's 2017 team beat Auburn for the league title, Oklahoma in the Rose Bowl Game/CFP Semifinal, and then lost in overtime to Alabama in the CFP National Championship to finish 13-2. The Bulldogs had a final ranking of No. 2.

Dominating Defense & Offense Delivering Points

Georgia leads the nation in Scoring Defense giving up just 9.6 points per game. The Bulldogs are averaging 39.0 points per game, which is ranked ninth nationally.

The defense has allowed an FBS low 12 touchdowns while the unit has scored three TDs. The defense did not allow a touchdown until the third game of the season.

Georgia opponents have scored only 135 points in 2021. Texas A&M's opponents have the next fewest points in the FBS at 191.

Bulldogs Reap Rewards from Historic Season

On Dec. 9, senior tackle Jordan Davis won the Outland Trophy, which goes annually to the nation's top interior lineman, and the Bednarik Award, which goes each year to the country's top defensive player. Also this year, junior Nakobe Dean won the Butkus Award, which is given to college football's top linebacker each season.

Both Davis and Dean were two of the three SEC players named unanimous All-Americans. Alabama's Will Anderson was the third. Junior safety Lewis Cine and freshman tight end Brock Bowers were also included as First Team All-Americans this season.

Bulldogs Extend Nation's Longest Active Bowl Streak

The Bulldogs rank second nationally with 58 bowl appearances. Georgia's latest bowl win over No. 2 Michigan in the CFP Semifinal Capital One Orange Bowl was its 25th consecutive appearance, which is the nation's longest active bowl streak. In school history, Georgia owns a 34-21-3 record in bowl games.

Kirby Smart — Head Football Coach

Four SEC Eastern Division championships, 65 wins, one SEC title, five bowl victories, and preparing for his second appearance in a national championship game are more than respectable rewards over a six-year period. That's what Georgia got when it hired former Bulldog player and assistant coach Kirby Smart to head the program in Dec., 2015.

The 2021 team was Smart's fifth straight team to finish in the top 10 of the CFP rankings, earn a New Years Six bowl game and fourth appearance in the SEC Championship Game. The '21 team became the first UGA squad to win 12 games in the regular season and first since 1982 to go undefeated in the regular season and Smart was named the SEC Coach of the Year.

The 2020 Bulldogs navigated the Covid-19 pandemic to an 8-2 SEC-only record and Chick-fil-A Peach Bowl victory over undefeated Cincinnati. The 2020 Bulldog senior class tied the record for the most wins by a senior class in school history (44), set by the 2005 and 2019 teams. That was also Smart's fourth straight team to finish the regular season ranked in the top ten of the College Football Playoff rankings.

Smart's 2019 team became the first team in school history to win 11 or more games for a third straight season. The senior class posted a four-year record of 44-12, matching the school record of 44 wins for a senior class. UGA defeated three Top 15 teams in the final CFP ranking — Notre Dame, Florida, and Auburn — and finished as the fourth-ranked team in the final polls. The season was capped by a dominant win over Baylor in the Allstate Sugar Bowl.

When UGA looked for a head coach after the 2015 season, the arrows pointed to Kirby Smart, longtime Alabama defensive coordinator and former UGA player and assistant. The 2017 Associated Press SEC Coach of the Year has not disappointed.

In his first year leading the Bulldogs, Georgia extended its school record to 20 consecutive bowl appearances and had wins over No. 8 Auburn and No. 22 UNC.

In 2017, Smart directed UGA to a 13-2 record, an SEC title, a win at The Rose Bowl Game during the CFP semifinal and a spot in the National Championship. He was named the Maxwell Football Club's George Munger National Coach of the Year. Before 2017, the Bulldogs last SEC title was 2005.

The 2018-19 Dogs advanced to the SEC title game, secured an invite to the Sugar Bowl and combined for a 23-5 record.

He has also made an immediate impact in recruiting, posting the nation's No. 1 class in 2018, the second-ranked class in 2019 and the third-ranked class in 2017 and 2020.

Bennett 13-3 As A Starter at Georgia

* Senior Stetson Bennett, a native of Blackshear, Ga., who was a Burlsworth Trophy finalist, began his career with the Bulldogs as a walk-on in 2017 when he was redshirted. Bennett transferred to Jones College (Miss.) where he started in 2018 and then returned to the Bulldogs on scholarship in 2019. He saw action that season in five games including throwing passes in four of them. In 2020, he started five games.

* In his Bulldog career, Bennett is 13-3 as a starter and has completed 61.9 percent of his passes (274-for-443, 4077 yards, 37 TDs, 14 INTs). Also, he has 70 rushing attempts for 314 yards and four scores.

* In 2021, Bennett has played in 13 games (10-1 as a starter) and is 168-for-261 (64.4%) for 2,638 yards with 27 TDs and seven INTs. He has 48 carries for 283 yards.

* He ranks fourth nationally in Passing Efficiency (176.8). The single-season school record in that category belongs to Aaron Murray at 174.8 in 2012.

* JT Daniels started the season behind center but was sidelined versus UAB due to a lat injury. Bennett stepped in and started that game. Daniels returned against South Carolina and then left the Vanderbilt game after the first quarter with an aggravation of his injury. Bennett played most of the Vanderbilt game and then has served as the starter since the Oct. 2 win over No. 8 Arkansas.

* Bennett helped Georgia complete a historic 8-0 SEC regular season and its first undefeated regular season since 1982.

* Bennett was named the Offensive MVP of the Orangel Bowl/CFP Semifinal win over No. 2 Michigan. He completed 20 of his 30 attempts for 313 yards and three touchdowns against the highly-touted Wolverine defense, including Heisman Trophy runner-up Aiden Hutchinson.

* Bennett posted career highs in completions (29), yards (340) and attempts (48) and threw for three touchdowns against No. 4 Alabama in the SEC Championship Game.

* Bennett opened up the CFP Semifinal Orange Bowl going 9-for-9 for 92 yards and a touchdown, completing passes to five separate receivers. On a related note, in the games against Georgia Tech and Alabama, his first nine completions went to nine different receivers.

Bowers Chasing History in Freshman Season

* Freshman TE Brock Bowers has a team-best 52 catches for 846 yards and 13 touchdowns (12 rec., one rush). All the aforementioned totals are school records by a TE in a single season. He is the 2021 SEC Freshman of the Year. In fact, Bowers' 12 TD catches is a single-season UGA record by any pass catcher, breaking the mark previously held by SE Terrence Edwards in 2002.

* Some notables from Bowers first season include: three 100-yard games; four touchdown receptions of 25+ yards; his first touchdown catch of his career was an 89-yarder from Stetson Bennett versus UAB, this was the ninth-longest passing TD in school history; had a 12-yard rushing touchdown on his first career carry at Vanderbilt, was the leading receiver with four catches for 69 yards and two touchdowns and was named the SEC Freshman of the Week; was the team leader with six catches for 101 yards and two touchdowns against No. 11 Kentucky and was named SEC Freshman of the Week yet again as well as Mackey Award Tight End of the Week; had a 77-yard scoring reception from Bennett at Georgia Tech.

Sharing The Load At RB

* Junior Zamir White (147 attempts, 772 yards, 10 TDs) and senior James Cook (107 att., 651 yds., 7 TDs) split a majority of the carries.

* White has led the team in rushing in seven games while Cook has done it five times. Junior Kenny McIntosh and sophomore Kendall Milton led the Bulldogs in rushing the other two games. White had 14 carries and went for 105 yards (7.5 per carry) and a TD in the win over Florida. His performance featured a 42-yard touchdown run. Milton returned against #2 Michigan after missing six games with a knee injury.

* Cook finished with a career-high 104 rushing yards and three scores (2 rush, 1 rec.) in the victory over UT. Against Missouri, his one touchdown came out of the "Wild Dawg" formation.

* McIntosh got his first start at Georgia Tech and carried the ball twice for 66 yards, including a season-long 59-yard touchdown scamper. Versus #2 Michigan, he completed his first career pass attempt for an 18-yard touchdown to AD Mitchell.

* White, McIntosh and sophomore Daijun Edwards all scored rushing touchdowns at Vanderbilt, along with WR Ladd McConkey and TE Brock Bowers.

A Look At The Offensive Line

* Senior Jamaree Salyer (LT), junior Warren Ericson (LG), redshirt freshman Sedrick Van Pran (C), fifth-year senior Justin Shaffer (RG) and redshirt sophomore Warren McClendon (RT) comprised the starting lineup for a seven-game stretch until the Missouri game on Nov. 6. Then, redshirt freshman Broderick Jones filled in for Salyer for four games after a foot injury. Salyer, who was named to the Walter Camp All-America Second Team, returned to the lineup against No. 4 Alabama. In the season opener versus No. 3 Clemson, redshirt freshman Tate Ratledge started at left guard, but a foot injury he sustained on the game's first series has kept the Rome, Ga., native out of action since.

* The unit has allowed only 11 sacks this year. That leads the SEC and ranks second nationally.

* The Bulldog offensive line paved the way for five straight scores to start the Orange Bowl in building a 27-3 halftime lead. The unit did not allow a sack to the Wolverine defense, including Heisman Trophy runner-up Aiden Hutchinson, who ranked second nationally in sacks before the game. The Bulldogs finished with 521 yards of total offense, averaging 7.9 yards per play.

* Georgia focused on the rushing game versus No. 8 Arkansas and finished with 56 attempts for 273 yards (4.9 yards/rush) and three touchdowns. This was the most rushing attempts in a game during the Kirby Smart era.

* At No. 18 Auburn, the Bulldogs' rushing attack picked up steam in the second half, gaining 165 yards to finish with 201 in the 34-10 win. Jones also filled in at LT in this game after Salyer went down with an ankle injury.

Ton Of Targets

* After starting the season thin at receiver, the Bulldogs have nearly returned all at the position back to action.

* The Bulldogs spread the ball around, including 11 different receivers hauling in passes against #4 UA and nine catching balls versus #2 UM.

* Prior to the victory over Missouri in Game 9, Georgia relied mostly on freshman TE Brock Bowers, junior Kearis Jackson, redshirt freshman Ladd McConkey and freshman AD Mitchell.

* Georgia's leading receivers have been freshmen Bowers (52 rec., 846 yds., 12 TDs), McConkey (30-444-5) and Mitchell (27-376-3), in addition to sophomore Burton (24-469-5).

* George Pickens, the Bulldogs' top returning receiver, injured his knee during spring practice and missed the first 11 games of the 2021 season. He made his 2021 debut against Georgia Tech, with one catch against the Jackets, and then had a pair of catches for 41 yards in the SEC Championship Game.

* Jackson accounted for 97 all-purpose yards in the rout over Florida. He had a team-leading three catches for 59 yards and a touchdown while also taking care of return duties with a total of two returns. His 36-yard touchdown catch (his first of the year) before halftime put the Bulldogs up 17-0.

* During the victory at No. 18 Auburn, McConkey hauled in a career-high five catches for 135 yards and a career-long 60-yard touchdown. He became the third Bulldog this year to have a receiving and rushing touchdown in the same game during the win at Vanderbilt. Both he and Bowers accomplished the feat versus the Commodores while senior RB James Cook did it against South Carolina and at Tennessee.

* Cook, who has 25 catches for 269 yards and four touchdowns this year, tallied a team-best 147 all-purpose yards in the win at UT and 144 versus #2 Michigan in the Orange Bowl, including a 39-yard touchdown catch.

Camarda Leads One of Nation's Top Punting Units

* Senior Jake Camarda is arguably the most valuable special teams player among all Bulldogs this season, as he has for nearly all of his four years. Since his collegiate debut in 2018, the Norcross, Ga., native has handled all punting duties and has also served as the holder on 315 consecutive placement kicks. On top of that, Camarda has also handled kickoff duties almost exclusively since the fourth game of the 2020 season.

* Camarda is closing in on the school record for career punting average. His current average of 45.8 yards per punt betters 2009 Ray Guy Award winner Drew Butler, who owns the Bulldog record with a 45.4 mark. This year, Camarda is averaging 47.0 yards/punt, having placed 15 inside in the 20 and 16 have been 50+.

* Camarda was the SEC Special Teams Player of the Year last season and was a finalist for the Ray Guy Award. He posted an SEC-best 46.6 average that ranked fourth in the country and was named a FWA Second-Team All-American. Camarda was a preseason All-American at his position in 2021.

"Jack-Pod"

* For his career, junior PK Jack Podlesny is 33-for-41 on field goals and 106-for-107 on PATs. This year, he is 20-for-25 on FGs and 68-for-69 on PATs. Podlesny capped last season by earning Offensive MVP honors at the Chick-fil-A Peach Bowl. In the 24-21 win over #8 Cincinnati, Podlesny accounted for 10 points, including the game-winning 53-yard FG with three seconds remaining.

* Georgia entered the 2021 season with the NCAA record for Consecutive PATs Made. The streak ended with a miss versus No. 11 Kentucky at 363 and involved six kickers (Marshall Morgan, Patrick Beless, William Ham, David Marvin, Rodrigo Blankenship and Podlesny). The streak dated back to 2014.

* Georgia's snappers this year include returning starters junior Payne Walker and redshirt sophomore William Mote. Walker snaps on field goals and PATs, while Mote handles the snaps for punts.

Dominant 'D'

* Georgia's opponents in the regular season scored only 83 points.

* Georgia has held 11 of its opponents to a season low in points with USC (13), UT (17) and UA (41) the only exceptions.

* Georgia is the only FBS team to hold opposing offenses out of the end zone in six games this season.

* No. 2 Michigan's 11 points were the fewest the unit scored all year.

* No. 3 Clemson's three points were the fewest in the Dabo Swinney era and lowest since 2007 against Georgia Tech, a 13-3 loss under Tommy Bowden.

* No. 11 Arkansas was shut out for the first time since 2018.

Creating Havoc Again In 2021

* Defensive coordinator Dan Lanning, who will be heading to Oregon as the Ducks' new head coach after the CFP National Championship Game, is finishing his fourth season at Georgia and the Bulldogs feature the nation's top Scoring Defense allowing just 9.6 points/game. Georgia is second nationally in Total Defense (259.1 yards/game) and third in Rushing Defense (81.9).

* Georgia leads the country in Red Zone defense. Opponents have advanced to the Red Zone only 28 times this season and 12 times have come away with no points.

* The defense has allowed 12 TDs in 2021 while it has scored 3 TDs.

* In six games this year, Georgia has not allowed an offensive TD and that leads all of the FBS.

* Six times this year UGA has carried a shutout to the 4th quarter.

* Florida avoided being shut out when it scored with 2:49 left in the contest in a 34-7 loss to the Bulldogs.

Playmakers In The Secondary

* While some may refer to Georgia as "RBU," one could make a case for "DBU" with the recent Bulldogs now in the NFL, including four who were drafted last season (Eric Stokes, 1st Round, Green Bay; Tyson Campbell, 2nd Round, Jacksonville; Richard LeCounte, 5th round, Cleveland; Mark Webb, 7th round, L.A. Chargers).

* Junior safety Lewis Cine ranks second on the team lead with 66 tackles. Cine had five stops in the win over No. 2 Michigan.

* Former All-ACC First Team selection Derion Kendrick (Clemson) has started all 14 games with 38 stops and a team-high four picks. He had five tackles and two interceptions to earn Defensive MVP honors in the Orange Bowl victory over No. 2 Michigan.

* Christopher Smith scored the only TD in the win over No. 3 Clemson on a 74-yard interception return (the first pick of his career). He earned SEC Defensive Player of the Week honors after that. Smith returned to action versus No. 4 Alabama after missing the previous two games with an injury.

* Redshirt freshman Kelee Ringo seniors William Poole and Latavious Briani are manning the cornerback spots for the Bulldogs this season.

* Walk-on redshirt sophomore Dan Jackson got his first start versus No. 11 Kentucky while Smith was out with a shoulder injury. During the 37-0 win over No. 8 Arkansas, he blocked a punt in the first quarter that was recovered by Zamir White in the end zone for a touchdown to put Georgia up 21-0.

Making An Impact Up Front

* Outland Trophy and Bednarik Award winner Jordan Davis joins fifth-year Devonte Wyatt and sophomore Jalen Carter as the veterans in the center of the defensive line. Davis was also a finalist for the Bronko Nagurski Trophy, joining teammate Nakobe Dean on the 2021 Walter Camp All-America First Team. This season Davis, Wyatt and Carter have tallied 20 tackles for loss, 7.5 sacks, one blocked FG, a blocked PAT, two forced fumbles and a fumble recovery. Davis scored his first career touchdown on a carry from the 1-yard line against CSU.

* In the Orange Bowl victory over #2 Michigan, the trio combined for six tackles, one tackle for loss and one fumble recovery.

* Davis, Wyatt and Carter burst onto the national scene in the opener versus No. 3 Clemson. The trio combined for eight tackles, including three tackles for loss and two sacks, and a pass breakup.

* The trio is joined by versatile junior Travon Walker who has started all 14 games. Walker has 34 stops, 6.5 TFLs, five sacks and a team-high 29 QB hurries.

Bulldog Backers Flying Around

* Junior Nakobe Dean leads the team in tackles with 68 and won this year's Butkus Award as the nation's top linebacker. The 2021 Wuerffel Trophy finalist became only the third Butkus "double crown" winner after also collecting the 2018 high school honor. In addition, Dean was named the captain of this year's Allstate AFCA Good Works Team thanks to the fan vote and his dedication to the community.

* Dean is the leader of the 2021 defense. He helped stifle the Michigan offense in the Capital One Orange Bowl with seven stops, including two tackles for loss and a sack, and forced a fumble.

* Dean had seven tackles and returned his second career interception 50 yards for a touchdown against Florida. The pick-six capped a flurry of big plays by the Bulldogs who scored 21 points in a span of two minutes and nine seconds to build a 24-0 halftime advantage. Georgia scored three touchdowns off three turnovers and needed just two offensive plays.

* Senior Quay Walker ranks third on the team with 59 tackles. He had six in the recent victory over No. 2 Michigan and posted a career-high 13 stops against the Gators.

* Junior Nolan Smith is one of two linebackers on the outside. He led the Bulldogs with eight tackles in the CFP Semifinal to go along with a sack and a forced fumble. Smith has 49 stops and seven tackles for loss and 2.5 sacks to go along with a blocked punt versus Missouri.

* Smith finished with four stops, a forced fumble, a fumble recovery and his first career interception during the win over Florida and was named SEC Defensive Player of the Week.

* Senior ILB Channing Tindall is tied for third on the team in tackles with 59. He earned Walter Camp Defensive Player of the Week honors on Nov. 14 after his game at Tennessee (eight tackles, three sacks, forced fumble).

Bulldogs Lead Nation In Scoring Defense

Since the arrival of Kirby Smart in 2016, the Bulldogs have featured talented defenses, and the 2021 edition could be the best one yet. From 2016-2018, Mel Tucker served as the defensive coordinator before leaving to take the head coaching job at Colorado (now at Michigan St.). Dan Lanning is in his fourth year at UGA (2018, OLB coach), including his third season as the Fain and Billy Slaughter Defensive Coordinator.

No. 5 Georgia 10, No. 3 Clemson 3

Sept. 4, 2021 • Bank of America Stadium • Charlotte, N.C.

CHARLOTTE, N.C. - Fifth-ranked Georgia opened its 2021 season with a 10-3 victory over the third-ranked Clemson Tigers before of 74,187 fans at Bank of America Stadium and an ABC nationally-televised audience on Saturday evening.

Georgia opened the contest with excellent special teams play as punter Jake Camarda pinned the Tigers deep in their own territory twice. The Georgia defense forced Clemson to back-to-back three-and-outs to open the game, thanks to sacks by junior linebackers Nakobe Dean and Nolan Smith. The ensuing Georgia drive led to a 35-yard field goal attempt by junior placekicker Jack Podlesny. The kick missed wide left.

After holding the Tigers to another three-and-out, Will Spiers' punt deflected off of sophomore running back Kendall Milton. The Tigers recovered the ball at midfield, giving them the first turnover of the game. Five plays later, Bulldog defensive back Christopher Smith snatched an interception and sprinted 74 yards for what became the only touchdown scored by either team.

In the Bulldogs' opening drive of the third quarter, quarterback JT Daniels was picked off by Clemson linebacker Baylon Spector at the Georgia 33-yard line. This marked Clemson's best starting field position of the game. However, back-to-back sacks on second and third down forced the Tigers out of field goal range.

The next Georgia drive was sparked by an explosive 22-yard run from junior tailback Zamir White. Ten plays and 59-yards later, a 22-yard chip shot by Podlesny gave the Bulldogs a 10-0 lead. The Tigers answered with their own 10-play, 82-yard drive to get on the scoreboard, thanks to a 22-yard field goal by B.T. Potter.

After going three-and-out, Georgia's defense stepped up and held Clemson to fourth-and-5 at the Georgia 45-yard line. The Bulldog blitz forced Clemson quarterback DJ Uiagalelei to throw under distress. After a turnover on downs, the Georgia offense found its legs and ran out the last 4:49 on the clock behind its stable of running backs.

Coach Kirby Smart said...

"I said all along, no matter if we won or lost, we control our own destiny. We always control our own destiny. We have a lot to improve on, especially offensively...We took a hard look (at the defense) in the offseason. We gave up a lot more that we should have. We dumbed some things down and let the kids play and let the kids rush. We give ourselves credit, but give them some credit too. I'm proud of how they played...The joy in the locker room is so pure. They love it and they love each other. This is a special team and they fought their tail off."

Christopher Smith's interception and 74-yard TD return highlighted a stellar night by the Georgia defense.

- With the victory, Georgia improved to 98-27-3 in season openers, including 6-0 under head coach Kirby Smart. The win marked the end of Clemson's 10-game win streak against SEC opponents in the regular season dating back to 2014.
- With the 10-3 win, Georgia improved to 11-6 in top-10 matchups under Kirby Smart. This matches Georgia's highest ranked win under Smart as the Bulldogs defeated No. 2 Oklahoma (54-48 in 2OT) in a CFP semifinal at the 2018 Rose Bowl Game. Georgia's last win over a top-10 team came to end the 2020 season when the Bulldogs posted a 24-21 win over previously undefeated No. 8 Cincinnati in the Chick-fil-A Peach Bowl. The last time Georgia posted back-to-back wins over top-10 teams came during the 2018 season, beating No. 9 Florida, 36-7, in Jacksonville and then No. 9 Kentucky, 34-17, in Lexington to clinch an SEC East Division title.
- The seven sacks were the most since a school-record eight in its last game, the 2021 Chick-fil-A Peach Bowl win over No. 8 Cincinnati. Georgia also had eight sacks in 2008 Sugar Bowl win over Hawaii. Georgia blanked the Tigers in the first half, and the last time Georgia did that in a game was in the 2020 Sugar Bowl against Baylor when the Bulldogs led, 19-0, and went on to win, 26-14.
- The Clemson series dates back to 1897, and with the 10-7 victory, the Bulldogs hold a 43-18-4 advantage including 7-1-1 at neutral sites. The previous neutral site games came in Augusta (Ga.) and Anderson (S.C.) back in the early 1900s. This game was the first meeting when both teams were ranked in the top five. The previous best was in 2013 when No. 8 Clemson beat No. 5 Georgia 38-35 in Clemson. In top-25 matchups, Georgia is now 3-2 against the Tigers.
- Georgia had seven first-time starters: true freshman Ladd McConkey (WR), true freshman Brock Bowers (TE), redshirt freshman Tate Ratledge (RG), redshirt freshman Sedrick Van Pran (C), junior Travon Walker (DE), senior Ameer Speed (CB), plus the first at Georgia for senior transfer Derion Kendrick (CB).

Worth Noting...

- For the second straight week, Georgia's defense did not allow any points through the first three quarters after shutting out No. 3 Clemson in a 10-3 win in Charlotte. This game was the first time since 2019 that Georgia posted back-to-back first half shutouts, doing it against Missouri and at Auburn. Georgia would beat Missouri in Athens, 27-0, and the Tigers, 21-14, on the Plains. At 35-0, Georgia posted its biggest halftime lead since a 42-7 advantage over Murray State in 2019. Through two games, Georgia's opponents have been held to just 10 points, the lowest since 2003 when they had 10.

- At the half, Georgia senior starting QB Stetson Bennett was 7-for-8 for 260 yards with a school-record tying and career-high 5 TD passes among his eight completions for a 35-0 lead. He completed his first five passes for 245 yards. Today's TD passes by him covered 73, 12, 88, 61 and 9 yards. He tied the school record for TD passes in a game when he connected with freshman TE Brock Bowers (3-for-107, 2 TDs) for a nine-yarder. He became the sixth Bulldog with five TD passes in a game, and the first to do it since Aaron Murray vs New Mexico State in 2011, also doing it in the first half.

- Georgia registered its 20th score on defense or special teams in the Kirby Smart era (since 2016) when freshman Jamon Dumas-Johnson scored from 20 yards on an INT in the fourth quarter. It was the sixth pick-six in the Smart era including second this season. There have been 17 TDs and three safeties. In games with a non-offensive score by Georgia, the Bulldogs are 17-1 under Smart.

No. 2 Georgia 56, UAB 7

Sept. 11, 2021 • Dooley Field at Sanford Stadium • Athens, Ga.

ATHENS, Ga. - The second-ranked Georgia Bulldogs opened their 2021 home season with a resounding 56-7 victory over UAB before a sellout crowd of 92,746 fans at Dooley Field at Sanford Stadium and a national audience on ESPN2 Saturday afternoon.

Georgia took little time getting on the scoreboard as Stetson Bennett found wideout Jermaine Burton for a 73-yard touchdown pass on the second play from scrimmage. On their next drive, the Bulldogs added to their margin with a 12-yard touchdown pass from Bennett to tailback Kenny McIntosh. UAB neared midfield on their following possession, but its momentum was halted when safety Lewis Cine picked off Ty Johnston at the Georgia 22. Late in the first quarter, Bennett posted his third touchdown when he connected with tight end Brock Bowers on an 89-yard catch-and-run.

In the second period, Georgia once again scored on its first play of the drive as Bennett hit wide receiver Arian Smith on a 61-yard deep ball. The Bulldogs' defense remained stout, continuously forcing the Blazers to punt. After Kearis Jackson's 33-yard punt return, Georgia extended its lead when Bennett again found Bowers alone in the end zone for a 9-yard touchdown with just over a minute before halftime.

The scoring onslaught continued in the third quarter as Cook evaded multiple tacklers for a 14-yard touchdown run. On the next UAB drive, cornerback Kelee Ringo picked off Johnston at the Georgia 40-yard line, leading to a 12-yard TD pass from reserve quarterback Carson Beck to wideout Justin Robinson, extending the lead to 49-0. On Georgia's next drive, the Bulldogs set up first-and-goal at the 2-yard line, but a fumbled snap and missed field goal finished the drive without points. Linebacker Jamon Dumas-Johnson scored Georgia's final touchdown of the day on a 20-yard pick-six with 10:14 left. The Blazers returned the favor with 10:14 left, posting their only score of the day, when safety Keondre Swoopes intercepted Beck at the UAB 39 and dashed untouched into the UGA end zone.

Coach Kirby Smart said...

"I would like to open with thanks to our fans. What a tremendous fan base we have, and they turned out. I thought it was really awesome. Incredible atmosphere to come back and play in. You don't realize what you got until it's gone sometimes, so I certainly missed that...We have a lot of young players who are trying to grow up and we thought it would give a calming effect to have (Bennett) in with his experience and his ability to play in games. You know he played really well. I am proud of the way he handled it well...No one has been better to the University of Georgia than Stetson Bennett."

Stetson Bennett returned to the starting quarterback role and tied a school record with five touchdown passes.

No. 2 Georgia 40, South Carolina 13

Sept. 18, 2021 • Dooley Field at Sanford Stadium •

Athens, Ga.

ATHENS, Ga. - Ssecond-ranked Georgia opened Southeastern Conference play with a dominant 40-13 win over the South Carolina Gamecocks before a sellout crowd of 92,746 fans at Dooley Field at Sanford Stadium and an ESPN audience on Saturday night.

Returning from injury, quarterback JT Daniels connected on a 21-yard pass to tight end Brock Bowers on the first play from scrimmage before tailback James Cook scampered for a 23-yard touchdown. On the ensuing drive, South Carolina used a 61-yard completion to get on the board with a 37-yard field goal. Georgia responded quickly as Daniels hit wide receiver Jermaine Burton for a 43-yard touchdown. Near the end of the first quarter, the Gamecocks struck again with another field goal, set up by an interception thrown by reserve quarterback Stetson Bennett.

In the second quarter, Georgia extended its drive with a pair of third-and-long conversions, leading to a 38-yard touchdown pass from Daniels to wideout Adonai Mitchell, the first of the freshman's career. As the clock neared half-time, the Bulldogs took control of the game with a critical sequence showcasing all three phases of the game. Jake Camarda's 42-yard punt was downed at the 1-yard line, leading to nose tackle Jordan Davis sacking Gamecock quarterback Luke Doty in the end zone for a safety. After the resulting free kick, the Bulldogs quickly moved into field goal position with kicker Jack Podlesny booting a 36-yarder as the first half clock expired.

Cornerback Derion Kendrick intercepted Doty on the first drive of the second half, and Zamir White extended the lead with a 15-yard touchdown run. On the ensuing drive, linebacker Quay Walker recovered a Doty fumble, leading to a 4-yard touchdown pass from Daniels to Cook. In the fourth quarter, the Georgia defense allowed its first touchdown of the season when Doty connected with wide receiver Josh Vann on a 36-yard score. The Gamecocks looked to add another touchdown in the closing minutes, but the Bulldog defense stopped them on fourth-and-goal from the 9-yard line to preserve the 27-point win.

Coach Kirby Smart said...

"I thought the guys played really hard. So many guys played a big role in this game, seemed like the wealth was spread around defensively and offensively. I thought JT played with a high level of confidence, believed in what our guys could do, and got the ball to our playmakers ... Jake (Camarda) made a huge play, and then, the defense made a huge play. Then we were able to save our timeouts, and it was really big to get those pass plays to set up the field goal. I just thought that was a really good sequence to steal five points."

JT Daniels returned from injury to lead the Georgia passing attack, finishing 23-for-31 for 303 yards and three touchdowns.

- Before the game, the UGA Athletic Association honored five pioneers — Richard Appleby, Horace King, Larry West, Clarence Pope and Chuck Kinnebrew — who 50 years ago became the Bulldogs' first Black scholarship football players, enrolling in 1971. There is now a permanent monument in Reed Plaza that commemorates the trailblazers and their Bulldog careers.
- With a safety, the Bulldogs have 21 scores (17 TDs, 4 Safeties) by either the defense or special teams in the Kirby Smart era. The Bulldogs improved to 18-1 under Smart when they have a non-offensive score. In the first half, following a turnover where South Carolina took over at the Georgia 12, the defense held the Gamecocks to three yards and a 26-yard field goal.
- With the 40-13 win, Georgia now has a 53-19-2 edge in the series history including 20-10 since South Carolina joined the SEC. The Bulldogs are 5-1 against South Carolina under Kirby Smart.
- Georgia's opponents have scored only 23 points in three games, which matches the total through three in 2019.
- With five made PATs, junior placekicker Jack Podlesny extended Georgia's NCAA-record streak to 344 consecutive makes, dating back to the 2014 season. During the streak, six different Bulldog kickers have successfully converted on their attempts.

No. 2 Georgia 62, Vanderbilt 0

Sept. 25, 2021 • Vanderbilt Stadium • Nashville, Tenn.

NASHVILLE, Tenn. - The second-ranked Georgia Bulldogs started fast and never abated in a 62-0 victory over the Vanderbilt Commodores before 32,178 fans at Vanderbilt Stadium and a national television audience on the SEC Network.

The Georgia defense immediately made its presence known by forcing back-to-back Vanderbilt three-and-outs. On offense, the Bulldogs made quick work as tight end Brock Bowers took an end-around for a 12-yard touchdown before catching a 25-yard touchdown pass on the succeeding Georgia drive.

Back-to-back Commodore turnovers led to the Bulldogs' next two scoring drives. First, wideout Jaylen Johnson forced a fumble on a kickoff, leading to Zamir White punching one in from the goal line. On the very next play from scrimmage, cornerback Christopher Smith recorded his second interception of the year. Two plays later, quarterback JT Daniels found wide receiver Ladd McConkey for a 12-yard touchdown pass, his first career score. After forcing yet another three-and-out, McConkey found the end zone again on a 24-yard end-around run to give the Bulldogs a 35-0 lead just 12 minutes into the game.

With the game in safely in hand, the Georgia defense continued to exert its will, with Vanderbilt missing a 49-yard field goal early in the second quarter. After tacking on a field goal just before halftime, the Georgia offense, now led by reserve quarterback Stetson Bennett, added to the final margin with two touchdowns in the third quarter. Bowers tallied his third score of the day with a 29-yard touchdown catch, followed by a 4-yard touchdown run from tailback Kenny McIntosh just under two minutes later. Podlesny made his second field goal of the game from 36 yards out late in the period.

In the fourth quarter, running back Daijun Edwards helped the Bulldogs run out the clock, leading to a 15-yard touchdown run with 13 minutes remaining in the game. Later in the period, the Commodores crossed midfield, but the drive was cut short by an interception from cornerback Kamari Lassiter. On the ensuing Vanderbilt possession, the Commodores reached the Georgia 23-yard line, but were stopped on fourth down to consummate the shutout.

Coach Kirby Smart said...

"I was proud at how fast the guys started. I'm really proud of our fan base. I thought the turnout was incredible, as it normally is when we come up here. Our guys came out and started fast. That was the goal all week. We talked about starting fast and playing to our standard ... It was a tough atmosphere to play in early on, from warm-ups throughout. We talked about it being early, not letting it be an excuse. If you're going to be elite as a team, you have to be elite all the time, not some of the time. That is how elite teams play. Our guys embraced that and I'm proud of them."

Brock Bowers led Georgia in receiving for the fourth consecutive game, tallying three touchdowns and 81 all-purpose yards.

- Georgia posted its sixth shutout in the Kirby Smart era and the fourth in an SEC game with the 62-0 victory. This marked Georgia's second biggest margin of victory ever in an SEC game, trailing only a record 75-0 win over Florida in 1942. At halftime, Vanderbilt had 50 yards on 25 plays as the Bulldogs led 38-0. It marked the third time this year that Georgia has blanked a team in the first half. This was Georgia's first shutout since blanking Missouri 27-0 in 2019.
- The 62-point margin of victory was the largest since 2014 when Georgia blanked Troy 66-0. The Bulldogs have won their last three games by at least 27 points, marking the first time they have done that since the 2017 season when they did it six times.
- Freshman TE Brock Bowers had four catches for 69 yards with two touchdown receptions, plus one on the ground. Bowers' first career rushing TD was a 12-yarder on his first career carry while his TD catches covered 25 and 29 yards. He is the second Bulldog to have a rushing and receiving TD in the same game this year, joining James Cook who did it versus South Carolina last week. They were joined by redshirt freshman Ladd McConkey who did it as well in the first half. He notched his first career TD, a 12-yard catch and then his first career rushing TD, a 24-yarder. McConkey ended up with four catches for 62 yards, both career-highs, all coming in the first half.

No. 2 Georgia 37, No. 8 Arkansas 0

Oct. 2, 2021 • Dooley Field at Sanford Stadium • Athens, Ga.

ATHENS, Ga. - The second-ranked Georgia Bulldogs used its stifling defense, a powerful run game, and some special teams fireworks to take down eighth-ranked Arkansas before a sold-out crowd of 92,746 spectators and a national television audience on ESPN.

Stetson Bennett led his charges on a 9-play, 75-yard scoring drive to start the game. The Bulldogs reached third down just once on the drive, when Zamir White plunged into the end zone from three yards out. On the first Arkansas possession, the Razorbacks committed back-to-back false starts before defensive tackle Devonte Wyatt sacked quarterback K.J. Jefferson on third-and-24. Georgia took over near midfield and used its running game to extend the lead on a 1-yard touchdown from tailback Kendall Milton.

The game swung firmly, irreversibly, in Georgia's favor on the next Arkansas possession. After the Hogs' offense was stuffed again, safety Dan Jackson blocked a punt in the end zone, which was recovered by White for the third UGA touchdown. The Bulldogs' remaining first-half points came midway through the second quarter as placekicker Jack Podlesny connected from 46 yards out.

On the opening drive of the third quarter, the Georgia defense stifled Arkansas again, whereupon the Bulldog offense ran a 10-play drive that concluded with a 30-yard Podlesny field goal at the 10:05 mark. Early in the fourth quarter, White picked up his third touchdown of the game when he scored on a 15-yard scamper to cap an 11-play, 93-yard drive. On Georgia's next drive, tailback Kenny McIntosh ran for 15 yards on fourth-and-1 at the Hogs' 38-yard line. Podlesny capped that drive with a 37-yard field goal that put the Bulldogs up 37-0 with just over three minutes to play.

With one final possession, Arkansas looked to avoid the shutout by moving down the field via the legs of running back AJ Green. On second-and-4 with 25 seconds remaining, reserve quarterback Malik Hornsby missed out on a potential touchdown pass to wideout Jaqualyn Crawford. Unable to score, the Razorbacks posted a pair of first-down runs as the clock ran out.

Coach Kirby Smart said...

"(Our fanbase) answered the bell today. I think all of you guys will admit that they were elite and we noticed it. To come out there in warmups, and coming out of the tunnel to see every seat full at a noon kick is special. It's special to be at Georgia, and they impacted the game. The first series for Arkansas on offense, our crowd was extremely disruptive. ... The best teams I've ever been around can take on the personality of what they need to take on. I'm really proud of the offensive line. I'm proud of the offensive coaching staff. We did an incredible job game-planning against what is a very good defense."

Walk-on defensive back Dan Jackson's punt block, which was recovered by Zamir White for a touchdown, helped Georgia break the game open before the first quarter had expired.

- For only the third time in school history and the first time since 1976, Georgia posted a shut out a top-10 team with a 37-0 victory over No. 8 Arkansas. It was the first time since 1980 that the Bulldogs had back-to-back shutouts of SEC opponents, doing it against Vanderbilt and Kentucky. Georgia posted its seventh shutout in the Kirby Smart era and the fifth in an SEC game. The other shutouts of top 10 teams came when No. 6 Georgia blanked No. 10 Alabama 21-0 here in 1976, and in 1942, the No. 5 Bulldogs shut out No. 2 Georgia Tech 34-0 in Athens.

- The Bulldogs are now 12-6 against top 10 foes under Kirby Smart including 4-0 at home. Georgia improved to 4-2 when ESPN College GameDay is in town including winning its last four. The Bulldogs are 5-0 under Smart for the third time (2017-19).

- With the 37-0 win, No. 2 Georgia now has a 12-4 edge in the series history over Arkansas. This marked the first shutout in the series history and the largest margin of victory with the series going back to the 1969 Sugar Bowl.

- After Georgia's touchdown drive to open the game, former Georgia All-American golfer Harris English was recognized on the field for his contributions in helping the U.S. Ryder Cup team defeat the European squad at Whistling Straits, Wis. During halftime, many of Georgia's Olympians that competed in Tokyo this summer were celebrated, including swimmers Chase Kalisz and Jay Litherland, who won gold and silver, respectively, in the 400-meter individual medley. Georgia also celebrated its 2021 Circle of Honor inductees: football's All-American lineman Randy Johnson, legendary women's basketball coach Andy Landers, NCAA-champion swimmer Robert Margalis and softball All-American Kim Wendland.

No. 2 Georgia 34, No. 18 Auburn 10

Oct. 9, 2021 • Jordan-Hare Stadium • Auburn, Ala.

AUBURN, Ala. - The second-ranked Georgia Bulldogs traveled down to the Plains and left with a 34-10 victory over the 18th-ranked Auburn Tigers in front of a sold-out crowd of 87,451 spectators at Jordan-Hare Stadium and a CBS television audience.

Auburn came out fast covering 68 yards on 17 plays, culminating in place-kicker Anders Carlson hitting a 24-yard field goal to give the Tigers a 3-0 lead. This marked the first time Georgia has trailed this season, as well as the first points the Georgia defense has given up on the opening drive. After a quick three-and-out by the offense, linebacker Nakobe Dean made the game's first big play when he intercepted Bo Nix in Auburn territory. Six plays later, placekicker Jack Podlesny hit a 23-yard field goal to tie the game at 3-3.

The defense settled down and forced the Tigers to a three-and-out. Georgia responded with a touchdown on a nine-play, 70-yard drive sparked by a 33-yard pass to tight end Brock Bowers, with tailback Zamir White scoring on the ensuing play. On the next Georgia drive, Bennett unloaded on a pass and hit a wide-open McConkey for a 45-yard gain. Three plays later, Bennett found wideout Adonai Mitchell for a 3-yard touchdown to give the Bulldogs a 17-3 lead.

With just under two minutes left, Auburn drove the ball down the field to the Georgia 7-yard line. After an offside penalty, the Tigers eschewed a chip-shot kick on 4th-and-goal from the 3. Nix's pass was then broken up in the end zone by senior defensive back Latavious Brini the Bulldogs' 17-3 halftime lead.

Georgia opened the second half with a 10-play drive but failed to score when Podlesny's 43-yard kick hit the upright. The Bulldog defense forced Auburn to turn the ball over on downs for the second time of the night. On the next play from scrimmage, Bennett hit McConkey for a 60-yard pass that put Georgia firmly in control.

Despite Auburn responding with a long drive that ended with a 6-yard touchdown run by Tank Bigsby, the Bulldogs tacked on 10 more points on a 21-yard field goal and a 10-yard rushing touchdown by White en route to victory.

Coach Kirby Smart said...

"What a tough environment to play in. I give a lot of credit to Auburn and their fans. They created an electric environment. For a lot of our players, probably over 50 percent or more, they have never played in a road environment. Two of our DNA traits are composure and toughness, and I thought that has never been more evident than it was today. Composure and toughness. The men in that locker room never doubt and never questioned each other... Stetson played a hell of a game. He made plays with his feet. If you go back to that game, there are one, two, three, four really big plays in the game that he made with his athleticism."

Ladd McConkey led Georgia in receiving with five catches for 135 yards, including a 60-yard touchdown in the third quarter.

GAME 7 No. 1 Georgia 30, No. 11 Kentucky 13

Oct. 16, 2021 • Dooley Field at Sanford Stadium • Athens, Ga.

ATHENS, Ga. - The top-ranked Georgia Bulldogs posted their seventh consecutive win by defeating previously unbeaten, 11th-ranked Kentucky 30-13 before a sold-out crowd of 92,746 at Dooley Field at Sanford Stadium and a national television audience on CBS.

After a relatively quiet opening quarter, Georgia took the lead on the first play of the second period. Tailback James Cook scored from 19 yards out on a toss from quarterback Stetson Bennett. On their next possession, the Bulldog offense continued to roll as Kendall Milton ran for 32 yards, followed by a 17-yard run from Cook, setting up Zamir White for a 24-yard touchdown run up the middle.

Facing a 14-0 deficit, Kentucky assembled a six-minute scoring drive, covering 75 yards in 13 plays. The Wildcats converted three third downs, used a trick play and benefited from a lost fumble that was overturned upon review. Will Levis connected with Justin Rigg from one yard out for the UK touchdown.

Early in the third quarter, Georgia extended the lead when Bennett found tight end Brock Bowers for a 27-yard touchdown pass. The Bulldogs continued the scoring on their next drive as place kicker Jack Podlesny hit a 26-yard field goal. Trailing 24-7, Kentucky's only serious threat in the third quarter came in the waning minutes. The Wildcats took possession at their own 45 and advanced to the Bulldog 15-yard line before stalling. Georgia stopped the threat when Devonte Wyatt deflected Chance Poore's field-goal attempt from 33 yards as the quarter came to a close.

The Bennett-Bowers connection helped put the game out of reach on Georgia's only possession of the fourth quarter. Bowers took a pass 24 yards to the UK 48-yard line. After a pair of James Cook runs to the Cats' 20, Bennett found Bowers again for the Bulldogs' final tally.

Kentucky maintained possession for nearly all of the remaining 11+ minutes, using 22 plays to cover 75 yards. The Wildcats successfully converted five third downs and a fourth down in the drive and, after using their last time out, they finally scored on a 1-yard pass from Levis to Wandale Robinson with just :04 left. Jalen Carter then punctuated the drive by blocking the Cats' PAT kick.

Cochair Kirby Smart said...

"I'm proud of our guys today. That was a really physical football team we played. Every single time we play them, it's just tough...I thought our DNA showed through. Our DNA continues to repeatedly show up - composure, connection, resiliency, and toughness - those qualities come through in this team. At halftime, nobody was panicking, nobody was nervous...I think (Todd Monken) has done an incredible job. When you think about the guy he's had in, he's taken tight ends, made them multiple, he's taken wideouts that weren't necessarily early season starters and done a really good job."

Zamir White scampered 24 yards for the Bulldogs' second score vs. Kentucky.

He picked up his fifth receiving TD, a 27-yarder from Bennett for a 21-7 lead with 12:13 left in the 3rd. His sixth score came on a 20-yard pass in the fourth quarter and tied the mark for most TD catches by a TE in school history dating back to at least 1968 (Leonard Pope, 6 in 2004).
- Georgia missed a PAT in the fourth quarter to end its school and NCAA record for consecutive PATs made at 363. It dated back to Oct. 4, 2014 and included six kickers. With 221 makes, Virginia Tech is now the nation's leader.

No. 1 Georgia 34, Florida 7

Oct. 30, 2021 • TIAA Bank Field • Jacksonville, Fla.

ATHENS, Ga. - The top-ranked Georgia Bulldogs used a 21-point burst before halftime to post a decisive 34-7 victory over the Florida Gators before 76,141 spectators at TIAA Bank Field and a CBS television audience.

Georgia moved quickly on its opening drive following a 31-yard kickoff return from Kearis Jackson, reaching the Florida 19-yard line but Stetson Bennett was flagged for intentional grounding on third-and-1, followed by a missed 46-yard field goal by Jack Podlesny. Like the Bulldogs before, the Gators did not score on a deep drive as Jace Christmann's 51-yard attempt missed.

As the second quarter opened, the Georgia offense came to life starting with a 12-yard completion from Bennett to Jackson, eventually entering the red zone on a 20-yard scamper from Bennett to the 7-yard line. However, another stall forced the Bulldogs to settle for a 21-yard Podlesny field goal. On the ensuing Florida drive, a combined sack by Jalen Carter and Jordan Davis led to a fourth down stop at the Georgia 40.

Taking over at the Florida 34, Bennett found Darnell Washington for a 32-yard completion, but on the subsequent play, Bennett's deep ball was picked off by Rashad Torrence at the 4-yard line. With Florida near its goal line, the Georgia defense stepped up as Nolan Smith stripped Anthony Richardson and set the Bulldogs up at the 11-yard line. In one play, Georgia capitalized as James Cook rushed for a touchdown to make the score 10-0.

On the next drive, Smith notched another turnover as he picked off Richardson's pass off the deflection by Travon Walker. Georgia again took just one play to convert as Bennett hit Jackson for a falling, 36-yard touchdown in the left corner of the end zone. The scoring barrage concluded when Nakobe Dean picked off Richardson and returned it for a 50-yard touchdown.

Georgia's first possession of the third quarter ended in a fumble, but Christmann missed from 23 yards out. The Gators again reached Bulldog territory to open the fourth quarter but were again stifled as Nakobe Dean broke up Jones' fourth-down pass. Bennett was picked off for the second time by Torrence at the Florida 11. The Gators would avoid the shutout with an Emory Jones touchdown before Zamir White scored a late 42-yard touchdown.

Cochair Kirby Smart said...

"There was great excitement, great energy. Our fans really impacted the game. They helped us get them for a few offsidess. The turnovers were the difference in the game. We had a few, too, but theirs were in their territory, and that was probably the biggest difference in the game ... (Stetson Bennett) does a really good job on some plays, and then you are holding your breath when he holds the ball. He has to make good decisions down the field. We can't give the ball away ... That momentum right before the half was just huge. It is what our guys do - they are havoc guys that cause problems, frustrate the quarterback, and try to find different ways to affect them."

Nakobe Dean's interception and 50-yard TD return capped a 21-point scoring onslaught by the Bulldogs in the final 2:16 of the second quarter.

No. 1 Georgia 43, Missouri 6

Nov. 6, 2021 • Dooley Field at Sanford Stadium • Athens, Ga.

ATHENS, Ga. - The top-ranked Georgia Bulldogs again rode their stout defense to a 43-6 victory over the Missouri Tigers before a sold-out 92,746 spectators at Dooley Field at Sanford Stadium and a national television audience on ESPN.

Missouri struck first with a 36-yard field goal, marking only the second time this season Georgia had trailed. On the ensuing drive, the Bulldogs faced a fourth-and-6 at the Tigers' 35-yard line, allowing quarterback Stetson Bennett to find wideout Arian Smith in the corner of the end zone for a go-ahead touchdown. Linebacker Nolan Smith added to the points with a blocked punt on the following drive, with the ball rolling out for a safety before safety Dan Jackson could recover for a touchdown. Soon after, Bennett hit receiver Jermaine Burton for a 46-yard completion to the 1-yard line, leading to tailback Zamir White taking it in to extend the first quarter lead.

After stopping the Tigers on fourth down, Georgia's offense continued to roll with Bennett making a long completion to tailback Kenny McIntosh and tight end Brock Bowers taking a screen pass to the 2-yard line, setting up a 20-yard Jack Podlesny field goal. The second half closed with tailback James Cook taking a direct snap from the 1, once again set up by a near touchdown by Burton.

Burton finally got his score on the first drive of the second half, taking it in from 12 yards out on a screen pass. With a comfortable 33-3 lead, quarterback JT Daniels returned to the huddle for the first time since the Vanderbilt game on Sept. 25, completing a 7-yard touchdown to wideout Ladd McConkey on his first possession. Following a tipped interception from Daniels, Missouri added another field goal from 42 yards midway through the fourth quarter, with Podlesny answering on the following drive with a 25-yard make. With just over two minutes remaining, the Tigers sought to narrow the final margin and looked capable of doing so as Tyler Macon found Tauskie Dove for leaping catches of 31 and 28 yards respectively. However, the Georgia defense remained strong at the line with a goal-line stand that kept Missouri in single digits to close the game.

Coach Kirby Smart said...

"We started out kind of sloppy today. A little bit of a lack of focus early, especially on defense. Offensively, it took us a while to get going, but once we did, we did some nice things. I was proud of the guys. We're starting to get some guys back, and then we lost a couple of guys who are banged up. All in all, pleased with the guys' effort, but we have some things we have to clean up...(Missouri) played the same defense they've been playing. The played a little better, they changed out a couple of guys personnel-wise, but they didn't change their defense by any means."

Jermaine Burton led Georgia in receiving with three receptions for 76 yards, including a 47-yard catch and a touchdown.

- Georgia, the national leader in Scoring Defense (6.6 ppg), held Missouri to just two field goals in a 43-6 win to improve to 9-0 (7-0 SEC). Also, there was a goal-line stand that ended with three seconds left in the game when the Tigers turned it over on downs. UM came in averaging 34.8 points a game. Georgia now has held eight of its nine opponents to their lowest scoring tally of year, with South Carolina as the exception. The 59 points allowed through nine games is the lowest in a season at this point since 1971 (53 points).
- Nine different Bulldogs caught a pass with four covering more than 20 yards. Sophomore Arian Smith had a 35-yarder for a TD. The longest of the first half came by sophomore Jermaine Burton for 47 yards.
- Georgia blocked its second punt of the year, and this one resulted in a safety as the football went through the end zone. Junior Nolan Smith blocked it. This was the team's second safety this year as the first one came by the defense versus South Carolina when Smith and Jordan Davis combined on a sack. Under Kirby Smart, the Bulldogs now have 24 defensive or special teams scores since 2016. Georgia improved to 21-1 when they register a non-offensive score in the Smart era.
- During halftime, Georgia honored former football coach Mark Richt, who spent 15 seasons with the Bulldogs and went 145-51 with a pair of SEC titles and nine bowl wins. The World Series Champion Atlanta Braves were also recognized with outfielder Joc Pederson and mascot Blooper attending the game.

No. 1 Georgia 41, Tennessee 17

Nov. 13, 2021 • Neyland Stadium • Knoxville, Tenn.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. - The top-ranked Georgia Bulldogs rode a career-best day from running back James Cook to a 41-17 victory over Tennessee in front of 100,074 fans at Neyland Stadium and a national television audience on CBS.

Tennessee quickly moved down the field on its opening drive, using a pass interference penalty to set up a 9-yard touchdown pass from Hendon Hooker to Velus Jones, Jr. Georgia responded similarly on the ensuing possession, needing just six plays to go 78 yards for the matching score. Cook sprinted 39 yards untouched, first up the middle before cutting down the left sideline, for the touchdown.

After UT nudged ahead with a field goal, Georgia proceeded to take control with its dominant defense and resourceful offense. By the time the Bulldogs had scored the last of 34 straight points, just seven minutes remained in the game.

In the second quarter, Georgia began to assert itself, beginning with a 40-yard field goal by Jack Podlesny, followed by an interception by Derion Kendrick on the next Tennessee drive. Taking over at the Tennessee 40, Cook brought Georgia into the red zone with a 15-yard rush, followed by a 9-yard scoring run by Bennett. The quarter concluded with an 11-play, 90-yard drive capped off by a 23-yard touchdown pass from Bennett to Cook.

On their first drive of the second half, the Volunteers again traveled deep into Bulldog territory, but pressure from Nolan Smith forced an incompleion on fourth down. The Bulldogs regained possession and appeared to stall near mid-field, but a horse collar penalty on Tennessee kept the drive going and allowed Podlesny to extend the lead with a 26-yard kick. Tennessee's next drive mirrored its previous possessions, as Hooker was sacked by Channing Tindall on fourth-and-13 at the Georgia 39-yard line.

Early in the fourth quarter, Cook added his third touchdown of the game with a 5-yard run, set up by a 21-yard completion from Bennett to Jermaine Burton. Once again, Tennessee entered the red zone, but Hooker was sacked by Tindall, forcing a fumble recovered by Travon Walker. The Bulldogs finished their scoring with a 5-yard run by Kenny McIntosh, followed by a 12-yard Tennessee touchdown pass from Joe Milton to Cedric Tillman.

Coch Kirby Smart said...

"Hats off to Tennessee. I think they've got a really good football team. I think Josh (Heupel) is doing a great job...I can't say enough about the leaders on this team. After that game against Missouri, to have three guys stand up in the locker room after we won 43-6, they said it wasn't acceptable the way we approached the game or the way we handled the game. I knew right then that we were going to be okay this week... There are a lot of things we can work on to get better. You know what I love? It's the men in that locker room beside me. They all know that. Nobody thinks they've arrived."

James Cook tied his career high with 104 rushing yards and two touchdowns, along with a 23-yard scoring reception.

No. 1 Georgia 56, Charleston Southern 7

Nov. 20, 2021 • Dooley Field at Sanford Stadium • Athens, Ga.

ATHENS, Ga. - The top-ranked Georgia Bulldogs improved to 11-0 for the first time since 1982 with a 56-7 victory over Charleston Southern before a sold-out crowd of 92,746 at Dooley Field at Sanford Stadium and an SEC Network+ streaming audience.

Georgia got the opening kickoff and on its first play from scrimmage, running back Zamir White ran up the left side for a 38-yard gain. The promising drive ended when quarterback Stetson Bennett's pass was tipped and intercepted. On the next drive at the 2-yard line, defensive tackle Jordan Davis shifted into the backfield and took the handoff from Bennett, only to have his lunge stopped at the one. Georgia went back with the same play on second down and Davis was able to reach across the goal line for the touchdown.

A few minutes later, running back Kenny McIntosh found the left edge on a fourth-down reception to the outside and sprinted away from everyone on a 32-yard touchdown run with 5:33 left in the first quarter. On Georgia's next offensive play, after a quick three-and-out forced by the defense, White ran 40 yards up the left side for a touchdown and a 21-0 lead. Georgia's defense again got a quick stop and the offense again delivered with a screen from Bennett to tight end Brock Bowers, who eluded two defenders and leaped into the end zone.

Cook kept the scoring going early in the second quarter, running the ball in to cap an eight-play drive. JT Daniels entered at quarterback and connected with Bowers on a 7-yard TD reception. Late in the second, sophomore running back Daijun Edwards ran the ball in from the 4 to put the Bulldogs up 49-0.

Charleston Southern got on the scoreboard in the third quarter in improbable fashion. The Bucs were facing third-and-6 from their 35-yard line when linebacker Xavian Sorey intercepted a pass. Sorey then was stripped of the ball at the 35 by Garris Schwarting, who rumbled 65 yards for the return score, making it 49-7. The Bulldogs added one last touchdown on their next drive, with Carson Beck throwing a 9-yard pass to tight end Brett Seither.

Coach Kirby Smart said...

"Today is a day to honor (our seniors). One of the coolest atmospheres I've ever been a part of in terms of honoring the seniors...We had a really short message and talked about our book and what we're writing and what the next chapter would hold. And I told them, I wanted them to name the next chapter because I didn't want it to be a boring or monotonous chapter...There were probably about 10 or 15 walk-ons that had never played a snap. And some of them have probably taken somewhere between 5,000 and 10,000 reps on our practice fields and they got to play a snap because of the effort of the guys that played to our standard."

No. 1 Georgia 45, Georgia Tech 0

Nov. 27, 2021 • Bobby Dodd Stadium • Atlanta, Ga.

ATLANTA - The top-ranked University of Georgia football team completed its first unbeaten regular season since 1982 with a 45-0 victory over rival Georgia Tech Saturday afternoon before 52,806 spectators at Bobby Dodd Stadium and an ABC national television audience.

After forcing a three-and-out on Tech's first drive, Kearis Jackson set Georgia up with a 22-yard punt return to the Tech 36-yard line, but the Bulldogs had to settle for a 38-yard field goal from Jack Podlesny. On the following Georgia drive, the Bulldogs broke into the end zone as Stetson Bennett found Jermaine Burton for a 25-yard touchdown.

As the opening period came to a close, Bennett moved the Bulldogs into Tech territory with a 30-yard completion to Marcus Rosemy-Jacksaint, followed by a 15-yard catch and run from Zamir White. Now in the second, Georgia extended the lead as Ladd McConkey took in a screen pass from 11 yards out for a touchdown, assisted by a block from Bowers. The freshman tight end earned a score of his own on the following possession, taking a slant 10 yards downfield and outracing the Jackets' secondary for a 77-yard score.

Georgia Tech maintained possession for much of the second quarter, moving into Georgia territory on a 12-play drive lasting just under eight minutes, but the Bulldog defense forced a punt. Following Georgia's first three-and-out of the afternoon, Tech looked to finally reach the scoreboard, but consistent pressure from Nolan Smith kept the score at 24-0.

The Georgia offense continued to roll into the second half, benefitting from a third down pass interference penalty at the Tech 39-yard line. The nine-play, 75-yard drive concluded with a 9-yard touchdown catch by Bowers in the corner of the end zone. The Yellow Jackets again crossed midfield, but a pair of false starts stalled their drive.

Taking over at their own 33-yard line, the Bulldogs wasted no time adding to the lead as McIntosh ran for a 59-yard touchdown. On the ensuing Tech drive, Jamon Dumas-Johnson's sack led to a turnover on downs early in the fourth quarter. Starting near midfield, Daijun Edwards took it in from three yards out, making the score 45-0.

Coach Kirby Smart said...

"I thought our guys started fast. We challenged them to start fast. I was pleased with no penalties. We had some sloppy series offensively and defensively, but overall, they came out and executed to a standard. They didn't play to the scoreboard, they played to our standard and I was proud of what they were able to do...I'm just proud of the work that George has put in to get back. We've known guys on the team who have had ACLs, it's a mental injury as much as it's a physical injury"

Brock Bowers scored two touchdowns and tallied 100 yards receiving in Georgia's shutout victory over Georgia Tech.

- With a 45-0 victory, top-ranked Georgia improved to 12-0 for the first time since 1980 when the Bulldogs finished with that mark as consensus national champions. This is Georgia's first undefeated regular season since 1982 (11-0) and just the fourth time in school history completing a perfect regular season with double-digit victories (1946, 1980, 1982). Georgia extends the nation's longest active winning streak in the FBS to 16 games. This streak ranks as the second longest in school history. The Bulldog record is 17 games set during a three-year stretch from 1945-47. Georgia's current winning streak includes nine on the road which is a school record. Also today, Georgia did not have a penalty for the first time since the 2019 win here versus Tech.

- Top-ranked Georgia, the national leader in Scoring Defense (7.5 ppg), posted its third shutout this year to retain the Governor's Cup Trophy. It was the first in the Tech series since 1964 (7-0 in Athens) and the first in Atlanta since 1957 (7-0). Tech became the seventh team this year to be shutout in the first half by the Bulldogs. Then, for the sixth time this year, Georgia carried a shutout to the fourth quarter.

- Georgia tallied 45 points today on 463 yards of total offense on 51 plays. In the first half, Georgia built a 24-0 lead. For the year, the Bulldogs have outscored their opponents 488-83.

- The captains were seniors Jamaree Salyer (OL), Justin Shaffer (OL) and Lewis Cine (DB). Georgia won the toss and deferred until the second half. The only first-time starter was junior RB Kenny McIntosh.

No. 3 Alabama 41, No. 1 Georgia 24

Dec. 4, 2021 • Mercedes-Benz Stadium • Atlanta, Ga.

ATLANTA – Top-ranked Georgia suffered its first loss of the season, falling 41-24 to the Alabama Crimson Tide at the 2021 SEC Championship Game before 78,030 spectators at Mercedes-Benz Stadium and a CBS national television audience.

Following a pair of defensive stops, Georgia drove to the Alabama 11-yard line with strong runs before settling for a 38-yard field goal from Jack Podlesny. On their next possession, the Bulldogs steadily moved down the field before a 37-yard strike from Stetson Bennett to George Pickens, setting up a 5-yard touchdown throw to Darnell Washington for a 10-0 lead early in the second quarter.

Alabama then woke up on offense, beginning with a 67-yard touchdown from Bryce Young to Jameson Williams less than a minute after the Georgia score. The Crimson Tide followed it up with a 13-yard touchdown catch by John Metchie and a 33-yard Will Reichard field goal. On a penalty-filled drive, the Bulldogs tied the score at 17 with a 32-yard catch-and-run by Ladd McConkey. However, Young scored from 11 yards out just before halftime to retake the lead.

The Crimson Tide again struck from the air to start the second half as Young found Williams for a 55-yard touchdown, marking five consecutive Alabama possessions with a score. Georgia reached the Alabama 19 midway through the third quarter, but Bennett was intercepted by DeMarcco Hellams. Georgia again reached the 19-yard line late in the third quarter, but turned the ball over on downs, followed by a 42-yard pick six by Jordan Battle to make the score 38-17 with 12 minutes remaining.

In the fourth quarter, Brock Bowers completed a record-setting performance with an 18-yard touchdown, eventually setting new records for catches and yards receiving by a tight end in the SEC title game. With less than two minutes remaining, Reichard closed the scoring with a 41-yard field goal as Alabama sealed the championship victory.

Coach Kirby Smart said...

"I'm disappointed in how we played. Give Alabama a lot of credit. Give their defense and Bryce Young and their offensive skill players a lot of credit. They played really well, very accurate, explosive, and he's hard to get down on the ground, which caused us a lot of problems defensively...They did a good job of stopping us twice. One of them, we went for it, where we probably could've had points. But at that point, I felt like we needed touchdowns and not field goals...These guys are so solid. We've got such great leaders in there...I think when you've got that, you've built the right kind of kids."

Darnell Washington gave Georgia a 10-0 lead in the second quarter with his first touchdown catch of the season.

Georgia saw its FBS-leading 16-game winning streak end including a school record nine-game winning streak in road games. The 16-game streak was the second longest in school history. Georgia's run as the unanimous top-ranked team will end at eight weeks, also a school record.

- Top-ranked Georgia came in as the national leader in Scoring Defense (6.9 ppg) and then saw Alabama tally 24 points in the second quarter and 41 for the game on 536 yards of total offense on 70 plays. Alabama was averaging 42.7 ppg. Coming in, Georgia had allowed only seven points total in the second quarter, and the previous most total points allowed in a game this year was 17 by UT in Knoxville. Before today, Georgia's first 12 opponents had scored just 83 points.

- Georgia's leading receiver was freshman Brock Bowers (10-for-139 yards, 1 TD) who tied the school record for TD catches with his 11th this year (split end Terrence Edwards had 11 in 2002) as it covered 18 yards and closed the deficit to 38-24. He notched his fourth career game of 100+ yards receiving and set SEC Championship Game record for catches and yards by a tight end. Bowers is the first Bulldog to have at least 10 catches in a game since George Pickens against Baylor (12 for 175) in the 2020 Sugar Bowl.

No. 3 Georgia 34, No. 2 Michigan 11

Dec. 31, 2021 • Hard Rock Stadium • Miami Gardens, Fla.

MIAMI GARDENS, Fla. – The third-seeded Georgia Bulldogs rode an early offensive burst and a resurgent defense to a 34-11 victory over second-seeded Michigan in the College Football Playoff Semifinal at the 2021 Capital One Orange Bowl before 66,839 spectators at Hard Rock Stadium and an ESPN national television audience.

Georgia opened with the ball and moved quickly down the field as quarterback Stetson Bennett connected with tight end Brock Bowers for a 35-yard completion, followed four plays later by a 9-yard touchdown catch. After turning Michigan over on downs, the Bulldogs again wasted little time as tailback Kenny McIntosh took a Bennett handoff and lofted a touchdown pass to wide-out Adonai Mitchell from 18 yards out for an early 14-0 lead. On its third possession, Georgia added to the margin with a 43-yard field goal from placekicker Jack Podlesny.

In need of points, Michigan reached the Georgia red zone before a Nakobe Dean sack forced a 36-yard field goal from Jake Moody. The Bulldogs tacked on another 28-yard field goal from Podlesny before delivering the knockout punch on a 57-yard touchdown pass from Bennett down the sideline to wide-out Jermaine Burton. On the ensuing possession, cornerback Derion Kendrick picked off Wolverine starter Cade McNamara.

On the opening drive of the third quarter, Kendrick again picked off McNamara, this time in the Michigan end zone. The Georgia defense again struck on the following possession as Dean forced a fumble by Michigan tailback Blake Corum that was recovered by Devonte Wyatt. The Bulldogs were unable to convert as Podlesny missed from 45 yards out.

In the fourth quarter, Georgia closed out its scoring for the evening as Bennett hit James Cook for a 39-yard touchdown. After earlier reaching the Georgia 5-yard line before turning over on downs, Michigan finally scored a touchdown as J.J. McCarthy found Andre' Anthony on a 35-yard deep ball, followed a successful two-point conversion run by A.J. Henning. The Bulldogs ran out the remainder of the clock as they reached the Michigan 11-yard line.

Coch Kirby Smart said...

"I'm really proud of our players and the whole organization. Our staff put a plan together and our players bought into that plan. We came out from the very start and executed that...One word for us: connection. Our kids know if we stay connected and really work hard, we're hard to beat. We've been really focused and concentrated the last couple of weeks. When we're connected, we're better...Our defensive front controlled the line of scrimmage and our offensive line controlled the line of scrimmage. It was a complete team effort."

James Cook had a career-best 112 receiving yards against the Wolverines, including a 39-yard TD catch in the fourth quarter.

Georgia leads the nation in Red Zone Defense, and Michigan was just 1-for-3 including a fourth down stop at the UGA 6 in the fourth quarter. Opponents have made 28 trips this year and 12 times have come away with no points.

- Derion Kendrick's two interceptions tied a Bulldog bowl record held by seven others. This was the first two-interception game by a Bulldog since Richard LeCounte versus Arkansas in 2020. Kendrick had a strong CFP semifinal performance while at Clemson versus Ohio State in a 2019 Fiesta Bowl win, tallying nine tackles and two pass breakups.

- Georgia made its fourth appearance in the Orange Bowl, and the first since 1960 when it blanked Missouri 14-0. The Bulldogs are now 3-1 in Orange Bowls. Georgia's first-ever bowl game was the 1942 Orange Bowl where the No. 20 Bulldogs defeated No. 14 TCU 40-26 to cap a 9-1-1 season. Georgia made its 25 consecutive appearance in a bowl game, which is the nation's longest active streak. Overall, the Bulldogs have played in 58 bowl games and own a mark of 34-21-3. Georgia is now 2-1 versus Michigan with the other two meetings coming during the regular season in Ann Arbor in 1957 and 1965.

- Georgia's senior class now improves to 44-8, and that ties for the most wins by a senior class, joining the 2005, 2018 and 2020 teams. Also, Georgia became only the third team in school history to win a record 13 games in a year, joining the 2002 and 2017 squads.

KIRBY SMART

Head Football Coach

- SIXTH SEASON AS GEORGIA COACH • 65-15 RECORD IN SIX SEASONS • 2017 SEC CHAMPIONS • SEC EASTERN DIVISION CHAMPS 2017-19-21 • 2017 NATIONAL RUNNER-UP • 2017 GEORGE MUNGER AWARD (NAT'L. COACH OF THE YEAR BY MAXWELL CLUB) • TWO-TIME SEC COACH OF THE YEAR • TWO BUTKUS AWARD WINNERS • THORPE, GROZA, BEDNARIK AWARD WINNERS • OUTLAND TROPHY WINNER • ELEVEN 1ST-TEAM ALL-AMERICANS • SIX 1ST ROUND NFL DRAFT PICKS • THIRTY NFL DRAFT PICKS OVERALL

Four SEC Eastern Division championships, 65 wins, one SEC title, four bowl victories, and berths in two national championship games are more than respectable rewards over a six-year period. That's what Georgia got when it hired former Georgia player and Alabama defensive coordinator Kirby Smart to head the program in December of 2015.

His impact, along with a stellar coaching staff, players, and a passionate fan base has put Georgia on the national stage five years running.

His 2021 team became UGA's first since 1982 to record an undefeated SEC regular season record (8-0) and a number one national ranking by all the major polls. It marks the fifth straight team to finish the regular season ranked in the top ten of the College Football Playoff rankings.

2020 - Despite the challenges of practicing and playing in a pandemic, the 2020 Bulldogs became Smart's fourth consecutive team to earn a New Year's Six bowl game appearance. With a Chick-fil-A Peach Bowl victory over undefeated Cincinnati on Jan. 1, 2021, the 2020 Bulldog seniors tied the record for the most wins by a senior class in school history (44) set by the 2005 and 2019 teams. This was Smart's fourth straight team to finish the regular season ranked in the top ten of the CFP rankings, the final AP poll, and the USA Today Coaches Poll (2017).

2019 - Smart's 2019 Bulldogs became the first team in school history to win 11 or more games for a third straight season. The senior class posted a four-year record of 44-12, matching the school record of 44 wins for a senior class. Along the 2019 schedule, Georgia defeated three Top 15 teams in the final CFP ranking — Notre Dame, Florida, and Auburn — and finished as the fourth-ranked team in the final polls. The Bulldogs capped their season with a dominant victory over Baylor in the Allstate Sugar Bowl game.

2018 -- Georgia in 2018 posted an 11-1 regular season record, a second straight SEC Eastern Division title, and a ranking as high as number four in the CFP poll. Georgia landed in the Allstate Sugar Bowl on Jan. 1, 2019—the program's tenth all-time appearance in the New Orleans classic. For his efforts, Smart was named a semifinalist in the Maxwell Club George Munger National Coach of the Year balloting and a finalist in the Bobby Dodd Trophy Coach of the Year competition.

2017 -- Smart's second season in 2017 was a special one, with an 11-1 regular-season record, an SEC title, a win over Oklahoma in the Rose Bowl Game (CFP semifinal) and advancement into the CFP National Championship Game. In the SEC championship game, the Bulldogs avenged their only regular-season loss with a 28-7 victory over Auburn. It was the first conference title since 2005 for the Red and Black.

Both Smart and his players reaped the bounty of their banner 2017 season. He was named George Munger National Coach of the Year by the Maxwell Football Club, SEC Coach of the Year by the Associated Press and SEC Coaches, and the Regional Coach of the Year by the AFCA. Roquan Smith earned first-team All-America honors and the Dick Butkus Award as the nation's top linebacker. Smith, Isaiah Wynn and Sony Michel were all taken in the first round of the 2018 NFL Draft, which also claimed seniors Nick Chubb, Lorenzo Carter and Javon Wims in subsequent rounds.

2016 -- In Smart's first season leading the Bulldogs, Georgia made its 20th straight bowl appearance and posted four fourth-quarter comebacks, including wins over No. 8 Auburn and No. 22 UNC. He led the Bulldogs to an 8-5 final record, which included a victory over TCU in the AutoZone Liberty Bowl. Smart has also made a profound impact in recruiting circles by posting the nation's third-ranked class in 2017.

In addition to his coaching duties, Smart oversees the Kirby Smart Family Foundation, which is focused on being champions in the community by supporting needy children and families facing adversity.

As an Assistant Coach

When Smart officially came home to Georgia on Dec. 6, 2015, he had unfinished business as defensive coordinator at Alabama, which was still chasing a national title. He juggled both jobs for a month until Jan. 11, 2016, when the Crimson Tide won its fourth national championship in a 7-year span. Twelve hours later, he was at work in Athens, where he remains one of ten head coaches at schools from Power 5 conferences that are coaching at their alma maters.

Sinkwich Leads Bulldogs Past TCU In 1942 Orange Bowl

Georgia All-American quarterback Frankie Sinkwich, playing with an oversized chin mask to protect a broken jaw, put on an offensive display still considered by many as the greatest in any bowl game as he led his Bulldogs to a 40-26 win over Texas Christian before 35,786 fans in the 1942 Orange Bowl game (a record crowd in '42).

Sinkwich passed for touchdowns of 61, 60 and 15 yards and raced 43 yards on a QB draw for another score. He completed nine of 13 passes for 243 yards and rushed for 139 yards for a total offensive gain of 382 yards.

Georgia scored first as Ken Keuper rushed two yards over the goal line to give the Dogs the early 6-0 lead. TCU tied the game less than four minutes later after a Lamar Davis fumble led to a Horned Frog score from the four yard line. TCU kicked the point after and led 7-6. Georgia answered soon after the score on a 60-yard pass play from Sinkwich to Melvin Conger, giving the Bulldogs a 12-7 lead they would never relinquish.

When the Dogs left the field at halftime the score stood 33-7, prompting head coach Wally Butts to proclaim it the greatest offensive performance he ever saw by a UGA team. He also believed the Georgia squad, at the end of the 1941 season, was the most powerful he coached.

The lead was 40-7 in the third quarter before TCU mounted a late three-touchdown effort. Bruce Alford caught two passes for scores from Emory Nix and Frink Kring scored on a 53-yard play from Kyle Gillespie for the 40-26 final.

The 1942 Orange Bowl was played less than a month after the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor and was a record-setting event. Sinkwich set five individual Orange Bowl records in the win for combined rushing and passing yards (382), touchdown passes (3), points scored (24), yards gained on touchdown pass plays (136) and yards gained on all touchdown plays (179). Georgia's four touchdown passes set a bowl team record, as well as the Dogs' four interceptions. The combined seven touchdowns for Georgia and TCU also set a new Orange Bowl mark.

Trippi Gets Helms Award In 1943 Rose Bowl

With All-American Frankie Sinkwich hobbling on two sprained ankles, his young sophomore understudy — Charley Trippi — paced Georgia to a 9-0 victory over UCLA before 90,000 in the 1943 Rose Bowl at Pasadena.

Trippi rushed 27 times for a net gain of 115 yards and received the Helms Award as the game's outstanding player.

Recently the Rose Bowl named its all-time first team and put Trippi at left halfback.

Tackle Red Boyd blocked a Bob Waterfield punt which rolled out of the end zone for a safety to give Georgia two points in the last quarter. A few minutes later center Clyde Ehrhardt intercepted a Waterfield pass and returned to the UCLA 25. Sinkwich finally scored from the one and Leo Costa converted.

Trippi's Immortal Punt Return Helps Defeat Tulsa In 1945 Oil Bowl

Charley Trippi was at his best as Georgia defeated Tulsa, 20-6, in the Oil Bowl at Houston before 27,000 on Jan. 1, 1946.

He passed 64 yards to John Donaldson for Georgia's second TD and returned a punt 68 yards for the final Bulldog tally in the fourth quarter — a run still considered by many as the greatest punt return of all time. He completely reversed his field and ran over two Tulsa tacklers who had him trapped near a sideline.

Charley Trippi accepts National Pro Football Hall of Fame trophy.

Trippi Closes Great Career In '47 Sugar Bowl Playing Entire 60 Minutes

On a chilly and rainy day in New Orleans, Georgia battled back from two deficits to knock off North Carolina, 20-10, in front of 75,000 in the 13th renewal of the Sugar Bowl on Jan. 1, 1947.

Charley Trippi led the way for the Bulldogs, playing all 60 minutes in his last game wearing the red and black. His 67-yard touchdown pass in the third quarter to Dan Edwards gave the Dogs a 13-10 lead that the club would not relinquish.

The win was Georgia's 16th consecutive victory and gave the Bulldogs a perfect season (11-0) for just the second time in school history.

The scoring started when North Carolina's Walt Pupa ran 25 yards in the second quarter for the first lead of the game. Kicker Bob Cox added the extra point for a 7-0 lead.

Georgia was held scoreless into halftime, but Johnny Rauch plunged into the endzone from one yard out in the third quarter and was followed by George Jernigan's extra point for a 7-7 tie.

Cox gave the Tar Heels the lead later in the third quarter with an 18-yard field goal, but the play of the day, Trippi's 67-yarder to Edwards, answered the Tar Heel score and Georgia never looked back.

Rauch, Geri Shine In 1948 Gator Bowl

Georgia's All-America quarterback Johnny Rauch had one of the best days of his career in Jacksonville, completing 12 of 17 passes for 183 yards. Captain Dan Edwards caught five passes and Joe Geri averaged 43.5 yards on seven punts.

The game remained scoreless after one quarter of play, but Maryland's Lu Gambino ran 35 yards for the first score of the game. The Terps held that 7-0 lead into halftime.

Georgia took the opening drive of the second half 87 yards, capped by Rauch's 1-yard plunge into the end-zone. Maryland answered with an 80-yard drive of its own and took the lead again on Gambino's second TD of the day. Later in the third, Georgia drove to its own 40 yard line but fumbled away possession. Three plays later the Terps were leading 20-7.

The fourth quarter was all Georgia, as the Bulldogs scored once on a Geri four-yard run and again on a nine-yard pass from Rauch to John Donaldson. The extra point was no good after Geri's TD and time ran out on a tied ball game with Georgia knocking on the door for another score.

A&M Zips Past Georgia In 1950 Presidential Cup Tilt

Georgia lost its seventh visit to a post-season affair, 40-20, to Texas A&M in the first and only Presidential Cup game at College Park, Md., before 12,245 fans on Dec. 9, 1950.

Georgia's Zippy Morocco, who later was to set the all-time SEC basketball scoring record, scored two touchdowns on brilliant runs, the first coming on a 65-yard punt return and the other a 23-yard rush.

A&M jumped out early and never looked back, scoring 40 unanswered points through three quarters of play. Before two minutes had been played in the opening quarter, the score was 13-0 after Bob Smith took the opening kickoff 100 yards and Glenn Lippman scored from five yards out after a Bulldog fumble. Another 81-yard TD rush by Smith in the first quarter buried the Bulldogs.

Morocco scored on a two-yard run in the third and a 65-yard punt return in the fourth to get the Dogs on the board. Lauren Hargrove added the last score of the day on a one-yard rush to make the final 40-20.

Tarkenton's TD Passes Key 1960 Orange Bowl Win

Francis Tarkenton directed two excellent scoring drives of 62 and 71 yards in Georgia's 14-0 victory over Missouri in the 1960 Orange Bowl before 75,280.

Late in the first quarter Tarkenton anticipated a quick kick to set up the first score. He returned it 17 yards to the M 38. On third down and nine he passed to Fred Brown for 12 to the M 25. On third and 14, he fired to Bill McKenny, rookie RHB from Jacksonville, for 29 yards and the TD, Durward Pennington's PAT made it 7-0.

Ridlehuber Rips Raiders In 1964 Sun Bowl

The 7-0 conquest of Texas Tech in the Sun Bowl at El Paso Dec. 26, 1964, before 28,500 may have been the Bulldogs' best game of a glorious "Cinderella" season.

The defense held the Red Raiders' vaunted offense, which led the Southwest Conference with almost 300 yards per game, to only 128 yards (32 rushing and 96 passing). And, the offensive troops rolled up 329 yards (245 rushing and 84 passing), their second best performance of the season.

Preston Ridlehuber had by far the most productive day of his Georgia varsity career and clearly deserved the trophy awarded him as the game's outstanding performer. Preston ran 19 times for 87 yards, completed 4x5 passes for 77 yards, giving him a total of 164 yards.

Georgia blanked Texas Tech 7-0 in the 1964 Sun Bowl (Vince Dooley's first Bulldog team). The big play on the 68-yard TD drive was a 52-yard reception by Fred Barber from Preston Ridlehuber that gave the Bulldogs first and goal from the six-yard line.

Kent Lawrence Sets Cotton Bowl Record; Bulldogs Win Big Over SMU

Georgia magnificently upheld the honor of the SEC with its decisive 24-9 victory over Southern Methodist University, Southwest Conference champ, Dec. 31, 1966, in Dallas' Cotton Bowl before 75,504.

Kent Lawrence established a Bulldog bowl-game rushing record vs. the Mustangs. His 149 yards in 16 carries erased the old Georgia bowl-game mark of 139 yards in 22 rushes by Frank Sinkwich vs. TCU in the 1942 Orange Bowl.

Lawrence's 74-yard TD rush on the game's third play also was the longest scoring play in Bulldog bowl annals. He was voted the game's outstanding player.

Bob Etter's 28-yard FG put Georgia out front 10-3 at the quarter. Steve Neuhaus set up another score with an interception at the SMU 33. Kirby Moore hit Billy Payne on a 20-yard scoring pass and Etter made it 17-3.

There was only one score in the last half. The Bulldogs drove 59 yards to goal early in the fourth quarter with Ronnie Jenkins carrying nine of the 12 rushes. Jenkins scored from the one. Etter made it 24-9.

N.C. State Rallies Past Georgia In 1967 Liberty Bowl

A record Liberty Bowl crowd of 35,045 at Memphis Dec. 16, 1967, saw N.C. State, led by former Bulldog head coach Jim Donnan, trim Georgia, 14-7.

The Wolfpack cashed in their scoring opportunities, drawing first blood in the second quarter on a 65-yard drive—aided by a timely 15-yard penalty—that saw Donnan pass 6 yards to Martell for a TD. Warren's PAT made it 7-0.

Georgia retaliated with a fine 68-yard scoring drive, Lawrence starting things off with a 42-yard kickoff return. Kirby Moore hit on four passes, three to Dennis Hughes and one to Billy Payne. Ronnie Jenkins scored from the one and Jim McCullough's PAT knotted the count at 7-7 midway the second quarter.

State went ahead early in the fourth quarter, driving 73 yards with Barchuk scoring from the one. Warren's PAT was good.

Georgia again fought back and mounted a great 98-yard drive that ended with Lawrence failing to score by inches after taking a pitchout from Moore at the N.C. State 3 and sprinting to the 1. Lawrence was voted the game's most valuable offensive back, while Edgar Chandler was the most valuable offensive lineman.

Georgia Upset by Arkansas Razorbacks In 1969 Sugar Bowl

A huge Sugar Bowl crowd of 82,113 saw Arkansas, champion of the Southwest Conference, upset Georgia, champion of the Southeastern Conference, 16-2, on Jan. 1, 1969.

The Bulldogs had the ball six times in the first quarter but lost possession three times on fumbles and once on a pass interception. But the Georgia defense played well and the quarter ended scoreless.

The Razorbacks moved 65 yards for a TD early in the second quarter, scoring on a 27-yard pass, Montgomery-Dicus. White's PAT made it 7-0.

Midway the second quarter David McKnight tossed Burnett for a six-yard loss and a safety to make it 7-2, but a Bulldog fumble a few plays later gave Arkansas position for a 34-yard field goal by White which made it 10-2 at halftime.

Georgia "blew" a good chance early in the third quarter after recovering an Arkansas fumble on the kickoff. Brad Johnson fumbled on the goal line on third down, and the ball went out of the end zone.

A fumble and pass interception in the fourth quarter put Arkansas in position for two more field goals by White (24 and 31 yards).

Nebraska Too Much for Dogs In 1969 Sun Bowl

Nebraska turned out to be every bit as good as advertised.

"They were the best team we played all season," said Captain Steve Greer following the Cornhuskers' 45-6 victory before a sun-baked Sun Bowl crowd of 31,176 in El Paso Dec. 20.

The Cornhuskers took advantage of a strong wind to kick four field goals in the exceptionally-long first quarter (scoreboard clock broke and officials admitted afterwards that the first quarter was too long).

Trailing 18-0 after the first quarter, Georgia fought back to hold the big and fast Big Eight co-champions scoreless in the second quarter. But the Nebraskans took advantage of six pass interceptions and two fumble recoveries to run up the score, 14 points in the third quarter and 13 in the fourth.

Paul Gilbert directed Georgia's lone TD in the fourth quarter. He completed passes of 16 yards to Charley Whittemore, 11 to Dennis Hughes, then scored himself from the six. Jim McCullough's PAT kick was wide.

Poulos Superb in 1971 Gator Bowl

Georgia played perhaps its finest defensive game of the season to beat North Carolina 7-3 in the Gator Bowl, Dec. 31, 1971, before 71,208.

The Bulldogs held the Tar Heels to only 181 yards total offense (115 rushing and 66 passing).

Dennis Watson was the defensive hero, making tackles time and time again. He made three straight tackles during one stretch.

Offensively, the Bulldogs gained a lot of ground (322 yards) but were sporadic, particularly in the first half.

But, following the Tar Heels' lone scoring drive of the game which resulted in a 35-yard FG by Craven, the Bulldogs finally mounted a beautiful 80-yard march that settled the issue.

The scintillating sophomores, Jimmy Poulos and Andy Johnson, ran the ball from Georgia's 20 to the G 43. Then Johnson hit split end Lynn Hunnicutt on a great 32-yard play to the NC 25. On the next snap, Poulos broke around left end down the sidelines to score, side-stepping the safety. Braswell made it 7-3.

The nation's TV audience once again was thrilled by the exploits of Poulos, the Greek Streak, who set a Georgia bowl rushing record in the Gator Bowl. He netted 161 yards on 20 carries to better the old Bulldog bowl mark of 149 yards on 16 rushes by Kent Lawrence against SMU in the 1966 Cotton Bowl.

Tough Terps Trimmed in 1973 Peach Bowl

Hats off to the Bulldogs for their thrilling 17-16 triumph over the Terrapins in the 1973 Peach Bowl Dec. 28 before 38,017 in Atlanta Fulton County Stadium.

Early in the second quarter, thanks to runs by Horace King and Andy Johnson, Georgia reached the Maryland 17 but was stopped. Johnson hit Jimmy Poulos on a screen and the Greek Streak went 62 yards for a score in one of the finest runs ever made by a Georgia back. Two plays later Maryland's Carter and White hooked up on a 68-yard haymaker and Mick-Mayer's PAT tied it 7-7.

Later Mike-Mayer put Maryland out front 10-7 on a 36-yard FG. Then the Bulldogs roared back with one of their best drives of the season. Captain Bobby Burns ripped up the middle for 21. Johnson hit King for 30, then ran 12 after faking a pass to the UM 9. With the clock running out, the Bulldogs had to settle for a 26-yard FG by Leavitt to make it 10-10 at halftime.

Tremendous defensive play set up Georgia's go-ahead TD late in the third quarter. Following Golden's 43-yard punt to Smith, tackled in his tracks at the UM 11 by Glynn Harrison, Sylvester Boler smashed through and hit QB Kinard as he was pitching out to Jennings. The hit caused a fumble that was recovered by Dick Conn at the Maryland 8 yard line. On third down, Johnson scored from the one and Leavitt made it 17-10.

Dogs Fall To Miami 21-10 in 1974 Tangerine Bowl

Miami of Ohio won its 23rd in a row with a 21-10 victory over Georgia in the Tangerine Bowl before 20,246 at Orlando, on Dec. 21, 1974.

It might have been a close game had not the Bulldogs given Miami two easy scoring chances with fumbles at their own 25 (first play from scrimmage) and 22. The Redskins cashed both opportunities, and in between, marched 68 yards to goal, QB Smith passing seven yards to E. Taylor for the TD.

After trailing 7-0, Georgia did make a good drive, first down at the UM 9, the big gainer being a 43-yard pass, Robinson to Appleby. But the vaunted Miami defense held and Allan Leavitt kicked at 21-yard FG.

Georgia came back strong in the second half and won it, 7-0. The defense played considerably better.

Midway through, the third quarter Butch Box, covering a Bucky Dilts punt, recovered a fumble at the Miami 41. Glynn Harrison immediately broke loose for 28 yards to the UM 13. Five plays later Ray Goff plunged over from the one and Leavitt made it 21-10.

Georgia outgained Miami in total offense, 274 to 242. Georgia had only 74 yards rushing but 200 passing. Miami had 228 rushing, 14 passing.

Cinderella Dogs Bow to Hogs in 1976 Cotton Bowl

The big clock in the Cotton Bowl showed 1:49 left in the first half with Georgia leading Arkansas, 10-0. Not a soul there or any one of the millions watching CBS-TV had any idea then that the Bulldogs, who had played almost a perfect game for nearly a half, would suffer one tough blow after and finally succumb, 31-10 on Jan. 1, 1976.

Georgia amazed the crowd of 74,500 by taking the opening kickoff and ramming the ball all the way to the A4. But the Razorbacks held and Georgia had to settle for a 35-yard FG by Allan Leavitt.

In the second quarter Matt Robinson connected with Gene Washington on a nifty 21-yard scoring play and Georgia led 10-0.

But two Georgia fumbles in the last two minutes of the first half resulted in an Arkansas FG (Little, 39 yards) and TD (Forte, 1-yd. rush).

It was a scoreless third quarter but the Hogs tallied three times in the final period.

#1 Pittsburgh Tops Dogs In '77 Sugar Bowl

Armed with a number four national ranking and the distinction of being first team to represent the conference in the SEC's "marriage" with the Sugar Bowl, Georgia's dreams of a national title were convincingly shattered by top-ranked Pittsburgh, 27-3, in the Sugar Bowl shootout for the national championship.

With a Sugar Bowl record crowd for the Superdome of 76,117 fans looking on, Pittsburgh made believers of the whole nation in justifying their top national billing.

Junior quarterback Matt Cavanaugh and heralded Heisman Trophy winner Tony Dorsett supplied most of the offensive fireworks for the Panthers in building a 21-0 halftime lead. Cavanaugh directed his team 80 yards in the first quarter for Pitt's initial score, covering the last six yards himself on a keeper. In the second quarter, the Pittsburgh junior unveiled a brilliant passing game to account for another Pittsburgh score by hitting FLK Matt Jones for a 59-yard scoring strike. Dorsett added the Panthers' third TD of the day on an 11-yard burst to make the halftime tally 21-0.

The Bulldog offense, which had been stymied all day by the swarming Pittsburgh defense, finally was able to put something on the scoreboard in the third quarter. On Pitt's first possession of the second half, fullback Elliott Walker was separated from the ball on the Panthers' own 26-yard line, where defensive end Lawrence Craft fell on it for the Bulldogs. But several plays later, Georgia found themselves faced with fourth and goal on the seven and had to settle for Allan Leavitt's 25-yard field goal for their only score of the day.

Pitt's Carson Long added field goals of 42 and 31 yards as the Panthers claimed the 1976 national championship.

Stanford Rallies For Win In 1978 Bluebonnet Bowl

Georgia's Wonderdogs outgained Stanford 504 yards to 338, but lost the game 25-22 before 34,084 fans in the Bluebonnet Bowl in Houston on December 31, 1978.

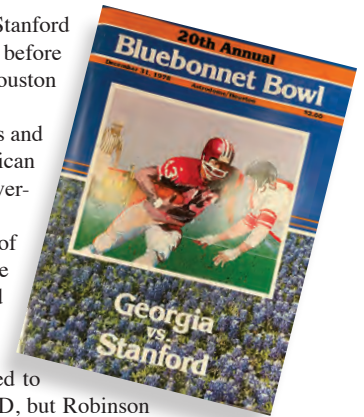

Fumbles and penalties, missed PAT's and FG's and precision passing by All-American QB Steve Dils, enables the Cardinal to overcome a 22-0 deficit in the second half.

The Bulldogs played their best game of the season in running up an early advantage to the 22-0. They scored on their second possession in the first quarter, Rex Robinson kicking a 31-yd FG. On their third possession, Georgia's Buck Belue passed to flanker Carmon Prince 22 yards for a TD, but Robinson missed on the PAT to make Georgia a 9-0 leader.

As the half closed, Jeff Pyburn directed an 80-yard drive in seven plays as he spotted Prince for an eight-yard strike. Robinson was wide again on the PAT and Georgia led 15-0.

Georgia drove 75 yards to goal after the second half kick-off and took only six plays as Pyburn dove in from the one, making the score 22-0.

Two Bulldog fumbles accounted for Stanford's first pair of touchdowns, and their third tally came on a 14-yard pass from Dils to Ken Margerum. The two-point conversion was good, knotting the score at 22. The Cardinal recovered another Georgia fumble to set up their go-ahead field goal of 24 yards. Georgia came back strong, driving to the Stanford 14, but Robinson missed on a 31-yard attempt.

Georgia Whips Irish For 1981 Sugar Bowl Win And The National Championship

Determined to silence the critics who claimed that Georgia had been lucky in streaking to a perfect 11-0 regular season slate, the Bulldogs journeyed to New Orleans, No. 1 ranking in hand, and defeated Notre Dame, 17-10, in the 1981 Sugar Bowl to claim the national championship.

Played before a record Sugar Bowl crowd of 77,895 in the Louisiana Superdome, the game was one where Georgia capitalized on early Irish mistakes to take a 17-3 lead at halftime.

Notre Dame took the ball on the first possession of the contest from its own 20 all the way to the UGA 32 where kicker

Harry Oliver booted a 50-yard field goal to give the Irish a 3-0 lead with 10:41 to go in the opening quarter.

Oliver tried another field goal moments later from the 48, but this time Bulldog freshman rover Terry Hoage slipped through the line to step in front and block the attempt, giving Georgia the ball at the ND49. Nine plays netted 20 yards and placekicker Rex Robinson was called on for a 46-yard field goal. The All-American was successful to tie the game at three apiece with less than two minutes remaining in the first period.

On the ensuing kickoff, Georgia capitalized on confusion among two Notre Dame return men, and Bulldog senior Bob Kelly recovered a loose football at the Irish one-yard line. Freshman marvel Herschel Walker, who would go on to gain 150 yards (the first 100-yard performance against the Notre Dame defense all season) and win the Miller-Digby MVP Trophy, dived on the second play for the touchdown. Robinson converted the PAT and Bulldogs were up, 10-3, still in the first quarter.

Erk Russell's defense, which led the country in takeaways during the season, recovered another Notre Dame fumble early in the second period as Irish fullback John Sweeney was separated from the ball at the ND22 and Bulldog senior roverback Chris Welton pounced on it.

Walker broke an off tackle play for 12 yards to the ND10. Quarterback Buck Belue swept left for seven more to the Irish three-yard line, setting up a second and goal situation. Belue gave it to Walker and the 6-2, 220-pounder stormed into the endzone for his second score of the game. Robinson added the PAT and Georgia enjoyed a 17-3 lead.

Down 14 points, Notre Dame drove the second time it had the ball in the second half from its own 40-yard line to the G13. On a third down play there, Irish QB Blair Kiel dropped back, threw into the endzone to flanker Pete Holohan, only to watch Georgia's All-American cornerback Scott Woerner step in at the last minute to bat the pass away. Notre Dame's Oliver came in to kick a 30-yarder, but the ball sailed wide right.

The Irish finally got a touchdown after Georgia punted on the next possession. The passing of Kiel and running of tailback Phil Carter took Notre Dame 57 yards in 11 plays as the drive was climaxed by a one-yard plunge by Carter for the touchdown. Oliver booted the PAT and the Georgia lead was now 17-10 with :54 seconds of the third quarter showing on the Superdome scoreboard clock.

After Georgia was unable to move the ball, senior Mark Malkiewicz was called in to punt. The boot carried to the Irish 46 and Notre Dame, with momentum mounting, took over. Seven plays later, the Fighting Irish were at the G21 and fourth down staring them in the face. Oliver's 38-yard field goal attempt went wide to the left this time and the Bulldogs clung to their seven-point lead.

After two unsuccessful possessions by each team, Notre Dame got the ball one last time with 5:10 to go in the ballgame at the ND43. Carter ran around the end for seven yards to midfield. On second down, 6-1, 265-pound defensive guard Eddie Weaver caught Kiel behind the line for a four-yard loss, setting up a third and seven play. A Kiel-to-Nick Vehr pass got six yards back, making it fourth down, one yard to go.

A running play looked to be forthcoming, but Kiel surprised everyone when he faded back, looking for Dean Masztak, the big tight end, on the side line. One Bulldog, apparently not surprised by the call, was cornerback Woerner, who stepped up in front of Masztak for the interception (his second of the game) at the G34. Only 2:56 remained.

Runs by Belue and Walker gave the Bulldogs a first down at the G47. Two plays after that, Georgia recorded the biggest first down of the game when Belue hit his very first completion of the day on a seven-yard pass to senior flanker Amp Arnold. Walker got the Bulldogs another first down at the ND 38, where Georgia ran off three plays and watched the clock expire, prompting a sea of UGA fans to engulf the playing field for the national championship celebration.

Pitt Edges Bulldogs 24-20 In 1982 Sugar Bowl

Pittsburgh QB Dan Marino hit tight end John Brown on a fourth-down, 33-yard TD pass with just 35 seconds left to give the Panthers a come-from-behind 24-20 win over Georgia in the 1982 Sugar Bowl, dashing the Bulldogs' hopes for a second straight national championship.

Perhaps the most exciting of the holiday games of '82, the Pitt-Georgia matchup had six lead changes for the 77,224 who were in attendance at the Superdome.

Early in the fourth quarter it was Pittsburgh which capitalized on a Dog fumble at the G23.

Four plays later, QB Marino found John Brown open for a six-yard TD play. The conversion put the Panthers, 17-13 with 11:40 to play in the game.

But the Bulldogs, entering the game ranked No. 2 in the country, weren't quite through yet. Taking over on the G20, Georgia drove the distance in 10 plays, climaxing the drive with a Buck Belue-to-Clarence Kay TD pass from six yards out. Kevin Butler's PAT put the lead in Georgia's favor, 20-17, with 8:31 remaining.

Each team failed on a possession and, with 3:46 left, the Panthers got the ball on the P20. Eleven plays later, they were at the G33, fourth down and five. Seconds later, TE Brown was in the endzone on the receiving end of Marino's game-winner.

Penn State Clips Dogs 27-23 In 1983 Sugar Bowl

After staking Penn State to a 20-3 second-quarter lead, the Bulldogs staged a great comeback but came up short, 27-23, to the Nittany Lions before 78,124 in the '83 Sugar Bowl Classic. The outcome foiled Georgia's chances for another national championship and a perfect 12-0 season.

Trailing 20-3 with only :39 remaining in the first half, Georgia took over on its 34-yard line. Lastinger completed four of five pass attempts, the final completion coming on a 10-yard scoring play to Herman Archie. Butler's PAT cut the deficit to 20-10 at intermission.

The Bulldogs took the second half kickoff and drove 69 yards in 11 plays as Herschel Walker, who netted 103 yards on the day, ran in from a yard out. Penn State's lead now was only 20-17.

The Nittany Lions took possession late in the third quarter at their 19. Six plays advanced the football to the G47. From there, Blackledge found his receiver Garrity, who made a diving catch in the endzone for a TD. Gancitano's PAT increased the PSU lead to 27-17.

Georgia didn't roll over, however. With 5:38 left to play, the Dogs took the ball at the P43 after a fumbled punt. Six plays later, Lastinger found TE Clarence Kay for a nine-yard TD pass. Only 3:54 remained. The two-point try failed and Georgia trailed 27-23.

Georgia could not prevent the Nittany Lions from getting two first downs and used up its allotted timeouts as Penn State ran out the clock. The game ended with the ball rolling into the Georgia endzone after a 62-yard punt from Ralph Giacomarro.

Georgia Upsets Texas 10-9 In 1984 Cotton Bowl

Georgia senior QB John Lastinger ran 17 yards for a go-ahead TD with just 3:22 left on the clock to lift the Bulldogs to a 10-9 Cotton Bowl Classic triumph over No. 2 Texas before 67,891 in Dallas on Jan. 2, 1984.

The winning TD had been set up when Bulldog sophomore Gary Moss recovered a Craig Curry fumbled punt at the Longhorn 23-yard line. Lastinger called his own number on the third play from scrimmage and darted outside right for the TD.

Texas had one more possession, but the Bulldog defense rose up recording two sacks (Kenny Sims and Ed Moore) to back the Longhorns up from their 28-yard line all the way to their seven. Georgia took control and ran off the final 2:19 on the clock after converting a fourth down play at the Texas 36.

As expected going into the Cotton Bowl, defense was the key for both teams as there were just 13 first downs and three points each achieved in the first half. Texas grabbed an early 3-0 lead with 10:32 to go in the first quarter when freshman Jeff Ward booted a 22-yard FG. The Bulldogs, after Moss returned a punt 29 yards to the Longhorn 43 late in the quarter, used four plays to move to the Texas 26 where Butler came in and kicked a 43-yarder.

Ward added his second three-pointer on the day with 7:10 to play in the third quarter as he connected on a 40-yard field goal. After a Georgia fumble at the G37, the Longhorns moved 26 yards in eight plays to the G11 where Ward came on and extended the Texas advantage to 9-3 with 3:50 to play in the third quarter.

FSU Rallies To Tie Bulldogs In 1984 Citrus Bowl

Georgia placekicker Kevin Butler's attempt of a 70-yard field goal fell just a foot short as time expired in the '84 Florida Citrus Bowl, enabling favored Florida State to hold off the upstart Bulldogs and earn a 17-17 tie before 51,821 in Orlando on Dec. 22, 1984.

The Bulldogs, who had hoped to use the Citrus Bowl as the start of their 1985 season, stormed out to a 14-0 halftime lead. Florida State battled back to tie the score through the efforts of a talented offense and an aggressive punt rush with under four minutes remaining.

After averaging 35.3 points a game, the Seminoles were held to just 10 points through three quarters until noseguard Lenny Chavers blocked a Chip Andrews punt, which was picked up by teammate Joe Wessel for a Seminole touchdown. Darrin Holloman's sweep around the left side gave FSU a two-point conversion and knotted the game at 17 late in the fourth quarter. The Dogs tried to repeat the miracle they had staged earlier in the season against rival Clemson in which they drove up field in the closing seconds enabling All-American Kevin Butler to kick a conference record 60-yard FG and secure a Georgia victory. FSU's defense proved to be a bit stiffer than that of Clemson, and after three incomplete James Jackson passes, Georgia coach Vince Dooley called on Butler once again, but his kick fell just short of the crossbar and the game ended deadlocked at 17.

Although disappointed with a tie, Georgia walked off the field encouraged by the play of their underclassmen. Freshman QB James Jackson saw his first stretch of extensive playing time and responded by earning the game's Most Valuable Player trophy. The game's most valuable offensive player was another Georgia freshman, TB Lars Tate, who scored both of Georgia's TDs. Senior CB Kevin Harris was awarded Defensive Player of the Game, giving the red and black a clean sweep of the awards ceremony.

Dogs, Wildcats Tie 13-13 In 1985 Sun Bowl Game

A Sun Bowl crowd of 52,203 saw the Georgia Bulldogs rally for 10 fourth quarter points to pull even with the Arizona Wildcats, 13-13, then watched as both teams miss potential game-winning field goals in the final two minutes to preserve the tie.

Georgia struck first, marching 72 yards in 13 plays to set up a 37-yard FG by Steve Crumley. Crumley, who had pulled a muscle in his kicking leg before the final game of the regular season, reinjured himself on the kick, however, and was unable to continue.

Arizona responded on the following possession to tie the game, driving to the G1 before an illegal procedure penalty on fourth down forced the Cats to call upon All-American Max Zendejas to tie the score at three from 21 yards. Zendejas added a 52-yarder, and the the Wildcats made it 12-3 when Martin Rudolph picked off QB James Jackson's pass and returned it 35 yards for a TD. Georgia backup kicker Davis Jacobs was true on a 44-yard field to close the gap to 13-6.

With 12:35 to play senior DB Tony Flack recovered RB James Debow's fumble at the A23 to set up what would be the game's last score behind Tate on the ground. With 1:14 left, Jacobs missed a 44-yard field goal.

Georgia held Arizona until the Wildcats gambled on fourth-and-two from their own 36, and David Adams rambled for 25 yards on a draw play with DL Henry Williams executing a game-saving tackle at the G39. The Wildcats drove to the 22, called time out, and Zendejas' 39-yard attempt went wide and Georgia averted a last-second defeat.

B.C. Edges Dogs 27-24 In 1986 Hall of Fame

Boston College scored a five-yard TD pass with 32 seconds remaining to nip Georgia, 27-24, in the first Hall of Fame Bowl held at Tampa on Dec. 22, 1986, in front of 25,368 in Tampa Stadium.

The last second win spoiled a brilliant comeback from a 13-point halftime deficit by Georgia which actually took the lead, 24-20, with a five-yard TD run by QB James Jackson with 11:51 left in the game.

The Bulldogs, after scoring first to lead 7-0, watched Boston College score 20 straight points before halftime.

Georgia came out in the third quarter to score 10 points and added another seven in the final period to take the lead. B.C. got the ball the final time with 2:38 left and drove to the Georgia 27 when an incomplete fourth-and-two pass appeared to have iced the game for the Dogs. But a pass interference penalty gave the Eagles new life and three plays later, they scored on a five-yard TD toss.

Kasay Kick Defeats Arkansas In 1987 Liberty Bowl

Freshman placekicker John Kasay booted a 39-yard field goal with no time left to give Georgia a 20-17 come-from-behind victory over the Arkansas Razorbacks before 53,249 fans at Liberty Bowl Stadium in Memphis, Tenn., on Dec 29, 1987. The victory provided Georgia with its first nine-win season since 1983 and the first victory over Arkansas after two previous attempts.

Bulldog QB James Jackson was the Georgia most valuable offensive player after rushing for 72 yards and completing 15 of 25 passes for 148 yards. Bulldog LB John Brantley was the Georgia most valuable defensive player.

Kasay's game-winning kick was set up when Georgia cornerback Carver Russaw intercepted an Arkansas pass and ran it back to the Razorback 43-yard line with 46 seconds to play. Arkansas had missed a 35-yard field goal with 1:42 left which would have given them the lead. The Bulldogs ran three plays to set up Kasay's, kick the big one being a Jackson-to -Sadowski pass for 16 yards to put the Dogs in field goal range.

Georgia had trailed at halftime, 10-7, and Arkansas took the second half kickoff and drove for a touchdown to take a 17-7 lead with 11:35 left in the third period. But the fourth quarter belonged to Georgia.

Kasay kicked a 24-yard FG with 14:57 left to cut the lead to 17-10, and James Jackson scored on a five-yard run to tie the score at 17.

Dogs Use New Tricks To Win 1989 Gator Bowl

Largely discarding their trademark rushing attack, Vince Dooley's Bulldogs took to the air in the 44th Mazda Gator Bowl en route to a 34-27 victory over the Michigan State in front of 76,236 fans in Jacksonville, Fla., on Jan. 1, 1989.

Georgia not only secured its second straight 9-win season but handed Dooley the 201st, and final, win of his illustrious 25-year coaching career. QB Wayne Johnson, who was named Georgia's MVP for the game, had a career-high 227 yards and three touchdowns. Two of Johnson's three TD strikes went to tailback Rodney Hampton, who also carried the ball 10 times for 109 yards and a TD.

Georgia took a 7-0 lead on a 6-yard Johnson-to-Hampton touchdown pass. By halftime, the Dogs led 17-7. Georgia scored again in the third when Johnson capped a 64-yard drive with an 18-yard pass to tight end Kirk Warner.

MSU closed the gap to 27-20 with 14:24 to play, but the Dogs countered on their next possession when Hampton raced 32 yards for his third touchdown. The Spartans scored once more, but Georgia, which finished the season ranked 15th, hung on for a 34-27 win.

Syracuse Nips Georgia 19-18 To Win '89 Peach

With :25 left in the game, Syracuse PK John Biskup booted a 26-yard field goal to lift the Orangemen over the Bulldogs, 19-18, in Atlanta at the 22nd Peach Bowl on Dec. 30, 1989.

Despite putting together an impressive opening drive and coming up with several big plays, the Dogs couldn't sustain a balanced offensive attack throughout the game. Georgia's leading rusher Rodney Hampton was held to 32 yards on the ground, while Syracuse TB Michael Owens ran for 112 yards on 14 carries. The Georgia passing attack was limited to 88 yards, the first time all season the Dogs were held under 100 yards in the air.

Georgia opened the game with a 66-yard drive, capped off by a 5-yard TD pass from QB Greg Talley to tight end Kirk Warner. Syracuse answered with an 80-yard drive of its own, with Owens scoring from one yard out.

In the second quarter, Syracuse suffered from three miscues, but managed to stay close. The first came when Georgia linebacker Mo Lewis set a new Peach Bowl record with a 77-yard interception return to the Syracuse five. The Bulldogs were unable to get into the end zone, however, and had to settle for a John Kasay field goal. In the second half, the Orangemen gave up a safety, and Georgia added a TD for an 18-10 edge going to the fourth.

Syracuse rallied, first with a 94-yard drive to close to 18-16. Then, Biskup's field goal lifted the Orange over Georgia in the closest Peach Bowl since 1973.

Georgia Beats Arkansas 24-15 In '91 Independence

Georgia completed the 1991 phase of "Operation Turnaround" by beating the Arkansas Razorbacks 24-15 in front of 46,932 fans and an ABC-TV national television audience in the 1991 Independence Bowl.

The Bulldogs jumped out to a 14-0 lead behind two scoring strikes thrown from Eric Zeier to Arthur Marshall and Andre Hastings stretching their lead to 17-0 on a 39-yard FG by freshman Kanon Parkman.

The Razorbacks battled back and got on the scoreboard with a 7-yard run by the Hogs' leading rusher, E.D. Jackson. The run capped off an eight-play 37-yard drive by the Razorbacks.

The second half continued to be a showcase for the play of Hastings and Zeier and the ball-hawking Georgia defense led by junior linebacker Torrey Evans.

Georgia's defense forced Arkansas quarterback Jason Allen into throwing five interceptions. Evans came off the bench for the injured John Allen and played brilliantly, recording four tackles, an interception and fumble recovery to earn defensive MVP honors.

The game's offensive MVP, Hastings caught four passes for 94 yards and outran all pursuers on a third quarter 53-yard reverse that put the Bulldogs out front 24-7. The Hogs added eight points in the fourth quarter, but it was too late, the Bulldogs had won the Independence Bowl.

Dogs Beat Ohio State In 1993 Florida Citrus Bowl

Georgia secured its best finish in a decade, including a top-10 final ranking and the first 10-win season since 1983, with a 21-14 victory over Ohio State. A New Year's Day crowd of 65,861 attended the 47th annual Florida Citrus Bowl.

Offensively, Georgia found ball control to its liking in the first quarter as it opened the game with its longest touchdown drive of the season. The Bulldogs drove 80 yards in 14 plays, grinding up 6:18 on the game clock, to take a 7-0 lead. Georgia then opened it up in the second quarter, calling for passes on five of its first eight plays. An Eric Zeier fumble just inside

OSU territory proved costly as the Buckeyes drove 54 yards to paydirt in 11 plays for a 7-7 halftime tie.

After the break, Andre Hastings ignited the Dogs' offense on the opening kickoff of the second half with a spectacular 49-yard return. Then from the OSU 45, Garrison Hearst gained all 45 yards on four carries en route to a 14-7 Bulldog advantage. But after a short punt by Georgia, which the Buckeyes returned to the UGA 33, Ohio State seized the opportunity and tied the game again, 14-14, on a five-yard run by Robert Smith.

Slowly, the Buckeyes had taken control of the game's momentum and after a 45-yard completion to Smith to the UGA 15, it appeared Ohio State would take its first lead of the game. But quarterback Kirk Herbstreit fumbled, and the Bulldogs drove 80 yards in 11 plays to take the victory. A final Buckeye drive ended with a desperation pass intercepted in the endzone.

Virginia Rallies For 34-27 Win In 1995 Peach Bowl

At the Peach Bowl, two of the nation's most hard-luck teams took to Atlanta's Georgia Dome in search of season-ending consolation. Although the Bulldogs entered the contest as underdogs, Georgia again battled back from adversity, this time a 14-0 deficit with 4:09 left in the first quarter, only to lose in the closing minute. Virginia's Demetrius Allen proved the difference, returning a Kanon Parkman kickoff for an 83-yard TD with :57 remaining.

Sophomore QB Hines Ward engineered the Georgia comeback, lighting up the Cavalier secondary for 413 yards on 31 of 59 passing. Figure in another 56 yards rushing, and Ward had set new Georgia bowl records for pass attempts, completions, yards passing and total offense. However, a pair of first-quarter interceptions and a blocked Dax Langley punt led to an easy 14 points for Virginia and considerable red and black frustration.

Once again, Georgia's defense kept the team's hope alive. Besides limiting Virginia to 256 yards total offense, the UGA "D" even gave the 70,824 audience a temporary charge when defensive tackle Jason Ferguson returned UVA's Walt Dery fumble 10 yards for a TD—Georgia's first tie of the game (27-27) with only 1:09 left.

Bobo, Edwards Lead UGA Past Badgers in '98 Outback Bowl

Mike Bobo completed 26 of 28 passes for 235 yards and one touchdown and running back Robert Edwards ran for three more scores as Georgia defeated Wisconsin 33-6 before an Outback Bowl crowd of 56,186 and an ESPN national television audience.

Bobo, who earned MVP honors, set an Outback Bowl record for best completion percentage (92.8). He also set Outback and Georgia records for consecutive completions with 19. Edwards set a Georgia bowl mark and tied an Outback record with three rushing touchdowns. Senior Hines Ward set an Outback Bowl record for receptions and yardage with 12 catches for 122 yards.

Georgia sported a new look for the Outback Bowl, donning black pants instead of the traditional "silver britches" to go along with the Bulldogs' white jerseys and red helmets. "The players came to me a while back and requested we do something special for the bowl game," Georgia head coach Jim Donnan said. "The idea the players liked best was wearing black pants. After discussing it with (athletic director) Coach Dooley we decided to go along with the players' suggestion for this game."

Georgia Rallies Past Virginia In 1998 Peach Bowl

No. 19 Georgia rallied from an early second-quarter deficit of 21-0 to post a thrilling 35-33 win over 12th-ranked Virginia. A Peach Bowl record crowd of 72,876 in Atlanta on Dec. 31, 1998 was in attendance for the memorable comeback.

Virginia capitalized on three second quarter interceptions by Georgia freshman Quincy Carter, turning each of them into a touchdown to build a 21-0 lead. Georgia got on the scoreboard when Carter connected with senior Tony Small on an 11-yard score with 1:15 left in the second quarter.

Georgia got its first lead of the night when Olandis Gary capped a 67-yard drive with a 2-yard run on the Dogs' first possession of the fourth quarter. The Bulldogs then built an 8-point lead when Carter called his own number on a quarterback sneak from the one-yard-line with 7:01 remaining.

Georgia staved off the Cavaliers late by stopping a 2-point conversion and then watching as their last-ditch field goal sailed wide left with just 19 seconds remaining.

Georgia kicked off the new year by staging the largest comeback in bowl history, scoring 28 unanswered points to defeat Purdue 28-25 in overtime at Raymond James Stadium in front of 54,059 in a game broadcast by ESPN.

Purdue jumped out to an early lead in the first quarter behind three Drew Brees touchdown passes. In the second quarter Brees threw his fourth touchdown pass to Chris James. Purdue missed three of the four extra point opportunities to lead 25-0 with 10:38 left in the first half.

Georgia got its first points of the game on a Terrence Edwards 74-yard touchdown run off an option reverse to cut the lead to 25-7. Quincy Carter, who had 243 yards on 20 of 33 passing with two touchdowns (one rushing, one passing), helped continue the Georgia surge when he scored on an eight-yard run with 4:22 left in the third quarter. Patrick Pass made the two-point conversion to move the score to 25-18.

The Bulldogs tied the score at 25 with just 1:19 left in regulation, when Randy McMichael caught a Carter pass over two defenders for an eight-yard touchdown. In overtime, Georgia managed to stop Purdue on its first drive when Dorsch missed a 43-yard field goal. After two Pass rushes for 19 yards, Hap Hines nailed a 21-yarder to cap the Bulldogs' come from behind victory.

Georgia Cruises Past Virginia In 2000 O'ahu Bowl

The 24th-ranked Georgia Bulldogs (8-4) defeated Virginia 34-17 in the 2000 Jeep O'ahu Bowl in front of an Aloha Stadium crowd of 24,187 and an ESPN television audience on Christmas Eve.

Terrence Edwards

Georgia jumped out to a 17-0 lead in the first quarter. The Bulldogs got on the board with a 35-yard field goal by freshman kicker Billy Bennett. On the Bulldogs' next series, one play after a successful fake punt, Edwards scampered 40 yards into the end zone on a reverse to give Georgia a 10-0 lead. On Virginia's next possession, freshman safety Kentrell Curry recovered a Cavalier fumble in the end zone for the 17-0 lead.

The Cavaliers pulled within 24-14 in the third quarter as senior linebacker Byron Thweatt returned a Georgia fumble 58 yards, but that was as close as Virginia would get. Georgia added two more touchdowns for the final margin, a 21-yard pass from sophomore quarterback Cory Phillips to freshman receiver Damien Gary and a four-yard fumble return by sophomore safety Cap Burnett after senior linebacker Kendrell Bell knocked the ball loose.

Edwards was named MVP after leading UGA in both receiving and rushing with eight catches for 79 yards and five rushes for 97 yards and one touchdown.

Eagles Edge Dogs In 2001 Music City Bowl

Running back William Green scored a 7-yard touchdown with 4:43 remaining to lift Boston College to a 20-16 win over Georgia at the Music City Bowl.

Running back Verron Haynes capped his Georgia career with 132 yards on 27 carries, including a 1-yard scoring run in the third quarter. That touchdown gave the Bulldogs a 16-10 lead.

The Bulldogs began the game with some trickery when Fred Gibson took the opening kickoff and gave a reverse handoff to Decory Bryant, who raced 86 yards to the Boston College 18. On Georgia's second play, Greene found Gibson on a swing pass and he fought his way into the end zone from 15 yards out.

Boston College grabbed the lead in the second quarter when quarterback Brian St. Pierre threw a 10-yard touchdown pass to receiver Dedrick Dewalt. The play was set up by Green's 75-yard run, the longest play allowed by the Bulldogs this season.

Sciortino then converted from 26 yards out to give the Eagles a 13-7 lead. The Bulldogs answered with Bennett's 24-yard field goal as Georgia trailed 13-10 at the break. Haynes' third-quarter touchdown gave the Bulldogs their final lead of the contest.

2003 Dogs Get Record 13th Win In Nokia Sugar Bowl

Georgia bowl MVP Musa Smith rushed for 145 yards and Billy Bennett kicked four field goals as Georgia defeated Florida State 26-13 before 74,269 fans in the Nokia Sugar Bowl. Georgia completed the season at 13-1, the most wins in school history.

The Bulldogs' defense forced three turnovers by the Seminoles, including cornerback Bruce Thornton's 71-yard interception return for a touchdown. Nose tackle Ken Veal's fumble recovery led to one of Bennett's four field goals.

Bennett staked the Bulldogs to a 3-0 lead in the first quarter. The Seminoles took their only lead of the game in the second quarter as quarterback Fabian Walker found receiver Anquan Boldin on a 5-yard scoring toss. Thornton's second-quarter interception and score gave Georgia the lead for good.

Bennett pushed the advantage to 20-7 by drilling a 42-yard field goal early in the third quarter. On FSU's next possession, Veal's fumble recovery set up a third Bennett field goal, pushing Georgia ahead 23-7.

Georgia Defeats Purdue In OT In 2004 Capital One Bowl

David Greene

After scoring the game's first 24 points, Georgia needed a Kregg Lumpkin overtime touchdown run to hold off Purdue, 34-27, in front of a Capital One Bowl crowd of 64,565 and an ABC national television audience.

The Bulldogs opened the game with a nine-play, 68-yard drive culminating in a six-yard Fred Gibson touchdown pass from quarterback and offensive MVP David Greene (left). The Bulldogs used a Billy Bennett field goal and two more Greene TD passes--one each to Gibson and Reggie Brown--to open a 24-0 lead with 4:47 left in the first half.

Purdue answered with a touchdown and field goal to pull within 14, 24-10, at halftime.

Purdue scored the fourth quarter's first points on a Kyle Orton two-yard run with 9:11 left. Georgia then used up 4:44 on a 12-play, 57-yard drive ending in a 40-yard Bennett field goal. Late in the fourth, Purdue needed just three plays to go 66 yards and pull within three, 27-24, on a Kyle Orton three-yard touchdown pass. Ben Jones kicked a 44-yard field goal with 49 seconds left to tie the game at 27-all.

On the first possession of overtime, Lumpkin pushed his way into the end zone to give the Bulldogs a 34-27 lead. Purdue also drove inside the 10 yard line, but failed to convert.

Bulldogs Beat Badgers In 2005 Outback Bowl

Georgia (10-2) held off a late Wisconsin rally to defeat the Badgers 24-21 in front of 62,414 Outback Bowl fans at Raymond James Stadium and an ESPN national television audience.

It was the last game for several Bulldog seniors, including All-American DE David Pollack (right) whose three-sack performance earned him Outback Bowl MVP.

Overall, Georgia's defense stifled the Badgers' offense, allowing just 13 points while recording seven quarterback sacks and forcing and recovering two fumbles.

Wisconsin (9-3) took an early second-quarter 6-3 lead in a battle of field goals, but Georgia's offense came to life in the middle of the game. Senior QB David Greene connected on a 24-yard touchdown to Fred Gibson and later a 24-yard TD to senior Jeremy Thomas.

Freshman Thomas Brown notched his fourth 100-yard rushing game of the year with 111 yards on 16 carries, including a 29-yard touchdown run to give Georgia a 24-6 lead.

West Virginia Upsets Dogs In 2006 Nokia Sugar Bowl

Georgia was unable to overcome a 28-0 deficit and fell to West Virginia 38-35 in the 2006 Nokia Sugar Bowl in front of 74,458 fans at the Georgia Dome and an ABC national television audience.

Despite three touchdowns and 277 yards passing by quarterback D.J. Shockley, the Bulldogs' late rally fell short after they outscored the Mountaineers 35-10 to finish the game. Tailback Thomas Brown led Georgia with 78 yards rushing, including a 52-yard touchdown.

West Virginia started the game's scoring with three touchdowns in the first quarter and went up 28-0 with 14:10 remaining in the second quarter. Georgia got its first points at the 12:58 mark in the second quarter on Kregg Lumpkin's career-long 34-yard touchdown run.

The Bulldogs managed to close the gap to 38-35 after Shockley connected with fellow senior Bryan McClendon for a 43-yard touchdown with 5:13 left in the fourth quarter. But West Virginia converted a fake punt in the game's final drive, enabling the Mountaineers to run the clock out.

Bulldogs Rally Past Va. Tech In 2006 Chick-fil-A Bowl

Georgia stormed back from an 18-point deficit to defeat 14th-ranked Virginia Tech 31-24 in the Chick-fil-A Bowl in the Georgia Dome in front of a bowl-record crowd of 75,406 and a national ESPN television audience.

Bulldog linebacker Tony Taylor (two interceptions) and quarterback Matthew Stafford (129 yards, 1 TD) were named the Defensive and Offensive MVPs. In the fourth quarter, the Bulldogs got scoring runs from tailback Kregg Lumpkin and fullback Brannan Southerland along with one of kicker Brandon Coutu's three field goals (including a Georgia bowl record 51-yarder) to complete the comeback.

Georgia led 3-0 after the first quarter, but then the Hokies built a 21-3 halftime edge. Taylor's interception at the start of the fourth quarter set up the game-tying touchdown, a 3-yard Lumpkin run. On the Hokies' next possession, Charles Johnson sacked Sean Glennon and caused him to fumble, which Quentin Moses recovered. It led to the go-ahead field goal by Coutu.

Bulldogs Blast Hawai'i To Win 2008 Sugar Bowl

The Bulldogs trounced previously undefeated Hawai'i 41-10 in the Sugar Bowl on New Years night from the Louisiana Superdome in New Orleans, La. This was the most points the Bulldogs have ever scored in a bowl game as well as their largest margin of victory in a bowl game.

Georgia struck early against the Warriors, starting with a Knowshon Moreno 17-yard touchdown run with 9:42 in the first quarter. Moreno also had an 11-yard scoring run late in the first period.

Early in the second half, defensive end Marcus Howard sacked Warrior quarterback Colt Brennan on the goal line and recovered Brennan's fumble on the play for a TD, the first of his career. Thomas Brown got in on the scoring action with a one-yard scamper in the third quarter, and QB Matthew Stafford got into the books with an 11-yard TD pass to Sean Bailey midway through the second quarter.

Bulldogs Notch 10th Win At 2009 Capital One Bowl

Matthew Stafford threw three touchdown passes in the final 18 minutes against Michigan State, as the Bulldogs posted a 24-12 Capital One Bowl victory in front of 59,681 fans and an ABC national television audience.

The first half was ugly for Stafford, projected to be an early first-round NFL draft pick, and Georgia. He was just 6-for-14 with an interception in the first half and Michigan State (9-4) led 6-3. In the second half, he looked more like the quarterback NFL teams covet. He completed 14 of his final 17 throws, including three TD passes.

Stafford started the comeback by directing a 10-play, 96-yard drive midway through the third quarter. He went 6-for-6 for 92 yards and capped it with a 35-yard touchdown toss to Michael Moore. Stafford and Aron White hooked up on a 21-yard TD toss with 9 seconds left in the third quarter to put Georgia up 17-6.

Dogs Defeat Texas A&M For Independence Bowl Win

Georgia closed out the 2009 football season in dominant fashion as it defeated Texas A&M 44-20 in the AdvoCare V100 Independence Bowl in front of 49,653 fans in Shreveport, La.

After the Aggies tied the game early in the third quarter, Georgia scored 30 unanswered points to win with relative ease. The 44 points was a Bulldog bowl record.

Neither team scored until the final 2:33 of the second quarter, when Georgia followed an A&M touchdown with two quick scores before halftime, highlighted by Brandon Boykin's kickoff return.

A 49-yard field goal by Blair Walsh with 9:25 left in the third quarter gave Georgia the lead for good and started the string of 30 consecutive points.

Georgia's defense, coached by defensive line coach Rodney Garner and graduate assistants Mitch Doolittle and Todd Hartley, was led by sophomore linebacker Marcus Downtin, who had nine tackles. Junior linebacker Rennie Curran had eight, and junior safety Reshad Jones had five tackles and an interception.

No. 24 UCF Edges Bulldogs In 2010 Liberty Bowl

Georgia saw its four-game bowl winning streak stopped by dropping a 10-6 decision to #24 Central Florida in the AutoZone Liberty Bowl, marking Georgia's first postseason loss since the 2006 Sugar Bowl.

UCF's Latavius Murray scored on a 10-yard touchdown run with 9:01 left, and the Knights were able to stave off Georgia to post the victory. The Bulldogs had the ball last and converted two fourth downs before Kemal Ishmael knocked down Aaron Murray's final throw into the end zone as time expired.

The Bulldogs also started both halves driving down field easily before bogging down and settling for field goals of 20 and 41 yards by Blair Walsh. These teams went to halftime tied at 3-3 after a first half in which both Georgia and UCF wasted chances at the end zone.

No. 12 MSU Rallies Past Bulldogs In 2012 Outback Bowl

Tavarres King

Georgia dropped a 33-30 decision to Michigan State in a thrilling three-overtime game in the Outback Bowl in front of 49,429 fans and a nationally televised ABC audience.

Bulldog junior Tavarres King set a school-record with 205 yards receiving on six catches, including a career-long 80-yard TD. Defensive back Brandon Boykin, who was named the MVP of the game, forced a safety, returned a punt 92 yards for a TD and scored on a 13-yard run.

With 2:06 left, MSU quarterback Kirk Cousins led a 10-play 85-yard drive that tied the game at 27-27 to send it into overtime. After an interception by Bacarri Rambo on MSU's first possession, Georgia senior Blair Walsh missed a 42-yard field goal to send it to another overtime. Both teams exchanged field goals in the second OT. The Spartans opened the third OT with a field goal that gave them a 33-30 lead. Georgia had a chance to tie it again, but its 47-yard field goal attempt was blocked, sealing the win for the Spartans.

Nebraska Holds On For 2014 TaxSlayer.com Gator Bowl Win

No. 23 Georgia Bulldogs sustained a 24-19 loss to Nebraska in the TaxSlayer.com Gator Bowl in front of 60,712 fans in Jacksonville and a national ESPN audience.

After a scoreless first quarter, Hutson Mason led Georgia on an 12-play, 38-yard drive that produced a Marshall Morgan 39-yard field goal. Nebraska, however, took advantage of a fumbled punt return by the Bulldogs to take a 7-3 lead with 9:05 left in the second quarter. The teams traded field goals to complete first-half scoring with the Huskers holding a 10-9 edge.

Nebraska forged ahead 24-12 with touchdowns on its first two possessions of the second half. The latter came on a 99-yard pass from Tommy Armstrong, Jr. to Quincy Enunwa with 4:58 left in the third quarter.

Georgia scored its first touchdown of the game at the start of the fourth quarter when Hutson Mason passed for 25 yards to Todd Gurley. Later in the fourth quarter, the Bulldogs looked to take the lead, twice driving inside the Nebraska 20. Georgia was unable to convert on either fourth down, however, allowing Nebraska to come away with the victory.

Godwin, Bulldogs Hold Off Penn State for TaxSlayer Win

Terry Godwin
TaxSlayer Bowl MVP

After jumping ahead 24-3 in the third quarter, Georgia was able to hold on and beat Penn State 24-17 in the TaxSlayer Bowl at Jacksonville's EverBank Field.

Freshman Terry Godwin became the first non-quarterback to throw for a score for Georgia since 2005, and the first Bulldog wideout to throw for a score since 1998, when he hit senior Malcolm Mitchell in stride for a 44-yard strike for the first touchdown of the game. Later in the first half, he pulled in a 17-yard touchdown from Greyson Lambert.

After Sony Michel's third-quarter TD run pushed Georgia comfortably ahead, Penn State finally broke through on the first play of the fourth quarter. Backup quarterback Trace McSorley connected with Geno Lewis for a 17-yard score. Two drives later, McSorley hit DaeSean Hamilton for a TD that trimmed the margin to 24-17.

Georgia got the ball back and consumed most of the remaining 6:07 with a solid drive. Bulldog defenders, however, had to preserve the victory by batting down a 43-yard Hail Mary heave by McSorley on the final play.

Ground Attack Pushes Dogs Past TCU in Liberty Bowl Win

Sony Michel

The Georgia Bulldogs grabbed the school's 30th all-time bowl victory in a 31-23 win over the TCU Horned Frogs in the Autozone Liberty Bowl at the Liberty Bowl Memorial Stadium in Memphis.

Georgia junior tailbacks Nick Chubb and Sony Michel combined for 268 total yards and three touchdowns. Chubb amassed 142 yards on the ground, including a 13-yard touchdown run that strengthened the Bulldogs' lead to eight points at 31-23 with 2:48 left in the game.

Michel, the Liberty Bowl Offensive MVP, supplied the Bulldogs with one rushing touchdown on 87 yards and another on 39 receiving yards. On the defensive side of the ball, sophomore lineman Trenton Thompson collected three sacks, a Liberty Bowl record, and was named Liberty Bowl Overall MVP and defensive MVP.

Georgia took its first lead of the game at 21-16 on a 4-yard pass from Jacob Eason to Javon Wims midway through the third quarter. The Horned Frogs answered late in the period with a short touchdown pass of their own. Rodrigo Blankenship's 30-yard field goal 90 seconds into the fourth quarter gave Georgia the lead for keeps.

Bulldogs' Bid for Title Falls Short vs. Alabama

• Alabama defeated Georgia 26-23 in the 2018 College Football Playoff National Championship Game in Atlanta, overcoming two 13-point deficits and an errant field goal attempt that would have won it in regulation.

• Still, the Bulldogs led in overtime on the strength of a 51-yard field goal by Rodrigo Blankenship. They even took the upper hand by sacking Bama quarterback Tua Tagovailoa for a 16-yard loss on the Tide's first play in the extra period. But on second down, Tagovailoa hit DeVonta Smith for a 41-yard scoring pass that ended the game.

• Georgia controlled the first half, taking a 13-0 lead on Mecole Hardman's 1-yard run just before intermission. Hardman scored again on an 80-yard pass from Jake Fromm with 6:52 left in the third quarter, answering Bama's first score of the night.

• This game marked Georgia's first appearance since 1982 in a game where victory would have given it a national title in football.

• It was also the first time that any Bulldog team had played consecutive overtime games. Georgia is now 8-6 all-time in overtime contests, including 3-3 at neutral sites.

Longhorns Hold Off Bulldogs in Sugar Bowl

• A fast start by Texas -- aided partly by a pair of early Georgia miscues -- enabled the Longhorns to post a 28-21 upset victory over the Bulldogs in the 2019 Allstate Sugar Bowl.

• Texas tallied scores on four of its first five possessions in building a 20-7 first-half lead. The margin reached 28-7 before Georgia put together two scoring drives in the fourth period, the latter touchdown with :14 left.

• The Longhorns took the opening kickoff and drove 75 yards in 10 plays for their first score. The ensuing Georgia drive stalled at the 41-yard line, where a low snap caused punter Jake Camarda to field it with his right knee touching the turf at the 27. Georgia's defense, however, forced the Longhorns to settle for a 37-yard field goal.

• Later in the first quarter, a D'Andre Swift fumble at his own 12-yard line gave Texas another scoring opportunity. QB Sam Ehlinger scrambled for a 9-yard touchdown three plays later for a 17-0 margin.

• Georgia finished the season 11-3. The Bulldogs made their 55th all-time bowl appearance, including the program's 22nd consecutive appearance. Its record in bowl games is now 31-21-3.

• Elijah Holyfield became the 15th UGA rusher to gain 1,000 yards in a single season. He went over the 1,000-yard mark on his first carry of the second half. Teammate D'Andre Swift had surpassed that milestone in the SEC Championship game. It marked the second straight year that Georgia had a pair of 1,000-yard rushers after Nick Chubb and Sony Michel had done it in 2017.

Dogs Make Victorious Return to Big Easy

George Pickens

• Fifth-ranked Georgia closed the 2019 season with a 26-14 victory over #7 Baylor in the 86th Allstate Sugar Bowl before 55,211 fans at the Mercedes-Benz Superdome and an ESPN primetime television audience.

• The Bulldogs won this game with a roster that scarcely resembled the one that had played 13 previous contests. As many as 15 scholarship players missed the Sugar Bowl for various reasons. Hardest hit were the offensive line -- which lacked three key players and coach Sam Pittman, who left to become head coach at Arkansas -- and a defense that was missing at least six regulars. OL Warren Ericson, RB Zamir White and DT Devonte Wyatt all made their first career starts in the game.

• Freshman George Pickens, who was named the Sugar Bowl MVP, had a career-high 12 catches (tying a UGA bowl record) for 175 yards and 1 TD. In the first half alone, he had 11 for 165 yards and one TD. His 27-yard TD catch early in the second period gave Georgia its first measurable distance from the Bears.

• With the victory, the 2019 class tied the mark for most wins by a Bulldog senior class with 44. They matched the 2005 group that went 44-9 with a pair of SEC titles. The 2019 class finished with a 44-12 record, one SEC title, three consecutive SEC Eastern Division crowns and was the 2018 CFP Runner-Up.

• Georgia made its 11th all-time appearance in the Sugar Bowl, and the Bulldogs are now 5-6. Georgia made its 23rd consecutive appearance in a bowl game, the second longest active streak in the country. Overall, Georgia improved to 32-21-3 in bowls.

Late Podlesny FG Caps Comeback Win Over Bearcats

- Jack Podlesny's career-long 53-yard field goal with three seconds left completed a 24-21 comeback victory for the ninth-ranked Georgia Bulldogs over No. 8 Cincinnati at the 2021 Chick-fil-A Peach Bowl in front of 15,301 fans at Mercedes-Benz Stadium and an ESPN television audience.

- The Podlesny kick highlighted a busy fourth quarter for the Bulldogs. Indeed, things looked bleak for Georgia when Cincinnati's Jerome Ford broke free on a 79-yard touchdown run with 14:11 left in the third quarter. The score put the Bearcats ahead 21-10, a lead that seemed almost out of reach, given the Bulldogs' offensive struggles to that point in the game.

- Georgia got the spark it needed early in the fourth quarter, when Azeez Ojulari sacked UC quarterback Desmond Ridder, who lost possession at the Cincinnati 25-yard line. Two plays later, Zamir White streaked around left end for a 9-yard touchdown run. Despite missing a 2-point conversion, the Bulldogs had improbably seized momentum.

- Georgia got within 21-19 with a 32-yard field goal from Podlesny on its next possession. Neither team advanced the ball on its following series, and after a 3-and-out by the Bulldogs, it was Cincinnati's win to preserve when it took over with 2:59 left.

- The Bearcats needed just two plays to convert one first down. On 3rd-and-two, however -- after each team called a time out -- Ridder threw incomplete to Michael Young, a pass that was broken up in near-desperation by UGA's Tyrique Stevenson 25 yards downfield.

- Georgia quickly advanced on five plays before stalling at the Cincinnati 36-yard line, setting up Podlesny's game-winner.

- Ojulari, who was named Defensive MVP of the game, put the exclamation mark on the Bulldogs' victory by sacking Ridder in the end zone as time expired.

Coach Kirby Smart said...

"I'm certainly proud of our team. I'm proud of the adversity we went through throughout the year with the pandemic. I don't think we played our best game today. My hat is off to Cincinnati. They did a really good job of defensively controlling our run game, and offensively keeping us off balance enough with their quarterback run game... I don't think anybody really truly understands, not just Georgia, but how hard it was on entire college football to be persistent, to go this long, practice this long. My hat goes off to the guys in the room."

Justin Shaffer and Payne Walker celebrate with kicker Jack Podlesny after his career-long 53-yard field goal with :03 left defeated Cincinnati in the 2021 Chick-fil-a Peach Bowl.

WORTH NOTING...

- The Bulldogs managed to win this game with a roster that scarcely resembled the one that had played nine previous contests. As many as 11 scholarship players, including five defensive starters, missed the Peach Bowl for various reasons, ranging from opt-outs to transfers and injuries.

- Jack Podlesny's kick was the first game-winning field goal for Georgia since Rodrigo Blankenship's 25-yarder to defeat Kentucky in 2016. It was also the third bowl-winning kick in program history and the longest game winner overall since Kevin Butler's 60-yard boot against Clemson in 1984.

- Redshirt sophomore linebacker Azeez Ojulari earned Defensive Player of the Game honors with three sacks and two forced fumbles, tying the school record for sacks in a bowl game. Overall, the Bulldogs tied the school record for team sacks in a bowl with eight, matching the total set against Hawaii in the 2008 Sugar Bowl.

- Georgia extended the nation's longest active bowl streak to 24 with the Chick-fil-A Peach Bowl appearance. With the victory, Georgia improved its all-time bowl record to 33-21-3, including 4-2 in the Peach Bowl. This was Georgia's first appearance in the Peach Bowl since 2006, a 31-24 comeback victory over Virginia Tech at the Georgia Dome.

- Senior safety Richard LeCounte was selected as the team captain in his final game for the Bulldogs. Despite missing the previous four games due to injury, LeCounte joined his teammates on the field for the final snap of the game.

Although the University of Georgia is now known as the home of Uga, the pure white English bulldog, several mascots led the Red and Black before Frank W. Seiler provided the current lineage beginning in 1956.

The Goat -- Feb. 22, 1892

Georgia's mascot for its first football game against Auburn, February 22, 1892 in Atlanta, Ga., was a goat. Old newspaper clippings indicate that the goat wore a black coat with red U.G. letters on each side. He also had on a hat with ribbons all down his high horns, and the Auburn fans yelled throughout the game "shoot the billy-goat."

In 1894, Georgia's mascot was a solid white female bull terrier owned by a student, Charles H. Black, Sr., of Atlanta. Trilby, named after a novel by George Du Maurier, served as the campus pet and mascot for the Chi Phi fraternity.

Disputing stories speculate the origin of the Bulldog nickname, and the story of Trilby provides yet another opinion: "...every day Trilby took herself down to old Herty field with her master for football practice. She ran signals with the best of them and became an accustomed figure on the athletic field...One morning, Trilby failed to appear for her breakfast and after a frantic search she was finally discovered proudly washing the faces of her newborn family, 13 white puppies...Late one dusky fall afternoon, Trilby appeared for a grid workout and scampering after her came her 13 children, darting through players' legs, barking and pace. 'Well,' suggested one of the players, 'Trilby has brought us a name, Bulldogs.' ...Every time a game was played on Herty Field, the boys would floss Trilby and her 13 offerings up with red and black ribbons, and so attired they have gone down in history as perhaps the first 'sponsors' in southern football." —Ruth Stanton Cogill (Atlanta newspaper)

"After the rein of Trilby and her family, chaos developed in the mascot department at the university. Many games had several, depending on which alumnus got his dog to the game first." —AJC, Nov. 18, 1962

Mr. Angel, 1944-46

Mr. Angel, a brindle and white colored English Bulldog owned by Eastman, Ga., physician, Warren Coleman, filled a void during some of the war years.

There was no mascot roaming the sidelines and Coleman took Mr. Angel to games and stood with him on the sidelines. His picture on the field and with the Georgia cheerleaders appears in the 1945 and '46 UGA annual, the Pandora.

Butch, 1947-50

Butch was a brindled English bulldog owned by Mabry Smith of Warner Robins,

Trilby with owner Charles H. Black

Mr. Angel

Ga. He was spotted by students who were attending the 1946 Georgia-Georgia Tech game in Athens, and the canine appeared to be suited for the mascot position. Smith agreed to loan Butch to the University during the football season along with a female puppy named Tuffy. The female died of a heart attack following the Georgia-Kentucky game in 1948, but Butch continued to serve. Spending the off-season at Smith's home in Warner Robins, Butch was tragically shot in the summer of 1951 by a policeman after the dog escaped from his pen and was found roaming the streets. Butch is buried behind Smith's business along Watson Boulevard.

In 2004 plans for a marker honoring Butch in his hometown were put into motion by longtime Warner Robins resident Guy Fussell.

Mike, 1951-55

Butch was succeeded by Mike, another brindled English bulldog, owned by C. L. Fain. Mike lived in the field house on campus and died of natural canine causes in 1955. As his master's thesis, Gene Owens of Fort Worth, Texas, cast the bronze statue of Mike which is located at the entrance of Memorial Hall

Uga Takes the Field

In the last 100 years of intercollegiate football, Georgia's Uga has established himself as the nation's most well-known mascot. The line of pure white English bulldogs, which epitomizes everything Georgia, has been owned by the Frank W. "Sonny" Seiler family of Savannah, Ga., since Uga I first graced the campus in 1956.

Through the years, Uga has been defined by his spiked collar, a symbol of the position which he holds. He was given his name, an abbreviation for the university, by William Young of Columbus, a law school classmate of Seiler. Each of the Uga mascots is awarded a varsity letter in the form of a plaque, identical to those presented to all Bulldog athletes who letter in their respective sports.

As determined and published by the Pittsburgh Press, the University of Georgia is the only major college that actually buries its mascots within the confines of the stadium. Ugas I-IX are buried in marble vaults near the main gate in the embankment of the South stands. Epitaphs to the dogs are inscribed in bronze, and before each home game, flowers are placed on their graves. The memorial plot attracts hundreds of fans and visitors each year.

For the past 20 years, Uga's jerseys have been custom-made at the beginning of each season from the same material used for the players' jerseys. Old jerseys are destroyed.

Uga's on-field home is a permanent air conditioned doghouse located next to the cheerleader's platform, providing comfort in the heat of August and September. The custom-made doghouse is a gift from the Bahamian Bulldog Club of Nassau, Bahamas, through the courtesy of Fred Hazlewood.

Uga I, 1956-66 "Hood's Ole Dan" Record: 53-48-6

The current Uga line of solid white English bulldogs began with Uga I, Hood's Ole Dan, born Dec. 2, 1955, in Columbus. Uga I was given to Cecelia Seiler by a friend, Frank Heard of Columbus and appeared in his first game in the 1956 home opener. As recalled by Sonny Seiler, "...his original red jerseys were made by Cecelia. It was necessary to take up children's t-shirts to fit the dog in the right places. There is no telling how many of these jersey's he wore out. During the early games in Athens, especially the hot ones before he had a dog house, the large green hedges that surround Sanford Stadium afford welcomed shade in the heat of battle. Unfortunately, the hedges constantly tore these jerseys and new ones had to be made."

Uga III

Uga III, 1972-80 "Seiler's Uga Three" Record: 71-32-2

Born Oct. 9, 1972, Seiler's Uga III was present for Georgia football's finest moment as Herschel Walker took the Bulldogs to the 1980 national championship. He led Georgia to six bowl games in nine years and closed out his career in ultimate fashion winning the 1980 NCAA championship. Uga III retired on the 100th football game of his career, marking the season-opener of the 1981 season. He died just weeks later.

Uga IV, 1981-89 "Seiler's Uga Four" Record: 77-27-4

Uga IV was perhaps the most active of all the Georgia mascots, standing as the only one to attend a bowl game every year of his service (1981-89). He took over for Uga III in the 1981 season opener and over the next nine seasons, led Georgia to a record of 77-27-4. The highlight of his career was his personal appearance at the Heisman Trophy Banquet with Herschel Walker in New York on December 9, 1982. Uga IV was escorted through the banquet hall by the president of the Downtown Athletic

Uga IV

Club, and was earlier photographed with Herschel by photographers from across the country. The proud Bulldog donned his game jersey for the outing and added the formal touch of a collar and black tie. Uga IV was the first mascot invited to the Heisman Banquet. Declared "Dog of the Decade" by Vince Dooley in 1991, Uga IV was posthumously awarded the highest honor available to University of Georgia mascots — the Georgia varsity letter.

Uga II, 1966-72 "Ole Dan's Uga" Record: 42-16-3

Uga I was succeeded by his son, Ole Dan's Uga at an impressive pregame ceremony at Homecoming, 1966. With the Georgia Redcoat Band lining the field, Uga II was led to the center of the field by Charles Seiler, son of Sonny and Cecelia. The student body erupted in a cheer that was picked up by the entire stadium, "Damn Good Dog!"

Uga II had an impressive reign as he watched Georgia participate in five bowl games and win two SEC championships.

Otto, 1986 "The Substitute" Record: 3-1

Although Otto was not pure white like his father, he was called upon to fill in for his younger brother, Uga IV, who injured ligaments in his left hind knee when jumping off a hotel bed before the Vanderbilt contest. In four games during the 1986 season, Otto led the team to a 3-1 record and also co-mascotted (along with Uga IV), a victory over instate rival Georgia Tech. After winning his first two games, fans cheered, "2-and-0 with Otto!" Dooley, serving as head coach during Otto's brief tenure, favored the substitute the most. "I have always had a great affection for those who came off the bench and performed, and he did that and had a great time," Dooley said. Otto is buried in the Seiler's backyard.

Uga V, 1990-99 "UGA IV's Magillicuddy II" Record: 65-39-1

In the first game of 1990, Uga V officially began his reign as the Georgia mascot, taking over from his father Uga IV, who passed away at his home in Savannah on Feb. 26, 1990. Uga V was the last pup sired by Uga IV and was born on March 6, 1990.

Named in honor of one of the greatest Bulldogs, Dan Magill, former Assistant Athletic Director for Public Relations and longtime tennis coach and sports information director. Surprisingly, the Seiler family became aware that Uga IV's mate was expecting only 10 days before the litter was due. This notice came a week after Uga IV had passed away at his home in Savannah from kidney failure. There were only three pups in the litter and the last one born on March 6 was the only solid white male.

Uga V had been perhaps the most well known of all the Bulldog mascots, highlighted by his appearance on the cover of the April 28, 1997, Sports Illustrated which declared him the nation's best college mascot. Rocketed to stardom, he also appeared in Clint Eastwood's "Midnight In The Garden Of Good And Evil" — filmed in his hometown of Savannah, Ga. He died on Nov. 22, 1999, just over two months after his retirement.

Uga VI

Uga VI, 1999-2008 "Uga V's Whatchagot Loran" Record: 87-27

In 2007, Uga VI became the winningest mascot in school history and owned a record of 87-27. The fall of 2008 would have been his 10th season after Uga VI reigned over more games than any other mascot with 114. He died on June 27, 2008. In his last game, the Bulldogs defeated Hawai'i 41-10 in the 2008 Sugar Bowl in New Orleans.

The pregame passing of the bone ceremony from Uga V to his heftier and friskier son, Whatchagot Loran, took place at the 1999 Georgia-South Carolina contest. Only a year old at his coronation, Uga VI stood as the biggest of all the Uga mascots weighing in at 65 pounds — 20 pounds heavier than his father.

His first season climaxed in a magnificent come from behind victory over Purdue at the Outback Bowl in Tampa. The 2000 season ended in Hawaii, but due to the distance and a quarantine rule, Uga VI missed the O'ahu Bowl, marking the first time the Georgia mascot had missed the postseason game since the 1969 Sun Bowl.

Alongside first-year head coach Mark Richt, Uga VI saw his third consecutive 8-4 season, which included a 26-24 win at then-No. 6 Tennessee for the Bulldogs' first win in Knoxville since 1980.

Uga VI and Georgia experienced their best run in two decades during the 2002-05 seasons. That stretch included 44 wins, a pair of SEC titles and appearances in the Sugar, Capital One and Outback Bowls.

In 2007, Uga VI passed Uga IV (77-24-4) for the most wins of any bulldog in school history.

Uga VII, 2008-2009 "Loran's Best" Record: 16-7

The seventh in the Uga line of Georgia mascots was introduced to the Georgia people on Aug. 30, 2008, during pre-game ceremonies of the Bulldogs' season opener against Georgia Southern.

"Loran's Best" officially became "Uga VII," when he was introduced for the first time to the Sanford Stadium crowd prior to kickoff of the Georgia vs. Georgia Southern game. He was escorted onto the field by members of the Frank W. "Sonny" Seiler family of Savannah who have owned the continuous line of mascots since Uga I took up the mantle in 1956.

Uga VII passed away unexpectedly on Nov. 19 of heart-related causes. It was the Thursday before the final home game of the 2009 season and the Bulldogs did not have a live mascot at the game. Instead, a wreath was placed on UGA VII's doghouse, and the players wore a special UGA VII decal on their helmets to remember him. "Russ," the five-year-old half brother of Uga VII, served as the Bulldog mascot for the Georgia Tech game in Atlanta and helped his squad to a 30-24 win. He was the first substitute mascot since "Otto" in 1986.

Epitaph: Gone Too Soon

Uga VIII, 2010 "Big Bad Bruce" Record: 4-2

Born Sept. 12, 2009 in Savannah, Ga., Uga VIII is the grandson of Uga VI. He carried on the tradition of more than 60 years of all-white bulldogs bred by Frank "Sonny" Seiler and family.

Uga VIII was named in honor of Dr. Bruce Hollett from the University's School of Veterinary Medicine. Dr. Hollett has been a longtime caregiver for the famed line of English bulldogs. UGA VIII served six games in the 2010 season before he became ill and missed the AutoZone Liberty Bowl. He passed away with lymphoma on February 4, 2011.

Epitaph: He Never Had a Chance

Uga VIII

Uga IX, 2012-14 ("Russ", 2009-2012: 16-9) Record: 44-19

"Uga IX, formerly "Russ," the half-brother of Uga VII, served as interim Bulldog mascot for a total of 25 games. He worked nine games during the 2009 and 2010 seasons after Uga VII and VIII passed away. He roamed the sidelines at all 14 games during the 2011 season. He then served for two wins at the beginning of the 2012 season before being promoted as Uga IX prior to the Florida Atlantic game on Sept. 15, 2012. His time as mascot included the 2011 and 2012 SEC Eastern Division championships, three road wins at Georgia Tech, a victory over Texas A&M in the 2009 Independence Bowl in Shreveport, La., and a win over Nebraska in the 2013 Capital One Bowl. He was the first substitute mascot since "Otto" in 1986.

Epitaph: He endeared himself to the Georgia people. His dedication to duty when called upon was exemplary.

Uga IX

Uga X, 2015-Present "Que" Record: 75-18

Uga IX officially retired as the Bulldogs' mascot at the end of the 2014 season. After a three-month "audition" in that role, his grandson "Que" was formally crowned as his successor in a collaring ceremony prior to the Georgia-Georgia Southern game on Nov. 21, 2015. Que assumed the title of Uga X at the age of 2 1/2 years. During his audition, he made appearances at the Countdown to Kickoff event in July 2015, as well as Picture Day in August, before presiding over the entirety of the 2015 football season. Que capped his inaugural season by leading the team to a 24-17 victory over Penn State at the 2016 Taxslayer Bowl.

NCAA- and SEC-mandated restrictions, related to the COVID-19 pandemic, confined the ever-popular mascot to his home in Savannah for the entire 2020 season, including Georgia's Chick-fil-A Peach Bowl victory.

The Arch

Serving as the official symbol of the University of Georgia, the Arch was built in the 1850s and originally served as part of a larger iron fence securing the campus. Daniel Redfearn (BL 1909, BS 1910) is credited with making the Arch the sacred symbol of UGA. Recognized as one of the school's finest icons, students today hold the Arch in high regard as its three pillars represent the virtues of wisdom, justice, and moderation.

The Arch

The "G"

In 1963 after becoming the Bulldogs' Head Football Coach, Vince Dooley redesigned the football uniform, choosing a red helmet with a black "G" on a white background as the dominant feature of the new uniform for the 1964 season.

He discussed with his staff that a forward-looking "G" would be an appropriate emblem for the helmet of the Georgia team. Dooley had just hired John Donaldson, former Georgia player from 1945 to 1948, as backfield coach. Donaldson was keen on the idea of a new image and volunteered his wife, Anne, who had a BFA in commercial art from UGA, to design a logo for the new Georgia helmet with the general specifications Dooley had outlined. Dooley accepted Anne's original "G" which fit his vision for a forward look to Georgia's new emblem.

Since the Georgia "G", though different in design and color, was similar to Green Bay's "G", Coach Dooley thought it best to clear the use of Georgia's new emblem with the NFL team. Athletic Director Joel Eaves called for permission, which was granted. However, since its inception in 1961, the Green Bay "G" has been redesigned several times and now looks like Georgia's original 1964 "G." Georgia is proud that the Packers apparently liked the special nuances of the Bulldogs' forward-looking "G".

Georgia's oval "G", eventually replacing Georgia's old block "G" as the official UGA symbol, has stood the test of time. It made its first appearance in the opening game in 1964 and was an immediate hit with the Georgia fans, especially after Dooley's first three teams were so successful—highlighted by the 1966 SEC Championship.

"Bulldogs"

"Between the Hedges"

"Lone Trumpeter"

"Silver Britches"

"Silver Britches"

Silver Britches were an innovation of Coach Wally Butts, who took over as head coach in 1939. The handsome pants complemented the bright red jersey and made for a striking uniform. Through the years, fans referred to the Bulldogs' silver britches in their chants and on banners, but the phrase really caught on in the early fifties with a cheer, banners, and colorful vests that proclaimed "Go, You Silver Britches." Coach Vince Dooley re-designed the uniform when he came in 1964 and used white pants; however, he re-instituted the silver britches in 1980 just prior to what turned out to be Georgia's national championship season.

The Chapel Bell

The ringing of the chapel bell after a Georgia victory is a tradition that continues even though freshmen are no longer ordered to do the chore. In the 1890's, the playing field was located only yards from the Chapel and first-year students were compelled to ring the bell until midnight in celebration of a Bulldog victory. Today students, alumni, and townspeople still rush to the Chapel to ring the bell after a gridiron victory.

"Glory, Glory"

Among the University's oldest and most lasting traditions is the school fight song, "Glory, Glory," which is sung to the tune of "The Battle Hymn of the Republic." It was sung at games as early as the 1890's, but arranged in its present form by Georgia's immortal musician-composer Hugh Hodgson in 1915. There have been many Bulldog songs through the years and at least two collections dating back to 1909 have been published, but none have enjoyed more acceptance than "Glory, Glory."

"How 'Bout Them Dogs"

This is a slogan of recent vintage, but one that has become a battle cry of Bulldog fans probably because of its obvious grammatical slur. It first surfaced during the mid to late 1970's especially during the 1978 season when the Bulldogs posted several remarkable, come-from-behind victories. It gained national attention and exposure when Georgia won the national championship in 1980. A major wire service used the phrase in its story of Georgia's victory over Notre Dame and many newspapers picked it up in glaring headlines across the country proclaiming "How 'Bout Them Dogs!"

"Bulldogs"

Many oldtimers say Georgia acquired the nickname, "Bulldogs," because of the strong ties with Yale, whose nickname is "Bulldogs." Georgia's first president, Abraham Baldwin, was a Yale man and the early buildings on campus were designed from blueprints of the same buildings at Yale. However, the first references to the nickname "Bulldogs" actually came in the 1910's (1911-20) by Atlanta newspaper writers covering both football and baseball games. Although used occasionally during the previous decade, the nickname began to be consistently used around 1920.

On Nov. 3, 1920, Morgan Blake of the Atlanta Journal wrote about school nicknames and said "The Georgia Bulldogs would sound good because there is a certain dignity about a bulldog, as well as ferocity." After a 0-0 tie with Virginia in Charlottesville on Nov. 6, 1920, Atlanta Constitution writer Cliff Wheatley used the name "Bulldogs" in his story five times. Gene Hinton also used the term "Bulldogs." The nickname seemed to be off and running.

"Between The Hedges"

A reference to Sanford Stadium that dates to the early 1930's. The famous Chinese privet hedges that surround Sanford's playing field were only one foot high when the stadium was dedicated in 1929 and were protected by a wooden fence. It was natural for a clever sports writer, referring to an upcoming home game, to observe "that the Bulldogs will have their opponent 'between the hedges.'" At least one old-timer says the phrase was first coined by the legendary Atlanta sportswriter Grantland Rice.

"Lone Trumpeter"

Seven minutes before kickoff in Sanford Stadium, the Bulldog Nation directs its attention to a lone trumpeter standing in the upper deck of the southwest corner of the stadium. The soloist is recognized and begins to play the first 14 notes of "The Battle Hymn of the Republic." The Battle Hymn solo was originally composed in 1987 as a student project by Jeff Simmons and became a part of the pre-game traditions in 2000. Each year, 25-30 members of the Redcoat Band audition for one of the 4-5 soloist positions.

Josh Brooks

*J. Reid Parker
Director of Athletics*

Josh Brooks was named J. Reid Parker Director of Athletics on Jan. 6, 2021, after serving 11 years at UGA, most recently as Interim Director of Athletics and Senior Deputy Director of Athletics.

Brooks returned to UGA in 2016 as Executive Associate Director of Athletics after serving as Deputy Athletics Director at the University of Louisiana Monroe from 2015-16 and Director of Athletics at Millsaps College from 2014-15.

Prior to his tenures at Millsaps and ULM, he had served in capacities at UGA as Director of Football Operations (2008-11) and Assistant and Associate Athletic Director for Internal Operations (2012-14).

On January 20, 2021, Brooks pledged $100,000 to create a need-based scholarship that will support UGA students from Athens-Clarke County. His gift will create a Georgia Commitment Scholarship (GCS), adding to the more than 550 endowed, need-based scholarships created under the GCS program since its launch in January 2017.

During his time at UGA, Brooks worked closely with former Director of Athletics Greg McGarity overseeing internal and external for all athletic operations. He has served as the liaison with the Office of University Architects office on all athletic construction projects and with several campus departments, as well as the president's office. His responsibilities at UGA have included overseeing the departments of facility support, graphics and design, and turf management.

He has been involved in the scheduling of future football games as well as overseeing bowl game operations. In addition, his responsibilities included assisting with the development and management of facilities, new construction projects for the Athletic Association, and planning the 2013 Jason Aldean Concert in Sanford Stadium. Brooks has also served as the sport facilitator for football and men's and women's track and field and cross country.

During his time at Millsaps, Brooks revamped the Major game-day experience. He created the kids' zone, specialized concessions, and partnerships with youth sports leagues. Partnerships with the Jackson Public Schools, the Jackson Zoo, the National Guard and the Boy and Girl Scouts of America added to game days. This enhanced experience helped Brooks solicit over $100K in sponsorship opportunities.

Brooks also established a department-wide fundraising campaign that led to a 150 percent increase in Major-Club donations. Capping off this fundraising campaign was the creation of a standalone Hall of Fame event at the Capital Club and the Mary Ann Edge Golf Tournament held at Patrick Farms golf course.

The Majors also saw great athletic success in Brooks' first year. The Majors enjoyed two SAA regular season championships, captured by the men's soccer team and the women's basketball team. The Millsaps' baseball team also earned a trip to the West Regional tournament. The student-athletes also shined in the classroom in Brooks' first year. Millsaps' student-athletes had an overall grade-point-average of 3.0 in the 2014-15 academic year. Over 130 Majors' earned Academic All-Conference honors.

Brooks also served as director of football operations at the University of Louisiana-Monroe beginning in 2004, and in 2007 ULM became bowl eligible for the first time in school history after beating Alabama. Brooks gained experience as a student at Louisiana State University, working as an equipment manager and a student assistant coach. During his four years at LSU, the Tigers participated in the 2000 Peach Bowl, 2002 Sugar Bowl, and won the 2001 Southeastern Conference championship.

A native of Hammond, La., Brooks graduated from LSU ('02) with a degree in Kinesiology and completed his Master's degree in Sport Management from UGA ('14). He and his wife, Lillie, have twin sons, Jackson and James, born in July of 2009 and a third son, Davis, born in March of 2012.

University of Georgia*

President Jere W. Morehead began his tenure as the 22nd University of Georgia President on July 1, 2013. Under his leadership, the University has risen in the rankings of the best public colleges and universities and has completed a series of initiatives to enhance student learning and success, including a requirement for experiential learning for all undergraduates.

Additionally, the University completed the most successful capital campaign in its history, raising $1.45 billion, and launched an Innovation District initiative to create UGA's campus of the future, where students and faculty will partner with industry to generate ideas and solutions to continue the University's role as a powerful driver of economic development in Georgia. During President Morehead's tenure, UGA has increased its research expenditures by 41% and has been ranked among the top five universities in the U.S. for research-based products reaching the marketplace for the past seven years. UGA was ranked No. 1 in the nation for FY2019 and FY2017.

In keeping with his focus on student success, President Morehead launched the ALL Georgia Program to support students from rural areas and created the Double Dawgs program, which enables students to save time and money by earning an undergraduate and graduate degree in five years or less. A UGA education is in greater demand than ever, with a record 39,500 applications submitted for a spot in the incoming Class of 2025 and an admission rate under 39%.

Russell Award for Excellence in Undergraduate Teaching, the Teacher of the Year Award in the Terry College of Business, and the Lothar Tresch Outstanding Honors Professor Award. He also earned the UGA School of Law's premier honor for alumni, the Distinguished Service Scroll Award.

President Morehead holds a bachelor's degree from Georgia State University and a law degree from the University of Georgia.

Jere W. Morehead was named UGA's 22nd President on July 1, 2013.

'I just never thought he would get his chance': The journey of Georgia QB Stetson Bennett IV, a long road to respect

By: Seth Emerson, The Athletic
Published Dec. 1, 2021

ATHENS — “Stetson Bennett is a beast, man. Stetson Bennett — Stetson Bennett puts a lot of pressure on our defense because he is extremely quick, he’s fast and he can throw. He can throw in the pocket and he can throw on the run, and he’s very, very competitive.”

— Mel Tucker, then-Georgia defensive coordinator, on the eve of the 2018 Rose Bowl

Those Rose Bowl practices, where Bennett mimicked Oklahoma’s Baker Mayfield for the Georgia defense, quickly became a legend. A fun legend, especially among the few who were there when Tucker said it. The normally stoic and all-business Tucker broke character for a moment, opening his eyes wide.

Stetson Bennett is a beast, man. Stetson Bennett — Stetson Bennett ...

Somebody, it may have been the writer of this story, pointed out that Bennett, like Mayfield, was similar in size and also started his career as a walk-on, and wouldn’t it be funny if ...

Well, that was ridiculous.

And now, four years later, here we are.

“I always thought he could play,” said Davin Bellamy, one of those defensive players on Georgia’s 2017 team who tried to stop Bennett in practice. “I just never thought he would get his chance at Georgia, honestly. You know how it is with the stars, and especially that quarterback position, it’s a star-studded position. I just didn’t think it would happen.”

If Georgia wins Saturday, it will be the first time Nick Saban was beaten by a quarterback who began their career as a walk-on since 1997, when Brian Griese led Michigan past Michigan State.

“Coming from a walk-on to leading us into the conference championship,” said Jordan Davis, Georgia’s senior nose tackle. “It’s a story that seems like one of those 30-for-30s.”

The crux of the story is how many times Bennett has been doubted ... by his own team. Never mind all the fans and media members, possibly this reporter included, who remain unsure whether he will be the quarterback who leads Georgia to that elusive ring. But the fact that the story has gone this far is beyond amazing.

Signing day came and passed, and Bennett was left unclaimed. Georgia signed another in-state quarterback, top-50-rated Jake Fromm and other quarterbacks in the state were signed by Clemson, Florida State, Oklahoma State and Stanford. Bennett had put up big numbers at small Pierce County High School — more than 6,600 passing yards and 1,073 rushing yards his final two years — but his height scared away the big boys. Ivy League schools offered spots, places like Southern Miss and Mercer offered scholarships.

Bennett, however, was betting on himself. He was holding out for the big one, even if it meant not getting a scholarship. And the night of signing day Georgia offered him a preferred walk-on spot. He took it.

“Bennett made his high school career on causing knowledgeable football folks to wonder if his height would be an issue,” Jeff Sentell, the recruiting writer for DawgNation, wrote at the time. “He’s walking on and betting on himself to see what he can do at Georgia.”

'We pushed him out the door'

Bennett was actually one of two walk-on QBs who ran scout team for Georgia’s defense in 2017, but he was the one who stood out. That was even before the Rose Bowl. Linebacker Roquan Smith called Bennett “quick as a cat.” Defensive lineman Jonathan Ledbetter recalled thinking he had contain on a Bennett scramble, only to have Bennett spin out on him. Safety JR Reed called Bennett a “Baker Mayfield minime” who would probably play at any school if he were a little taller.

Linebacker Lorenzo Carter recalled that Bennett wanted to dispense with the black non-contact jersey that quarterbacks usually wear and go with a red one.

“I remember him as a tough guy, first of all. Because we beat him up,” Carter said, laughing. “We put him through a lot because we faced a lot of running quarterbacks that year. And to finish of the year, we had Baker Mayfield in the Rose Bowl, and in practice, he damn near played better than Baker. When we played (Oklahoma) he made the game a lot easier for us.”

These comments were coming in real time, by the way, and Bellamy thinks may have contributed to Bennett transferring.

“I think if you asked him, we kind of pushed him out the door,” Bellamy says now. “A lot of those older guys, those seniors, were like: ‘Hey, this kid can go play somewhere.’ Even if it was small D-II or whatever. He left an impression on us where we would be like: ‘This kid can go play. Transfer and go play somewhere, man.’ He used to make us look silly.”

Kirby Smart would tell coaches in meetings: “Stetson is a baller.”

Bennett himself, however, came to see that first year at Georgia differently, as a wasted opportunity to actually learn the things he needed to improve on as a quarterback. He was focusing too much, he would say later, on showing he had the talent to play at this level.

“I thought I was good enough to play here talent-wise,” he said. “But I didn’t really put myself in the best position, I didn’t do enough myself to be as good as I could be.”

That was one of the reasons he decided to leave Georgia after spring practice, along with the chance to showcase himself. Smart and then-offensive coordinator Jim Chaney tried to convince him to stay; it remains murky whether they dangled a scholarship offer, but it was clear Smart wanted him to remain in the program. Bennett, despite his professed love for Georgia, opted to bet on himself again and leave. He ended up at Jones College in Mississippi, a junior college whose head coach is Steve Buckley, who in one of those many moments of foreshadowing, had worked a few years earlier for now-Georgia offensive coordinator Todd Monken.

Junior college and back

The first time Bennett drove onto the Jones College campus he realized he was in a different world. The dorms were smaller, the football facilities a fraction of what he experienced at Georgia. But he also knew this is the place he would be the starting quarterback, and play in real games.

“Running the team over there, being the guy, playing experience, knowing how lucky I was to be here (at Georgia) in the first spot,” Bennett said, ticking off all the benefits. “Being away made me realize how lucky I was, and that I deserved nothing, that nothing was going to be handed to me. So I needed to work to be a better person, and get better at football.”

Bennett led the team to its first 10-win season in more than a decade, passing for 16 touchdowns and rushing for four, while ranking 12th in passing yards among junior college QBs. But he also threw 14 interceptions, which may have been a red flag to some bigger schools.

Bennett was trying to do too much, Buckley recounted last year, probably trying too hard to show the world what he can do in just one season. But the overall results were still good.

“Stet plays with no fear,” Buckley said. “He has athleticism and a high football IQ, with a very strong arm. When you combine all of those things together you can execute at the quarterback position.”

Louisiana offered Bennett a scholarship, and he accepted. He would have played for its newly-hired head coach, Billy Napier, but on signing day morning in December, Bennett woke up and saw missed calls from Smart and James Coley, Georgia’s newly-promoted offensive coordinator.

Bennett and the Bulldogs’ staff had remained in touch over the past few months. When Georgia played at LSU that season Bennett made the short drive over and was in the stands. Bennett called the coaches back that morning and they offered him a scholarship: Five-star freshman Justin Fields was transferring, and they needed someone who knew the system to come in and be the backup to Fromm.

Bennett didn’t accept right away. He talked to his parents, the coaches at both schools, and Buckley, who advised him to stick with Louisiana — not out of loyalty, but because he’d have a better chance to play.

Bennett realized Buckley was probably right, but the pull of Georgia was too much, and he committed later that day, Georgia announcing the signing-day surprise that night, well after Smart’s news conference.

“I would’ve been fine going to Louisiana,” Bennett said. “Pride-wise. It wasn’t an itch I needed to scratch to come back here. I just love this place. ... But that (getting a scholarship) was not the moment I was going for.”

So what was the moment he was going for?

The 2019 Season

Bennett came back understanding he was going to be Jake Fromm’s backup, and planned on listening to him as much as he could. Bennett’s first action as a Georgia player came against Murray State, passing for 124 yards and two touchdowns. He appeared in four other games, including one ill-fated pass in the SEC championship, when he was called in suddenly on a third-and-long play when Fromm turned his ankle.

Bennett’s pass sailed well past the intended receiver.

“I wasn’t warm. I wasn’t really expecting it,” Bennett said. “Whenever I saw Fromm go down I just sprinted to my helmet, picked it up and felt this giant shock of lightning: ‘Well, I’m about to go into the SEC championship. I wasn’t expecting that.’”

Fromm turned pro after the season, but had a replacement lined up: Jamie Newman, a grad transfer from Wake Forest, whose arrival appeared to dash any hopes Bennett may have had about getting a real shot at the starting role.

The 2020 Season

The quarterback room grew again in the spring with the arrival of USC transfer JT Daniels, who had an instant connection with Monken, the new offensive coordinator. By the summer, Bennett had been demoted to fourth on the depth chart, behind Newman, Daniels and also redshirt freshman D’Wan Mathis, who had missed the previous season after developing a brain cyst.

Buckley, however, saw Bennett as someone who could be a fit with his old boss Monken, with whom he worked at Southern Miss in 2013.

“Coach Monken is going to be a detailed coach,” Buckley said last year. “He demands excellence. He expects the quarterbacks to process the entire offense, and be able to process it at a high rate of speed. And he’s going to put a lot on his quarterbacks. And he’s going to coach them hard. And Stet can handle that.”

Events moved in Bennett’s direction very fast: Newman opted out in the preseason, Daniels wasn’t cleared in time for the season to start, and Mathis struggled in the season opener against Arkansas. In went Bennett, who brought the team back for the win, then won the next two — before tossing three interceptions in the loss at Alabama. After a win at Kentucky, when Bennett threw two more interceptions, the end came against Florida, when Bennett completed just 5-of-16 passes, taking a big hit in the process.

Daniels took over, locked down the starting job, and once again Bennett’s chance at meaningful playing time seemed finally, definitely, certainly, over.

2021: ‘The true definition of resiliency’

The day before Georgia’s second game, word leaked that Daniels was unlikely to play because of an oblique injury. Initially, reports were redshirt freshman Carson Beck — who that week Smart had said was the No. 2 QB — would get the start against UAB. But when the game started it was Bennett, who proceeded to sling five touchdown passes, tying a school record.

That’s when everyone should’ve known.

But the way this season has played out has been surprising to everybody.

“I was skeptical at first, but now that he’s getting more settled, and he knows it’s his show, and he knows that, ‘Hey, if I make a mistake I’m not coming out,’ he feels more comfortable,” Bellamy said. “He’s just a baller, he just adds another dynamic to the game. You can’t sack him, you can’t get a clean hit on him. So when that comes into play, you have people not rushing as hard. He just brings a different dynamic and makes the defense have to think way more than other quarterbacks.”

Davis called Bennett “the true definition of resiliency,” ticking off all the travels and benchings in the quarterbacks’ career. But if Bennett is motivated or fazed by any of it he doesn’t offer any clues, even to his teammates.

“Stetson’s always calm, cool and collected. You can never really get a bead on him,” Davis said. Indeed, Bennett didn’t bite on chances to do any verbal victory laps or offer any deep thoughts.

“I’ll let all the storytelling and narrative write itself,” he said.

His teammates, current and past, tend to say it better.

“Everyone knew Stet was talented,” said Andrew Thomas, right tackle in 2017 and now with the New York Giants. “He used to be killing it on the scout team offense. And to see him go out there and do it on the field now, I’m just proud that he stuck through it and kept his head down and kept working.”

Carter, speaking Wednesday before a Giants practice, was asked if he thought Bennett could do all this.

“Oh for sure,” Carter said. “I didn’t know where he was going to be. I didn’t know if he was going to get a chance to do it at Georgia. But I knew wherever he wanted to go, he would make an impact for them. I’m just glad he’s doing it for us.”

The Work It Took to Get Here: Georgia's Rise to No. 1 Fueled by Climbing Sanford Stadium Steps

By: Marc Weiszer,

ATHENS — Step by step. Up and down. Fifteen times.

One for each game.

Twelve in the regular season. The SEC championship. The national semifinal. The national championship.

Georgia football players ran the Sanford Stadium steps with each trip to signify another game in their journey to win it all.

"It was a long climb," safety Lewis Cine said. "It was tiring, but we finished strong and that's really what mattered. You didn't see guys really quit. That's what I liked about the whole thing. Guys kept pushing."

They did it in the cold of winter in the early morning with a season that was good, but certainly not great just behind them.

The offseason workouts under the direction of strength and conditioning coach Scott Sinclair after an 8-2 COVID-19 2020 year were the starting point for a memorable 2021 season that still has some major moments to go.

Players say it is one of the ways this team formed the tight bond it is thriving with even if it was anything but fun at the time.

"Y'all have been to Sanford," nose guard Jordan Davis said Monday. "You take a walk up those steps one time, y'all are pooped. Imagine running up those 15 times and coach Sinclair and everybody's yelling at you and pushing you. We had to jog to the stadium so you're already tired from the jog to the stadium from here."

Top-ranked Georgia heads into Saturday's 4 p.m. SEC championship in Atlanta's Mercedes-Benz Stadium with an unbeaten record just like the last two national champions from the conference — Alabama and LSU.

The Crimson Tide — No. 2 in the USA Today Sports AFCA Coaches poll, No. 3 in the CFP rankings and No. 4 in the AP poll — are back again this season even if it isn't quite the beast they've been in recent seasons, but look to be the biggest challenge Georgia has faced so far this season.

The Bulldogs have pointed for months to their offseason "skull sessions," to better understand and relate to how their teammate's life path took them to where they are now.

That has translated into fighting together for a common cause on the field.

Stacking elite recruiting classes one on top of another is certainly a major driver of the first 12-0 record for the Bulldogs since the 1980 national championship team.

"There's no question this team has something different about them," Mike Cavan, an assistant on those early 1980s team and now UGA's director of football administration, said on Georgia's pregame radio show Saturday.

Coach Kirby Smart said he and his staff decided after rallying for a Peach Bowl win over Cincinnati to change things up with its eight or so winter workouts.

The thinking he said, was "Hey, we're going to be different, we're not doing our early morning workouts in the indoor, we're going to go to the stadium and we're going to do it in the stadium at 5:30 or 6:00 and get out in the elements and see if we can make this team a little tougher and require it. It was cold, it was wet. We're just trying to make it tougher and they did the same things they would do in the indoor but we just try to change it up because I didn't feel like we were getting where we needed to go."

Georgia missed out on winning the SEC East and reaching the SEC championship game last season because of losses to Florida and Alabama where the Bulldogs didn't have answers for explosive passing offenses and didn't have quarterback play to match.

The defense has been dominant no matter the opponent and Stetson Bennett grabbed the starting job and has played efficient football in a much-improved Todd Monken offense.

"I think it's a credit to what Coach Smart has built," Bennett said. "Just his whole demeanor and attitude and the kids he recruits. It is expected, this is the University of Georgia. In my opinion it always should've been expected. Not just in my time here but the history of this football program. Where we are, the state-wise, talent-wise, what we can attract, what we can offer. Institutionally with education, the connections we should be able to get anybody we want. With that comes expectations to win games with those type of players."

This isn't the 2019 Bulldogs that were drilled 37-10 by LSU in their last SEC title game appearance.

"I think our kids are playing with confidence," Smart said. "I think there's a lot of things outside of just the Xs and Os of football that this team has really connected, and they've done a great job from a leadership standpoint. We're not the same team we were then, and there's some areas that team was probably more talented than this team. But the strength of this team, I've said it repeatedly, is the team, and the fact that it is a team and it's not a one-man show of any kind. It's really spread across."

'He wants that life': Nolan Smith Aims to Become The Freddie Freeman of Georgia Football

By: Connor Riley, DawgNation
Published Nov. 16, 2021

ATHENS — Nolan Smith is a big baseball fan. Despite being a Savannah, Ga., native, his favorite team is the New York Yankees. New York's season came to an end in early October at the hands of the Boston Red Sox.

Yet Smith still found joy in watching the Atlanta Braves win their first championship in 26 years. In part, it's because his dad is a massive Braves fan. But he also enjoyed getting to see his teammates getting to enjoy a championship run, one he himself hopes to participate in as a member of the Georgia team.

Smith further expounded on how much he appreciates Freddie Freeman, the leader of the Atlanta Braves, and all he did for his team.

"That's one of those guys that stuck out with that program. That's something we do here," Smith said. "A lot of guys stick around for fifth and sixth years. To see him win it and stuck the ball in his back pocket, I'll never forget that." Like the Braves, there's some debate about who is the best player on the Georgia defense.

There's a number of different answers you could give and on any given day you could be proven right. Austin Riley, Max Fried, Jordan Davis or Nakobe Dean. There's no super-duper star — at least with no Ronald Acuña Jr. available — just a collection of great players elevating the entire team.

But like the Atlanta Braves, there's little doubt as to who the leader of the group is.

"Nolan is real vocal. Nolan is definitely an extrovert," junior safety Lewis Cine said. "When Nolan is in an area you are going to know because he is really loud. He cares about his people, he cares about the players, he cares about the coaches. He cares about everyone. That's the type of leader he is."

Smith's voice and enthusiasm constantly show to why leading comes naturally to the outside linebacker. Wide receiver Kearis Jackson compared him to a microphone. Tight end John FitzPatrick went with "very loud" to describe his personality while Jordan Davis pointed to Smith's "bubbliness."

It's not just his voice though that teammates bring up. It's the vibe he brings. To meetings, to practice and most obviously to field on Saturday. In the course of reporting the story, multiple players were quick to offer up how Smith is often the first player to congratulate someone on a great play.

Those teammates notice that just as quickly as they do his voice.

"That's a big thing as a teammate," defensive back Ameer Speed. "Having that there, that energy, I feel like that is what brings us all together and closer. It makes us play better when we're connected and able to love and play for each other. It makes everything a lot better."

There's real love between Smith and the members of the Georgia team. And Smith is very comfortable displaying it.

"You see it on film, he plays how he talks," Davis said. "He wants that life. Nolan will always be the guy who will bring it and you can rely on."

Smith has long been working towards being a leader at the University of Georgia. He was the first player to commit in Georgia's 2019 recruiting class, instantly emerging as the pied piper for a class that ultimately landed Dean, Walker, Cine and others.

Before he got to Georgia, Smith spent his first two seasons of high school playing for the prestigious IMG Academy. He was playing with some of the best high school players in the country, much like he is now for the No. 1 ranked Bulldogs.

Not only did it help sharpen his on-field skills. Playing for the school allowed him to further hone his leadership skills.

"He's always had leadership skills. He's very intelligent," Georgia coach Kirby Smart said. "Everywhere you meet people at the schools he's been at or the schools he grew up going to, they rave about what a great kid he is."

As Smith has grown as a leader this season, he's also gotten better as a player. In recent games against Florida and Missouri, he's forced a fumble, recovered a fumble, came down with an interception and blocked a punt. His performance against Florida earned him SEC Defensive Player of the Week honors.

While he might not be your answer for the best player on Georgia's defense, he's clearly an impact player for the Bulldogs.

"I think the more he played, the more he's played, the more his personality has been able to come out," Smart said. "I appreciate his leadership and really his energy and enthusiasm he brings to work every day is what makes him a good leader."

Going forward though, Smith knows he'll need to make an even bigger on-field impact. Following the suspension of Adam Anderson due to rape allegations, Georgia is going to need someone to provide a consistent pass rush.

"It is always a new role, a new position, next man up and I just have to step up in that position," Smith said. "As the wolfpack, I just have to hold us accountable."

To date, Smith only has 1.5 sacks. But as Freeman showed in this year's playoffs, it's not how you start but how you finish. He struck out in his first seven at-bats in the NLCS against the Los Angeles Dodgers. Yet in his final at-bat of the season for the Braves, Freeman crushed a home run, putting an exclamation point in the 7-0 win over the Houston Astros in game 6 of the World Series.

In addition to greater responsibilities, Smith must also deal with an injury. Smith was forced to leave the game against Tennessee after getting hit on the elbow. Smart said on Monday though Smith should be fine, as the Georgia outside linebacker seemed to avoid major injury. That should be a major relief for a quickly thinning outside linebacker room, as well as the entire Georgia defense.

Smith isn't Georgia's only defensive leader, only its most vocal. Cine pointed out that the Georgia defense wouldn't work if it had 10 Smiths. Everyone has a role to play within the group.

Smith's just happens to be the loudest. And his voice may help carry Georgia to its first title in 41 seasons.

"Nolan is the definition of a leader if you ask me," safety Dan Jackson said. "He's always amping people up. Some people say he's known for how loud he is but I think that's important to have on this defense and special teams. When I think of Nolan, I think of a leader automatically."

Georgia's Jordan Davis Brings Big Personality to a Big Game

By: Steve Hummer
 Atlanta Journal-Constitution
 Published Nov. 30, 2021

ATHENS — No one has wrung more from Georgia's top-shelf season than Jordan Davis, the Bulldogs' Alp with feet.

Just this weekend, his holi-sodic riff about the man in the middle of Georgia's defensive line, anointing Davis, "one of the most dominant players in college football."

"If he thinks like that, I'm honored and I'm glad," Davis said Monday. "But you can't let it get to your head." The Bulldogs' largest player hasn't the ego to match. Another reason an interior lineman — the least glamorous and statistically rewarding position on the defense — has become the popular human trademark of the nation's top-ranked college football team.

Saban's compliment landed shortly after Davis had pronounced himself too big to be confined to just one side of the ball, running it in from a yard out for a touchdown against Charleston Southern. You just gotta have a yard, he's your man — there at the bottom of the Bulldogs' rushing stats you'll find the 340-pounder with two carries for two yards. Whether Alabama need be concerned about this plus-sized rushing threat during Saturday's SEC Championship game, "I can't really say," Davis coyly put it.

"But if I get the rock, I'll try to make something shake." Most likely the foundation of Mercedes-Benz Stadium.

Davis would conclude his Senior Day vs. Charleston Southern by leading the marching band in a rendition of "Glory, Glory." If you spot him grooming Uga or taking one of the majorettes' batons out for a quick twirl in advance of the big SEC game Saturday, don't be surprised. He seems intent upon visiting every facet of Bulldog life before departing.

Davis has approached this thus-far unbeaten season with the joy and curiosity of someone who expected none of it. When he was spotted at a Braves game this season, recognized, and received like visiting royalty, it amazed Davis. To him, it's as if Georgia's rampage through the conference and his own spiking popularity is one big surprise party. So why not glory in every moment?

It's when asked why he is so committed to never getting cheated on any of this season's experiences that Davis so nicely sums up his outlook:

"Every day I lead my best life, doesn't matter what I'm doing. I'm just happy to be here. There's not a lot of people in this position, and I'm not supposed to be here. Got to show gratitude and appreciate the little moments from waking up to coming here working — even being in front of you guys (the media). It's an honor, no matter what. Every time I put my feet on the ground it's a blessing."

Not supposed to be here? Seriously? There seems to be no one more meant to be a part of this defense-driven team than Davis. He is nothing less than an anchor point. A weight-bearing beam.

Yet, he insists, "Life carries different paths, and I never expected my path to take me here. Every time I'm grateful for it. It almost brings me to tears. I'm not supposed to be here, but I'm here and I'm forever grateful."

Such is the approach of a reformed overweight couch spud and deluded basketball wannabe who had to be practically towed onto the football field as a high schooler in North Carolina. First steps were torture for Davis. As a freshman, he reportedly used to hide in a bathroom stall to try to avoid working out with his high school team. And even after gaining some prep props, his initiation at Georgia hardly was seamless. He was some 40 pounds heavier then, struggling to keep up with the demands. As he once told ESPN, "I was so ready to go back home. I was like, 'Man, I can't do this anymore.'"

Yet through the prodding of teammates and his own day-to-day resolve, the 6-foot-6 Davis began growing into his potential. By late in his freshman season, he had his first start. First an intermittent presence, he gradually became recognized as a larger-than-life figure even in a game filled with mesomorphs. Sloppy fat became more usefully proportioned width. His combination of heft and nimbleness sets him apart, the kind of rare skill set that has made Davis an Outland Trophy finalist even with the modest stat line (24 tackles, 3.5 for a loss, 2 sacks) and the confinement to the role of early-down specialist.

Even Saturday against Alabama, the defending champion and the once standard for all things defense, Davis figures to physically stand above everyone else on that field. You can't help but watch him, drawing all eyes to a position that traditionally goes unnoticed and unloved.

Working against an offensive line that gave up seven sacks and 11 tackles for a loss to Auburn last week, Davis is far more charitable than most when assessing the impending match-up.

"Alabama's always been known for physical toughness, and they have a great offensive line," he said. "They have a great size, great motor. I just feel like it's going to be a tremendous challenge to play against them. They're big. We're big."

No one is bigger than he. And he draws praise to scale. In its entirety, Saban's recent review of Davis' work was a veritable ode.

"I think the guy is one of the most dominant players in college football," the Alabama head coach said. "Any defensive lineman, I guess you can look at a lot of things, but the No. 1 thing is how hard are they to block? And he's really hard to block. He's got great size. He's very powerful, but he's got really good initial quickness — short-area quickness — and can push the pocket and pass rush."

"He's about as good a player as I've seen for a long time as an inside player on any college football team."

Name: Jordan X. Davis. The X is for Xavier. Image: That of a flesh-and-blood avalanche, so much mass moving with such shocking quickness. Against Clemson, that translated into two tackles for a loss and a sack. Against Alabama-Birmingham, that produced the highlight of the interior lineman running cross-field and running down quarterback Tyler Johnson at the sideline.

Likeness: Yeah, everybody likes Davis. How can you not?

A Legacy of Giving Brings Nakobe Dean Back to Horn Lake

By: Mark Randall
DeSoto (Miss.) Times-Tribune

HORN LAKE, Miss. ---
-- Nakobe Dean doesn't get to visit his home town much anymore.

The junior linebacker is now leading the defense of the undefeated Georgia Bulldogs and is a prospect on the rise for the 2022 NFL Draft.

But when he walked inside Horn Lake High School on Friday, it felt like he had never left.

"Every time I do come back, I get nostalgic," Dean said. "It's been four years, but it brings back good memories. We had coaches we could look up to. It's the same old Horn Lake though."

Dean returned to his alma mater to present a check for $10,000 to Hope Community Center, Inc as part of the 2021 Allstate Good Works Team. He is one of 22 players - and one of four players from the Southeast Conference (SEC) - to be nominated. The American Football Coaches Association recognizes a select group of players each year based on their commitment to serving their communities.

Dean has given his time to "Dawgs for Pups," which raised $200,000 to help local youth in the Athens/Clarke County area; visited Camp Sunshine, which provides recreational, educational, and support programs for children with cancer; led an effort that raised $100,000 for Wi-Fi hotspots; served on a team that collected 27,000 pounds of food for the Northeast Georgia Food Bank; participated in Bulldogs Battling Breast Cancer Golf Tournament; collected 437 new and gently used coats for the Boys & Girls Club of Athens; and read to students as part of Read Across America.

Dean has a 3.53 GPA in mechanical engineering in the classroom. On the field, so far this season he has 30 tackles, 3.5 sacks and one interception, and is on the watch list for the Butkus Award given to college football's most outstanding linebacker. He was Georgia's leading tackler in 2020 with 71 stops, which was 19 more than the next closest Bulldog defender, with 1.5 tackles for a loss, 1.5 sacks, and four quarterback hurries. As a freshman in 2019, Dean had 25 tackles, 1.5 tackles for loss, two pass breakups and a forced fumble.

At Horn Lake, Dean was part of the team that won the Mississippi High School Activities Association (MHSAA) 6A state football championship and was the recipient of the Dick Butkus Award as the nation's top linebacker in 2018. He was also named Mississippi Mr. 6A Football, and played in the Under Armour All-American Football Game.

Analysts say Dean has been an impactful player and is the unquestioned leader of the Bulldogs, whose defense is currently ranked number one, allowing only 297.1 total yards per game, and only 5.5 points per game.

"I am just having fun with the team and working hard," Dean said.

Dean said it means a lot to him to be able to give back to Horn Lake. The Hope Community Center, Inc. of North Mississippi provides a variety of safe, fun, and exciting after school activities and events for youth of all ages.

"Giving back is in my blood," Dean said. "My mother had me giving back since I was growing up. We did this day called The 12 Days of Christmas where we did 12 Days of Service leading up to Christmas. So giving back is in my blood and continues to stay with me."

Horn Lake Football Head Coach Mitchell Harville, who first coached Dean in seventh and eighth grade, said he is pleased to see Dean excelling at such a high level at Georgia.

"It's been exciting watching him his entire time with Georgia," Harville said. "From the time he got there as a freshman. He walked in there and he has been able to do so much."

Harville said it was clear early on that Dean was a special player.

"He was typically the best player on the field and the favorite player on the team," Harville said. "His intensity was far above anything you've ever seen. You would watch him and you saw him transform into what he became. You just knew there wasn't a hurdle that he wasn't going to be able to get around."

Dean said he still follows the Eagles and will be on the sidelines tonight as they take on the Hernando Tigers in Hernando.

"I will be rooting them on," Dean said. "One of the things our class talked about leaving here was we wanted to leave a legacy. I will never forget where I came from - North Mississippi and Horn Lake."

Allstate is donating $10,000 $1 to this year's Allstate AFCA Good Works Team non-profit of their choice.

Quick Chat: Channing Tindall

By: John Frierson
Published Sept. 9, 2021

ATHENS — Channing Tindall has an energy about him. When he walks in the room, you immediately get the sense that he's happy to be there and happy to talk about anything and everything.

Tindall, a senior inside linebacker from Columbia, S.C., and the rest of the No. 2-ranked Georgia football team were certainly happy after last Saturday's season-opening 10-3 win over then-No. 3 Clemson in the Duke's Mayo Classic in Charlotte, N.C. The defense held the Tigers without a touchdown and to just 2 rushing yards. Tindall had three tackles in the win.

By Monday, of course, Georgia had turned its attention to Saturday's home opener against UAB. During a Quick Chat after practice Tuesday, Tindall talked about moving on mentally to the next game, his mom's cooking, attending Georgia after growing up in Gamecocks country, and much more. Here's some of what he had to say:

Frierson: How long does the good feeling of a win over a team like Clemson stick around?

Tindall: That night and that Sunday, it's really good. But as soon as Monday comes around, it's time for the new opponent, it's time to get ready. You transfer your head — we went over a lot of UAB on Monday, so it's time to get on to the next team. You can't soak in the moment, that's when things start to go wrong.

Frierson: What's something you could eat every day and never get tired of it?

Tindall: My mother's from Beaufort, S.C., and we are a heavy seafood family, so crab legs, calamari, any type of oyster, any type of seafood. I love fried shrimp and calamari, I could eat that every day.

One of my favorites that's not seafood is Outback's Kookaburra wings with some bleu cheese. I ask Miss Collier (Director of Football Performance Nutrition Collier Madaleno) every time we cater that food if we can please have some Kookaburra wings with bleu cheese.

Frierson: How are you in the kitchen? Can you cook?

Tindall: I cook a little bit, a man's meal, pasta [laughs]. I love that spaghetti, meatloaf, some rice, love beans, but nothing too huge. I'm still learning.

Frierson: When did you know that football was for you and that you had a future in it beyond being a good high school player?

Tindall: I want to say that when I was around 6 years old, my father took me out to the football field. They just wanted me to do extracurricular activities so I wouldn't just stay at home, and I was like, no, I just want to stay home, why are you making me do this?

I went out there and I tried it, and I actually didn't like it. After a couple of days I was like, I'm going to just stick with it and see if I like it. Then the games start coming around and I was an offensive lineman back then, so it wasn't as enjoyable for me. But then I moved to defense and I played defensive end. That's when I was like, OK, this is something I could start doing. That's when the change happened for me.

Doing from Pop Warner to middle school, I was like, what do I have to do to make this team? I'm willing to do anything. My dad used to take me out to North Springs Park, close to my area in Columbia, and we used to practice constantly, every day. It stuck with me all the way through high school and it helped get me to this point.

Frierson: What other sports did you play growing up?

Tindall: People tried me at everything just to see what I like so I've done swimming, tennis, soccer, track and field. One of my favorites outside of football was track and field, doing the shot put and discus, and I liked tennis. I might play tennis during the off-season; my dad and my grandfather were big recreational tennis players.

Frierson: Who is the funniest guy on the team? And maybe I need to adjust that to, who is the funniest guy on the team besides Jordan Davis?

Tindall: Ahh, that's who I was going to pick [laughs]. JD is definitely No. 1 but if I had to choose outside of JD, this is going to be biased but I'm going to say (fellow inside linebacker) Rian Davis. He is hilarious to me. We're very close and spend a lot of time together in the inside linebacker room, and being funny just comes naturally to him. It's not anything he has to think about, he's just funny.

Frierson: Do you have a play that stands out in your mind, from any sport, as the best play or favorite play you've ever made?

Tindall: A big play that sticks out in my mind when you first asked me that was my freshman year when we played Alabama. They put me in the game and I got a sack against Tua (Tagovailoa). That really stuck out to me because during my freshman year I was really trying to work hard, and I finally felt like I got my opportunity and helped the team out.

Frierson: When you grow up in an SEC city and you go to another SEC school, is there blowback from your decision? Did you hear about it a lot from people around Columbia?

Tindall: I hear it from people to this day. We just went against Clemson and it was like, "Good luck tonight but I'm going for Clemson," so it's not just Columbia, it was Clemson too.

I feel like you're going to get that everywhere, going from school to school, but it's nothing I'm worried about. I made the decision I thought was best for me. I didn't want to stay home; I felt like I'd been in Columbia and wanted to see and experience something else.

Georgia's Line Has Paved Way to Offensive Success

By: Chip Towers
Atlanta Journal-Constitution
Published Dec. 2, 2021

ATHENS — Georgia's inclusion as a semifinalist for the Joe Moore Award went almost unnoticed, coming out as it did in the middle of Thanksgiving week. But there the Bulldogs were, mentioned among 12 other teams in the annual designation of the best offensive lines in college football

Also under consideration this year are Air Force, Arkansas, Appalachian State, Baylor, Kentucky, Louisiana, Ohio State, Michigan, Michigan State, Oregon, Oregon State, and Wisconsin.

Whether line coach Matt Luke's Georgia group will lift that coveted trophy at season's end is hard to tell at this point. But if part of the selection committee's criteria is resiliency and versatility, then the Bulldogs should be a slam dunk.

Georgia's offensive line certainly has played consistently well all season, and that's good. But take a minute to consider all the adversity the unit has faced since gathering for preseason camp in August:

- Warren Ericson, set to start at center this season, broke his left (snapping) hand just a week into preseason camp. That immediately sidelined Ericson and elevated redshirt freshman Sedrick Van Pran into the starting role. Van Pran will start his 13th consecutive game Saturday against Alabama in the SEC Championship game.

- On the second play of the first offensive series of the first game against then-No. 3-ranked Clemson, starting right guard Tate Ratledge, who'd earned the position with a dominating preseason camp, suffered a Lisfranc injury in his right foot. Not only was lost for the game, but for the entire season. Ericson, then standing on the sideline with his injured hand still in a small cast, was sent in to play right guard. The 6-foot-4, 305-pound junior will start his 12th consecutive game Saturday.

- Georgia's offensive line was cruising right along heading into Week 10 of the season. Then Jamaree Salyer, the senior left tackle who really wanted to play guard, went down in practice with sprained foot. That was three days before the Missouri game. Salyer didn't play in that one or the following three.

Reports are that he's been able to practice this week and possibly could play Saturday. But

- Broderick Jones has played exceedingly well in Salyer's absence. A 6-4, 315-pound redshirt freshman, Jones hasn't been as perfect as Salyer on assignments and technique. But he's considered an athletic upgrade and was being groomed to step into the spot well before Salyer went down.

- Meanwhile, Xavier Truss has been working at both left tackle and right guard. At 6-7, 330 pounds, Georgia coaches have been trying to get find a way to get Truss up to speed enough to get him into the lineup. He's now officially the Bulldogs' sixth man on the line and is pushing Ericson for time at right guard.

That Georgia's offense rolls smoothly into Saturday's game against Alabama with all that mixing and matching going on along the front deserves some kind of commendation.

"That is 100 percent a testament to coach Luke," Van Pran said Wednesday night. "Coach Luke definitely goes out of his way to make sure that we're over-prepared for all situations in games. A lot of the times we kind of take it for granted how much he does for us. Coach Luke is awesome. He's great. He gets us prepared for every look. So, I 100 percent have to give that credit to coach Luke."

They've been known to make some room for Georgia's skill players as well. The Bulldogs generally don't get mentioned among the nation's high-octane offenses, but they've been able to burn pretty clean all season.

Bama is ranked No. 5 nationally in scoring at 42.7 points per game. But there sits Georgia right behind them at No. 6 (40.7 ppg).

Alabama gets a lot of notice for its passing game, and it's impressive at 341.8 yards per game. But the Crimson Tide's line also has given up 35 sacks this season, or 2.9 per game. They allowed seven to Auburn alone.

That's nearly as many as the eight Georgia's given up all season. At .67 per game, that's No. 2 in the nation, behind only run-oriented Army.

Bulldogs quarterback Stetson Bennett, who has been sacked only six times, is very appreciative.

"That's why we recruit great offensive linemen, to protect me," Bennett said when asked about facing Alabama's exceptional pass rush Saturday. "I know they'll be ready."

They have been all year. The Joe Moore committee has taken notice.

How Georgia Built its 2021 Defense: The Foundation Around the 5-Stars

By: Seth Emerson, The Athletic
Published Sept. 8, 2021

ATHENS — The Georgia defense is loaded with five-star prospects, a testament to the recruiting powerhouse Kirby Smart built, and the reason the Bulldogs stuffed and cuffed the Clemson offense. Recruiting, recruiting, recruiting.

Well ... not totally true.

Yes, there are five-stars: Six of them played on defense in the 10-3 season-opening win. And of the seven sacks, six of them were made by those former five-stars.

But that's only part of the story of how the Georgia defense was built.

The pick-six, the only touchdown of the game, was scored by Christopher Smith, who was ranked No. 306 overall in his class, hardly played his first two Georgia seasons, and was joined in the secondary by two former three-star recruits.

Jordan Davis, the senior nose tackle who has racked up awards for how he played against Clemson, was another three-star, a discovery of Georgia's defensive line coach when he held another job.

Oh, and there's a walk-on who played 25 percent of the defensive snaps.

The Georgia defense, and the way it was built, are a testament to not only recruiting but developing, and more than a little luck.

"I always say, 'everyone puts their pants on one leg at a time' no matter if you're a five-star or walk-on. If you love the game and are willing to put in the work at Georgia, you will find yourself on the field," said junior linebacker Nolan Smith, who was the No. 1 overall recruit in the 2019 class, but is just one piece in a very diverse defense.

Davis is the most prominent — but not only — example of Georgia not simply relying on top-end recruits. He was spotted in Charlotte as a sophomore by then-North Carolina defensive line coach Tray Scott. When Scott was hired by Georgia he stayed on Davis, and convinced Kirby Smart that they had an under-valued find in Davis. Though Smart, based on what he saw, didn't sound like he needed much convincing.

"It shocked me that he was not, I guess pursued heavier," said Smart in 2019, recalling how Davis' agility for his size was so impressive. "He was in the Charlotte area and he was recruited by good schools but I think a lot of people thought he might be an offensive tackle because he played some of that in high school and he was really athletic. But we just saw natural talent, natural ability, intelligent kid, great mom. Just a wonderful kid."

Davis had the one sack by a non-five-star in Georgia's win, but his ability to draw blockers opened things up for the others: Linebackers Nakobe Dean (two sacks), Nolan Smith and Adam Anderson (one sack apiece) and end Travon Walker (one sack.) But even all those players didn't start until at least their second year at Georgia, and Anderson had to wait until this, his senior year. That's the benefit of great recruiting — it creates depth and leads to veteran starters.

How deep is Georgia on the edge? So deep that other edge players who began their careers at Georgia are now starting elsewhere: Jermaine Johnson (Florida State) and Brenton Cox (Florida.) So deep that none of the five top-100 defensive players from the 2021 class saw action on Saturday. They're deep enough at edge rusher that MJ Sherman, the No. 33 overall player in the 2020 class, is fourth on the depth chart.

There's a tendency to devalue Georgia's secondary and focus only on the front seven being elite, and that could still end up being true. But the secondary played very well against Clemson: QB DJ Uiagalelei dropped back 52 times, and was pressured (including sacks) 21 times, and only completed 19 passes for 180 yards. Smith had the pick-six, and Brini had a pass breakup in the end zone.

"We are trying to sell a team sport and a team game and there is no greater example than Chris Smith running down the field with the ball and Brini right beside him," Smart said. "Both didn't play great, they played good, they didn't play great. But, they played like they played because they got the experience last year."

Brini and Speed were both lower-ranked three-stars in the 2017 class — and were still ranked ahead of Eric Stokes, who became a starter earlier and a first-round pick this past spring.

Then there's Dan Jackson, who walked on two years ago out of North Hall High School in Gainesville, Ga. He started gaining notice on the scout team, and by this spring had ascended to second on the depth chart. When Georgia went to a three-safety lineup against Clemson, Jackson was the third safety, appearing in 15 plays and making a tackle.

"Dan came to us and wanted to walk on," Smart said. "We certainly thought he was a good high school player, watched his tape and thought he could help us. Didn't realize that he would help us this quickly."

Attrition at safety — Major Burns transferring and freshman David Daniel getting hurt — played a role. But Georgia has to be ecstatic to plug in a walk-on in such a big game and not get burned for it.

There's some luck in that, or perhaps design. There's perhaps some luck in the NCAA granting extra years to players like Devonte Wyatt, the defensive lineman who had two batted balls against Clemson. The D-line could eventually add back Julian Rochester, who will be in his sixth year and has been around long enough that he originally committed to Mark Richt.

And in the middle of the defense is not only Dean, the former five-star often compared to Roquan Smith, but also two players who were Smith's teammates in 2017 — Quay Walker and Channing Tindall — and are now sharing time. Walker was a top 50 recruit, Tindall barely outside the top 100, and here they are as seniors, having waited all this time, and content to split snaps. Examples of recruiting, developing, and luck.

"UGA defense has always been good, in my eyes," Tindall said. "Regardless of who's out there, it's a standard that we're all trying to carry on as a tradition. It was good when Tae (Crowder) was here, when Monty (Rice), Roquan, you've got some legends that were playing here, who are in the league now. We don't want to let them down and we don't want to let ourselves down, so we're just going to keep pushing."

Quick Chat: Devonte Wyatt

Somehow, it took until late in his fourth season at Georgia for Devonte Wyatt to get a chance to sit down for a Quick Chat. Better late than never.

A 6-foot-3 and 315-pound defensive lineman from Decatur, Ga., Wyatt, Jordan Davis and Jalen Carter have all emerged as star interior defenders this season for the No. 1-ranked Bulldogs' top-rated defense. Sometimes they make plays by getting the man with the ball on the ground — Wyatt has 27 total stops — and other times they disrupt the offense and allow their teammates to get the tackles.

During our Quick Chat after practice Tuesday, Wyatt talked about his close friendship with the mountainous Davis (6-6, 340), seeing Davis and Carter playing on offense, his favorite Thanksgiving dish, and much more. Here's some of what he had to say:

Frierson: How would you describe your friendship with Jordan Davis?

Wyatt: Jordan is my brother; we came in together and we just started connecting and started spending a lot of time with each other. We've built a relationship that can't be broken.

I think a lot of it is that when we came in a lot of people doubted us. He wasn't a five-star (recruit), I wasn't a five-star. There was just so much doubt that people had about us and we both just kept on picking each other up. He motivated me and I motivated him, and our bond just became tight, really tight.

Frierson: How much fun are you guys on the defensive line having? I know it's a tough, physical position, one without much glamour, but it looks like you're having a lot of fun.

Wyatt: We're having a lot of fun, that's the main thing, but we're not done yet. We're not done yet, I can tell you that much.

Right now, we're keeping our head down and staying humble. We're not trying to get our head boosted up or anything like that. We've still got games ahead of us; we've got an opponent in front of us and we've got to handle our business. But it's been a fun season as it's been going along, though.

Frierson: When you and Jordan go out to eat, does the restaurant have to bring in extra staff to handle that large of an order?

Wyatt: [Laughs] With me and J.D., we can order a lot. But starting through the summer, we've been trying to lose a little weight, and we've lost a lot of weight together. Now that we can go to restaurants, that's the reason we lost the weight. When we go out to eat, to a team dinner or something, we can order anything we want and it won't be a problem.

But we can definitely eat — we can eat a whole lot [laughs].

Frierson: I know Jordan was trying to lay off the Swedish Fish. What is your thing that you've had to cut way back on?

Wyatt: I'd say juice. I was a big juice person. I love juice and I would drink juice for everything. Orange juice, any type of juice, Minute Maid juices, I laid off of sodas too, that was a big thing. I also tried to lay off of fried food too.

I lost a lot of weight from the start of Covid, like 30-something pounds.

Frierson: Do you ever wish you were out there in the jumbo package on offense with Jordan and Jalen Carter?

Wyatt: I don't feel left out or anything. I'm cheering right there with the crowd. I'm a big supporter of it. I'm definitely happy for them, especially when Jalen scored his first touchdown (last season against Tennessee). When I know they're going out there, I know we're fixing to do something.

I actually was on it (the jumbo package) before. I never actually got into the game but we've practiced it before. It was no big deal to me but I love when I seem then go out there. When they go out there, I get hyped.

Frierson: We've got Thanksgiving coming up next week, so what is your favorite Thanksgiving dish?

Wyatt: My momma cooks up a lot of great stuff but I think it's the macaroni that's my favorite. I can't ever pass on the macaroni. There's a lot of good stuff: she cooks macaroni, collard greens, and for dessert it's the peach cobbler. The peach cobbler is the best dessert she makes, ever. Those are my three dishes right there.

Frierson: How are you in the kitchen? Can you cook?

Wyatt: Oh, no, I let my momma do that. She does all the cooking. [Laughs] I'd burn the house down. I will help my momma go shopping, though, I'll do that.

Frierson: Who is the funniest guy on the team? Your buddy Jordan is the most popular answer by a mile, but I'm guessing there are some other guys that you're thinking of as well.

Wyatt: Jordan is definitely funny — he's No. 1. Other than Jordan, I'd say Nolan (linebacker Nolan Smith Jr.). Nolan's so funny.

Frierson: I don't think his name has come up yet. And he's like a super brilliant engineering student too, right?

Wyatt: Nolan is really funny, man. I don't know why nobody has said his name yet. If you sit with Nolan, he'll have you dying laughing.

Frierson: What is your best play ever? When you hear "best play" is there one that comes immediately to mind?

Wyatt: I think about my first year here, when I got my first sack against Texas (in the Sugar Bowl). It was my first sack of my Georgia career, that's something that you'll never forget. I was getting a lot of snaps in that game, too.

You've got to work hard to get a sack. It's not easy to get sacks when you're an interior defensive lineman. It's not.

The Crazy Story on Where Ladd McConkey Was Headed Before his UGA Offer

By: Jeff Sentell, DawgNation
Published Oct. 13, 2021

ATHENS — Ladd McConkey was named as the SEC Freshman of the Week on Monday for his game against Auburn.

Go ahead and add it to the Rolodex of wonderful peaks scaled by the former Mountaineer at North Murray High School in Chatsworth.

Georgia offered him a scholarship 16 days before he was set to sign on the traditional signing day in February of 2020. They were the first Power 5 program to do so.

That seems fortuitous these days. McConkey caught six passes for 135 yards to help whip the Tigers. He had a 45-yard explosive and then came back with a 60-yard touchdown catch to spark the 34-10 road win at Jordan-Hare Stadium.

Want to know something crazy about his whole recruitment? Well, how 'bout 10 crazy things about McConkey and his recruitment?

1. If Georgia had never offered, Ladd McConkey would have wound up playing for the Chattanooga Mocs.

Crazy, huh? Instead of busting up Auburn for 135 yards, he would've been a one-man wrecking crew against Virginia Military Institute. With all due respect to the Mocs, he would've altered the outcome of that 37-34 loss to VMI this past weekend.

Chattanooga was the likely scenario outlined by his former high school coach this week in a DawgNation conversation rewinding the McConkey recruitment.

"He was probably going to go play at UTC if things didn't work out with Georgia," North Murray coach Preston Poag said. "That's how it was. You know how recruiting is. These schools say this and that but nobody really handed him a legitimate offer. They gave him a real offer."

It was a superb evaluation by both receivers coach Cortez Hankton and new offensive coordinator hire Todd Monken there. All told, it might soon rank up there in Jordan Davis territory. McConkey had zero stars by his name when UGA offered him. Davis was a 3-star of considerable merit playing in the Charlotte Metro area.

McConkey is now second at UGA in catches (16), yards (280) and is locked in a three-way tie for second on the team with two touchdown receptions with Jermaine Burton and AD Mitchell.

That factoid leads us to

2. After the UGA offer, his coach heard from some FCS schools. They told him Ladd would never play at Georgia.

"I remember a lot of these [Division] I-AA schools saying when he was offered by Georgia," Poag said. "They were saying 'Man, he'll never play at Georgia' and I said: 'Yes he will' and they would say 'he is just too small to play at Georgia' and 'he will never play' and I kept on saying 'yes he will' because I know Ladd and how he can play."

"But he's so small," they would say.

They sort of got their feelings hurt a little bit, he said.

"It is funny now how it has all worked out," Poag said. "I mean Georgia has got a steal. Those FCS schools would really have gotten a steal if they would have been able to sign him."

"I was watching Auburn the other day. Ladd is better than all of the other receivers that Auburn has. Auburn never stepped foot in there in our school to talk about him playing for them. Which sounds bad, but they were not the only ones. Auburn is not the only big school we can say that about here with Ladd."

Give Vanderbilt some credit. That program was the lone SEC school that stepped up late for McConkey with a real offer. The Commodores even hosted him on an official visit.

3. At the time of his offer from UGA, he didn't have a lot of options.

Georgia offered McConkey on January 20, 2020. That was his first SEC offer. The timing wasn't ideal.

It is keen to look back on it. That's the time of year when UGA and other Power 5 schools extend preferred walk-on offers to talented players in the senior class.

McConkey's tweet clarified it was a full scholarship offer. We might have only seen 2-3 future UGA signees since Smart arrived in Athens deemed it necessary to qualify that about their offer. That was so folks won't start thinking of a PWO. That has only happened here lately

At the time, he had zero stars for his ranking. He would wind up as a 3-star WR, the No. 121 player in Georgia, the No. 169 WR in the country and the No. 1161 overall player for the 2020 cycle. Seems a little low now, huh?

When Georgia came with the offer, it was about a week after his official visit to Army. That trip came after official visits to Chattanooga and Jacksonville State.

Maybe that's why he plays so hard for the Bulldogs. Or maybe it is just Ladd.

"He just has that it," Poag said. "To be able to play. Make plays. No stage is too big. Nothing bothers him. He's got that. Does it surprise me? No. But I didn't know it would be this quick. That was because Georgia had so many good receivers."

4. We could have broken some Volunteer hearts early with this, but we wanted to give the midsection of this top 10 a little oomph.

When McConkey got that offer from UGA, DawgNation went to Chatsworth to see what the fuss was about.

"It was kind of surreal," Ladd McCoskey said back then while describing that offer. "Exciting moment. It was really crazy for me and my family. We just try to take everything in and take a big deep breath but it really was crazy. It was definitely a blessing and it was a special moment."

This was the talk-of-the-town at the local meat-and-three.

"Did you see Kirby Smart came to town this week? Georgia offered that McConkey boy at North Murray. Georgia! Their head coach was here and was so down-to-earth and humble. He must have posed for pictures the whole first half of the basketball game on Monday night. He even stayed the whole game. I even saw him taking a picture with that Tech fan who goes to our church. That one Tech fan!"

"He seemed really nice. You never know. One of those coaches that mommas and their boys might want to play for him one day. But then those coaches from Georgia went to their house. Do you think they knew the McConkeys are Tennessee fans? Do you think Ladd's mom hid all their UT stuff when they came over and had pizza after the game?"

"Georgia is a really good offer. But I hear Tennessee is still his No. 1 school. The Bulldogs have a shot, but if Tennessee ever offers, I think he will go play up there."

That was the gist of what was being said. Some of it even right. But not all of it.

The Vols were his team. McConkey said back then if they were to offer, it would be "something special" that he'd have to think long and hard about.

"He probably would have gone to Tennessee if they would have offered him," Poag said. "He sure loved Tennessee growing up."

Jim Chaney, the UT offensive coordinator at the time, came down to Chatsworth to see him. Yet he was in and out in 30 minutes. Tops. He didn't take any pictures or see the UT stuff in the McConkey home.

The early power move was made by Smart with his visit and the Georgia offer coming in strong. It was a name-brand offer, but also his only one Power 5 scholarship offer to that point.

"You're talking about the in-state SEC team that has finished in the top 5 for the last four years," McConkey said then. "That's really something there."

When Georgia offered, he did take an unofficial visit up to Knoxville. The thinking was the UGA offer provided leverage. The Bulldogs were in juggernaut shape with their roster. Tennessee was on the rebuild. If Georgia needed McConkey, then surely the Vols could use him, too.

McConkey went up to Knoxville. Got the tour and talked to the staff. But left without an offer. The footnote is this: He'd probably be second on the Vols in catches, yards or touchdown receptions, too.

But it looks like the Vols could use him. It looks like Alabama, Clemson and Oklahoma could use him, too.

5. Ladd McConkey played his senior year at or around 160 pounds.

His size, or lack thereof, was a big thing that threw a lot of schools off on McConkey. We can understand that there even despite the vast playmaking ability and explosive combine times.

Despite that slight weight total, what he did show in abundance was quick-twitch athleticism and wiggle.

That 4.12 time in the 5-10-20 pro agility shuttle is what you'd want to see a first-round skill position projection in the NFL Draft do at the combine.

When 5-star CB signee Kelee Ringo saw McConkey's film reel on social media, he was quickly impressed by what would be his future teammate. The clip wasn't against Ringo, but he still saw his vast potential off a few camp reps.

McConkey had enough to impress the nation's top-ranked CB prospect at the time.

6. He's listed on the UGA roster at 185 pounds. Does that mean he has lost a step?

Despite adding on an additional 30 pounds of Scott Sinclair armor, Poag thinks that McConkey is now even faster.

"I think he's just as fast looking at him," Poag said. "That's just his game. You know that double move at Auburn? He did that for me, too. He's moving. If they clocked him at 22 miles per hour now, that's pretty dang fast."

"What hurt him in high school was the fact he was a dang good basketball player, too. He never had time to gain weight. He'd go from football, the playoffs and then right on into basketball. Soon as that was over we were doing football. So he never really had time to just concentrate on lifting and gain weight. So that's really helped him at Georgia."

7. Did Ladd McConkey put up numbers in high school?

Most definitely. McConkey was named the Class AAA Offensive Player of the Year after his senior season. In fact, he was named the Class AAA All-State QB for the 2019 season.

Be on the lookout for a trick play involving him throwing it at some point in his UGA football career.

McConkey was set to play receiver his senior year. That was his best college shot. At the time, the other QB candidate wasn't too dedicated. So Poag asked McConkey if he would play that position instead.

"He said 'Coach I will play where ever you want me to play' and that's the type of kid he is," Poag said.

8. What do his UGA teammates think of Ladd McConkey?

The buzz on social media for Ladd from his teammates can be summed up with one succinct phrase: Nobody works harder.

Kirby Smart shared a story about James Cook recently involving McConkey. Ladd's name came up when Cook was asked to name the teammates he respected the most on the team.

Cook brought up McConkey.

"From a young age, Ladd has always had a knack for making big plays," Poag said. "Growing up, he always played a couple of grades up. He's now gotten bigger and stronger and he has always been really fast. I timed him at a 4.3 something on a hand time in the summer before his senior year."

9. Ladd McConkey has always been up to the moment.

"I knew if he got a chance," Poag said. "He was going to show them."

McConkey got his chance this season because he did very well in practice. On the scout team. That's what he used that redshirt freshman year for in 2020.

To be honest, Poag thought this was the year Ladd would make his mark as a punt returner. Maybe an occasional big play as a slot receiver.

"My message to him was when he got the chance and whatever chance he got, he had to show them," Poag said. "If he got his chance, I knew he was going to show them. He just never gets frazzled about stuff like that."

McConkey wasn't a quarterback. He still led North Murray to its best season in history in 2019. The Mountaineers went 11-2 and reached the quarterfinals of the state playoffs.

His boys even beat their rival for the first time. Before this year, North Murray had never pulled within three touchdowns of Calhoun. The Mountaineers whipped them by 24 points during his senior year.

He punted and held for kicks, but also lined up as a defensive back (four INTs and three Pick-6s) and returned kicks. He was a big spark. Everywhere. Every quarter.

"He is playing with a chip on his shoulder," Poag said. "Ladd will never say a whole lot about his recruiting process. But it ticked him off, man. About the recruiting process. He won't say a whole lot about it. But I think it hurt him. The only thing that kept coming up was his size. He was like 'Man, I can do a lot of different things' with coaches. He could fly. Not just like a bird, but he could fly and just cut on a dime."

McConkey could run the 40 in 4.5 seconds, but his GPA was even higher than that. Smart told him back in January of 2020 how unusual that feat was among his signing class.

He also ran track in high school but was only two or three meets. Despite that, he was able to clock an impressive 10.85 clock time in the 100 meters.

It was his very first meet. Things like that just seem to happen out of the blue for him.

10. How did his former high school coach react to that 60-yard touchdown grab against Auburn?

Poag doesn't usually get worked up watching games, but this was McConkey. He has a very modern 2021 story here. He was in the bedroom watching the game. His wife was in the den.

His stream was ahead of the game his wife was watching in the other room. There was a delay on the TV.

"I started yelling and screaming and my wife was in the den," Poag said. "She was like 'Are you kidding me?' when I started carrying on and I told her 'No I wasn't kidding' when he made that play. It was delayed and then she saw it."

It was just one more Ladd McConkey story. So humble. When he visits his old team, Poag said you could not tell if he was a star at UGA or if he never was going to play.

"Ladd has always been a guy to love," Poag said. "The hardest worker. My best leader. I always just said if he ever got the chance, he'd show them. That's what I have always thought."

Despite all of that, we saved the best Ladd McConkey story for last here.

Let's go back to the day UGA offered McConkey. It was January 20, 2020.

When DawgNation went to see him after his UGA offer, it was Ladd who brought up that date's significance to his family.

Some might call it ironic. Others will say fate. It might hinge on how often they hit their knees as a reflection of their faith.

It all sank in the morning after Smart came to North Murray. That was the day he offered the senior QB to be a slot receiver for Todd Monken's new scheme.

That was the topic in the McConkey home the morning after Smart saw him play basketball and a late pizza dinner.

It was the morning after his mother might or might not have hidden the UT coasters that resided in her living room.

It was an audience of two. McConkey and his Mom. Discussing a whirlwind Monday.

"You realize what yesterday was with that," Brittney McConkey kind of said but kind of asked a question at the same time. "Right? You do realize what day that was, right?"

McConkey had only written the date "1-20-16" on his towel before every game since he lost his grandfather to cancer on that very day.

"She said that was the day," Ladd McConkey said then. "That was special. That was crazy."

The biggest offer of his football career came four years after that day.

"It did. It really did," McConkey said. "It's crazy. I know. ... It was definitely something. I realized it and then I went 'Whew' because that was really something. That really means something."

His grandfather, Vic McConkey, was a big Tennessee fan. McConkey said back in 2020 that he was "probably jumping up and down in his grave" about every bit of it all.

"He was really special," Ladd McConkey said. "He was one of my biggest fans. Every single game. He was there. He told me when I was messing up and didn't play my best and he told me when I played great. He was definitely a big part of my life."

Quick Chat: Kearis Jackson

Kearis Jackson hasn't yet been unleashed as a wide receiver yet this season. Limited by an injury, Jackson has returned punts for the No. 1-ranked Georgia football team but he has only seven catches for 67 yards through the Bulldogs' first six games, after catching 36 passes for 514 yards and three touchdowns in 2020.

A 6-foot and 200-pound redshirt junior from Fort Valley, Ga., Jackson has been around long enough for him to join the Quick Chat three-timers club. He's used to the silly questions about his favorite food or movie, so for this conversation, conducted after practice Wednesday, we covered some new ground.

During our Quick Chat, he talked about being in his fourth year in Athens and being a couple of months from graduation. He also talked about leadership and his experiences as a student representative on the UGA Athletics Board of Directors and SEC Football Leadership Council.

Here's some of what he had to say:

Frierson: Do you feel like you've been here a long time, or is it all just flying by quickly?

Jackson: Honestly, it feels like I've been here forever. But it's a good thing. Not only do I feel like I've been here forever, but it's flying by. I'm just trying to take advantage of every opportunity. With me being able to graduate in December, it's a huge accomplishment for me, my coaches, my family, everyone. It's exciting.

Frierson: What does it feel like to be so close to graduating, which is one of the biggest accomplishments you can have at your age?

Jackson: My biggest thing, I'll be done with school. I love football and once I can get school out of the way, I'll be able to just focus on football like I want to.

I know how I felt graduating from high school but graduating from college is huge. I'll be the first one in my family to graduate from a big institution like this, so it's a great achievement.

Frierson: Along with football and school, you've been involved with the UGA Athletic Board and the SEC Football Leadership Council. Where did those things come from? Were you involved in a lot of student activities like that in high school?

Jackson: When I was in high school I was able to speak at different things because I wanted to be a motivational speaker. At a young age, I was able to speak at a fifth-grade graduation up in Atlanta and I was able to speak at different elementary schools around my area, being able to use my voice as a platform.

Every time I go home, I try to be a positive influence on somebody's life, whether I'm going to an AAU basketball practice or go talk to a youth football team. Whatever it is, I'm trying to impact the community in some way.

Frierson: What was it like speaking at your first Athletic Board meeting, when you're there with the top people at the University of Georgia and within the athletic department?

Jackson: I remember my first Board meeting, it was on a Zoom. It was after a practice and I was sitting in the locker room [laughs], and I was like, how can I prepare my mind to be able to speak in front of these people? Once it started, it became natural to me and I was like, I've been here before. I was just being myself, and afterwards, it was like, you've got something special in you.

Frierson: I know the Georgia Way program helps get student-athletes comfortable meeting with important and successful people, so did that help?

Jackson: I feel like the Georgia Way, the University of Georgia, everything that this university has provided me with has prepared me for anything I'm doing. Things like going to the SEC Leadership Council, as a sophomore going to Birmingham and talking to the SEC Leadership Council committee, Commissioner

It made me a better speaker and it brought more confidence to myself to be able to speak in front of large crowds and things like that. I appreciate being able to use my platform at things like that and being able to represent the University of Georgia.

Frierson: When you first got here, did you ever imagine you'd be doing that kind of thing?

Jackson: Definitely not. I couldn't imagine myself doing those types of things, but they actually brought out another side of me that's been really good.

Frierson: You strike me as a natural leader. Do you embrace that role in the locker room and on the field?

Jackson: I definitely embrace that role because a lot of guys look up to me, especially in the receiver room since I'm the oldest. They look at me as a guy that's going to be respectful and that's going to lead them in the right way.

Frierson: I asked you a couple of years ago who the funniest guys on the team were and you said Divaad Wilson and Netori Johnson. Those guys are gone and there have are a lot of new guys that have become teammates since then, so who is the funniest guy now?

Jackson: The funniest guy, 2021 version? There are a lot of funny guys. If I need a good laugh, it has to be in the receiver room. I'd say Jackson Meeks because he's really funny and I treat him like my younger brother. Anything he does just cracks me up. I'd also say J.D. (Jordan Davis), just because of the way he carries himself. He's very athletic in what he does joking around and stuff. Whether he's dancing or singing or whatever, he's always funny.

Frierson: As a very good athlete yourself, what do you think when you see Jordan Davis run around and play football at 6-foot-6 and 340 pounds?

Jackson: J.D. is probably the biggest human I have ever seen move that fast, play that fast and run that fast. I think it was the South Carolina game when we were all captains and there's a picture of us standing there at the 50-yard line. I was like, look at me on the left, look at J.D. and look at Channing (Tindall), and J.D.'s like a big mannequin standing there in the middle. I was like, I'm going to frame this in my house one day.

Quick Chat: Kelee Ringo

The redshirt freshman defensive back is on the field with his mom, Tralee Hale, after the Bulldogs' win over Kentucky, both of them wearing big smiles. More significantly, Hale is dressed head-to-toe in pink, including her hair, and is wearing pink Spike Squad shoulder pads.

Diagnosed with breast cancer a couple of years ago, Hale spent the Kentucky game cheering with the Spike Squad and the UGA Paint Line, which had "TRALEE STRONG" spelled out on their backs, the letters in black and the skin painted pink for Breast Cancer Awareness Month in October.

Ringo, from Tacoma, Wash., though he went to high school in Scottsdale, Ariz., has started the past five games and his five pass breakups are tied for the team lead. During a Quick Chat after practice Tuesday, he talked about seeing his mom with the Spike Squad, his days as an elite junior sprinter (10.43 seconds in the 100 meters), Halloween, and much more.

Here's some of what he had to say:

Frierson: What was it like to have your mom cheering with the Spike Squad and see her name spelled out at the Kentucky game?

Ringo: It was great, honestly. I wasn't even the first one to notice that. I looked over at the student section during a TV timeout and one of my teammates said, "Isn't that your mom's name (spelled out) over there?" I was like, wow, that's crazy. I wasn't actually able to see my mom over there with them but when I saw the pictures it was a very great moment for me.

Seeing so many people cheering for her throughout her battle with cancer has meant a lot to me and I really appreciate Dawg Nation for that.

Frierson: What first got you into football? How did you get started?

Ringo: I remember going into second or third grade, I was already doing track and things like that, racing kids outside, just normal things that kids would do. Me being faster than a lot of the other kids that I grew up with, I felt like I had an opportunity to do something.

Playing football outside at the park was a great hobby of mine, and one day I was playing with some older kids and I was doing things that a lot of the other kids wouldn't expect me to be able to do. After that day, I went back to my grandmother's house and I was like, I want to play football.

That was a great feeling for me and after that day it took off.

Frierson: You obviously had very good track speed, so was there ever a point where you thought, if I put in the work in track then maybe this can lead to something special?

Ringo: Yes, sir, most definitely. As you said, if I put in the work then this definitely can lead to something special. I tried to be coachable and tried to use my speed at different times.

When I first started playing football, I was playing safety and was able to cover the field because I was fast, and also playing running back. They were like, give him the ball and let him do what he wants to do.

Frierson: What did you learn about yourself or football while redshirting last year following surgery? I'm guessing that was the first time you've ever spent a lot of time on the sideline.

Ringo: Previously, I've never had to sit out for any type of injury, especially throughout an entire season. It was definitely a chance to sit back and appreciate the game more, definitely, because I didn't have the opportunity to step out there on the field. It was a great thing for me to go through and I feel like it made me stronger mentally and physically.

Frierson: We just had Halloween the other day, so what is your favorite Halloween candy?

Ringo: Candy in general, I like Snickers, I like the little (Spongebob Squarepants) Krabby

Patties, 3 Musketeers, Smarties — I've liked Smarties since I was a kid. I'd kill the Smarties first thing. I like lollipops, too.

Frierson: Reese's usually comes up No. 1 ...

Ringo: Reese's, yes, yes.

Frierson: I actually like the Halloween fun-sized Snickers better than the full-sized bar, which I think is actually too dense.

Ringo: Facts, facts, yes. You have to break it off to be able to get to it.

Frierson: Do you have a favorite costume that you've ever worn?

Ringo: Spiderman — I was probably Spiderman more times than I wasn't Spiderman throughout my time dressing up as a kid. I remember when I was a child, when I'd walk into my kitchen in Washington, there was an (archway) and I would almost crawl up the wall. I'd look down almost as if I was Spiderman.

As I got taller and grew more, my body wasn't able to fit anymore. I loved being able to crawl up the wall and look around like I was Spiderman.

Frierson: Who is the funniest guy on the team?

Ringo: Ooh, there are a lot.

Frierson: There's one obvious answer, the guy with the large personality who's also the largest person most of us have ever seen.

Ringo: Jordan Davis, yes.

Frierson: Is there anyone else that comes close?

Ringo: Chris Smith is pretty funny, Ameer Speed — a lot of my defensive backs, guys that I'm around most of the time. Latavious Brini is also really funny.

Frierson: How valuable is that during a long season, having a room and a team full of guys that get along and make each other laugh?

Ringo: It's greatly valuable, the relationships that you have with each other and learning stuff about different people that you're with almost throughout your entire day and entire week. It's definitely a good thing to enjoy being around each other and it will definitely be a great memory to have.

Frierson: If you could be great at anything for a day, just to experience it, what would it be?

Ringo: If I could possibly get paid for it, I'd like to be an NBA player. I can only imagine being able to come up the court and not miss at all, like ever, where you're like, people can't stop be at all [laughs]. That's definitely something I think about from time to time, for sure.

Dan Jackson is latest walk-on to make a mark with Georgia Bulldogs

By Chip Towers
Atlanta Journal-Constitution

ATHENS -- Just who is Dan Jackson? If you were watching Georgia's game against No. 8 Arkansas this past Saturday, then you at least know that he wears No. 47 for the No. 2-ranked Bulldogs and blocked a punt in the 37-0 victory at Sanford Stadium. But Jackson was making an impression at UGA long before his perfectly-timed sprint through the middle of the Razorbacks' punt formation resulted in a Georgia's third touchdown of the first quarter.

"Ah, Dan," junior defensive tackle Travon Walker said, a grin stretching across his face. "Dan is one of those guys that, ever since he first came here, has always worked hard, never complained about anything. You never hear him say anything negative. He's one of those guys that's just always positive, always around the locker room smiling, always there to pick you up. He's a great teammate."

"Seeing him block that punt, that was awesome!"

Dan Jackson is the son of Joe and Valencia Jackson of Gainesville, Ga. His father is a dentist and his mother also works in the family practice there on Limestone Parkway near the shores of Lake Lanier.

Dan is one of three boys in the Jackson household. Sam is the oldest. Like Dan, Sam was MVP of the North Hall High football team. He has already graduated from UGA and is now attending dental school himself. Will is the youngest. He's a junior at North Hall, where he is trying to follow in his older brothers' footsteps as a football and baseball player. However, he is currently recovering from an ACL injury. He watched Saturday's game at Sanford Stadium on crutches.

As for Dan, he was one of the most talented football players David Bishop has ever coached at North Hall. He played both ways for the Trojans as a running back and defensive back and also returned kicks. Jackson accounted for 1,785 all-purpose yards, 26 TDs and four interceptions as a senior.

Bishop spent the better part of Dan's final year at North Hall trying to convince anybody who would listen that his pupil was worthy of a college scholarship offer. Alas, none were forthcoming.

"The spring before his senior year he was probably 5-foot-11, maybe 160 pounds," Bishop said. "He had excellent speed, but he was just skinny. Over the summer, he just blossomed. His body changed, his strength went through the roof. I pushed him hard with Air Force, but when they came and visited him, they saw the skinny guy."

After Jackson was named Region 7-AAA Player of the Year and played in the GACA All-Star game, the Air Force Academy reevaluated its decision. They finally stepped up with an offer two days before Jackson was supposed to enroll at UGA for summer school.

But after going to bed thinking he was going to accept the Falcons' offer – which comes with a postgraduate enlistment requirement – Jackson woke up the next morning realizing he wanted to go to Georgia as planned.

For that, the Bulldogs are extremely thankful. "All he does is give everything he's got every single day," Georgia coach Kirby Smart said. "I love the kid, he's done a great job, the kid deserves a dang scholarship and soon as we can get one from him, we're going to try and do that."

Three years later, the Georgia walk-on is 6-1 and is closing in on 200 pounds. Smart said Jackson runs a legitimate 4.5-second 40-yard dash, which is what first grabbed his attention, and he studies film like he's preparing for a mechanical engineering final.

Saturday's blocked punt perfectly encapsulated everything Jackson brings to the table for the Bulldogs.

Arkansas was having to punt from its own 8. Jackson didn't show he was coming after the kick until the last second, then he timed up his rush perfectly. Getting a running start from the left flank of the defensive secondary, he accelerated through a gap the line of scrimmage just as the ball was snapped.

Halfway into the Arkansas end zone, Jackson leapt just as an upback caught up with a shoulder. Jackson's outstretched fingertips caught the ball milliseconds after it left the foot of Arkansas punter Reid Bauer. Jackson knew he'd blocked the kick but couldn't locate the ball before it bounded back down to earth.

Georgia's Zamir White saw it, though. The Bulldogs' starting running back pounced on it a yard from the back line of the end zone. An already deafening din inside Sanford Stadium grew even louder as the Georgia took a 21-0 lead with 2:18 still remaining in the first quarter.

On the opposite end of Sanford Stadium, Jackson's family struggled to figure out what just happened.

"I was on the wrong side of the field," said Joe Jackson, who was sitting in the West End grandstands with the rest of the players' parents. "I had a hard time seeing it, but I could tell by the crowd's reaction that something good happened. Then I saw it on the replay board. It just never gets old watching that replay."

Jackson's entire family was there to enjoy the moment. Now that Dan has assumed a regular role with the Bulldogs, they try to make it to every game, home and away.

In addition to being a special-teams starter, Jackson is also listed as Georgia's backup to Lewis Cine at free safety. He has played in every game this season. He enters Saturday's game at Auburn with seven tackles and a quarterback pressure.

"We're just enjoying the ride with him," Joe Jackson said. "We're just happy for him that his hard work is paying off. Dan has a lot of people praying for him. And, you know, that's the thing; you just don't know how long you're going to stay healthy and be able to contribute. So, we just pray for his safety and health. And Dan knows that's where it all comes from. So, he just relies on his strong faith to get him through the rigors of each day."

Jackson is a redshirt sophomore, so he has at least two more years remaining with the Bulldogs. He had an interception in the G-Day Game last April, so the thinking within the team is there are more big plays within him.

"Dan's one of the hardest working guys I know and also one of the best guys I know," said Georgia snapper Payne Walker, a fellow walk-on. "He's just a guy who comes in every day and gets his work done. He keeps his head down, doesn't say a lot. Dan's never had a problem with doubting himself. He's very confident, shows up and shows out."

For Jackson, the blocked punt and the regular playing time are bonuses. But his father said making such plays is really not Dan's primary motivation.

"I tell you, Dan is just so thrilled to get such great coaching," Joe Jackson said. "I mean, he's getting to learn from these great coaches every day and he knows he's so blessed just to get to go through this experience. Being a walkon and getting trained by the best of the best, he's just trying to soak it all up learn all he can and just give it his all."

Quick Chat: JT Daniels

GeorgiaDogs.com

By: John Frierson

Published Sept. 23, 2021

ATHENS -- As you might expect, Georgia quarterback JT Daniels has a favorite football movie. What that movie is, which he revealed during a Quick Chat after Wednesday's practice, you probably wouldn't expect.

It's not "Remember the Titans" or "Friday Night Lights." It's not "The Waterboy" or "The Longest Yard," two football comedies with Adam Sandler, or even the original "Longest Yard" with Burt Reynolds. No, Daniels' favorite football film stars Andy Dick. Seriously.

A redshirt junior from Irvine, Calif., the 6-foot-3 and 210-pound Daniels in the two games he's started this season has completed an exceptional 45 of 61 pass attempts (73.8%), for 438 yards and three touchdowns. All three of those TD passes came in last Saturday's 40-13 win over South Carolina, with the scores going for 43, 38 and 4 yards.

Daniels won all four of his starts in 2020 and has won both this season heading into Saturday's game at Vanderbilt. During our Quick Chat, he talked about movies, throwing to wideout George Pickens, his ability to remember plays, and much more. Here's some of what he had to say:

Frierson: Do you have a favorite football movie?

Daniels: I want to say that "Division III: Football's Finest" is all of our quarterbacks' favorite football movie. It's R-rated and definitely not one for the kids. I had a Netflix account and it just came up on there. "Division III: Football's Finest" — if you've never seen it, it's the most criminally underrated sports movie ever. It's hilarious.

I do remember watching "Remember the Titans" when I was a kid, and as a kid that was probably my favorite football movie.

Frierson: What was it about "Division III: Football's Finest"? I'll admit that I haven't heard of it before now. Is it a comedy?

Daniels: It's Andy Dick. It's a complete joke movie, a crazy, psycho coach being super funny while coaching a Division III football team. It's awesome.

Frierson: Do you read many books about football? Are there some good quarterback autobiographies that stick with you?

Daniels: I read but not a lot about that. I watch stuff, like "The Football Life" on NFL Network. I also spend a lot of time on YouTube. "The Brady Six" is on YouTube and I'll watch that before games sometimes.

Frierson: YouTube has everything, of course, so will you watch the collection videos, like every touchdown Peyton Manning ever threw?

Daniels: In high school I used to watch, someone put up every pass that Tom Brady ever threw, so I've seen every Tom Brady pass. For my pregame, Trevor Moawad was one of my best friends and had been since I was an eighth-grader, and he had his production team make videos for me. I would watch those before every game.

[NOTE: Moawad was a Los Angeles-based sports psychologist who worked with Daniels for many years, and also did some work with Georgia after Kirby Smart took over as head coach. Moawad died earlier this month at age 48 after battling cancer.]

Unfortunately, I'll never get another one. The last one I got, right before the Clemson game, was an all-time great one. I watched that before South Carolina and I'll say I'm going to watch that before every game for the rest of my life.

Frierson: Do you do anything before games because of superstitions or ...

Daniels: I have no superstitions whatsoever. I used to be, growing up, I always had superstitions. I really don't know what it is that got me completely out of it. It was probably that we weren't very good my freshman year in college (at USC) and I did the same superstitions that I always had, so clearly they didn't work or mean anything.

Frierson: If I asked you what was your best pass ever, is there one that immediately comes to mind?

Daniels: The first one that came to my mind was, unfortunately, the only catchable pass I've ever seen George not catch, which is crazy because he's got the best ball skills I've ever seen. Since I've been in college, he's the best — probably the best football player I've ever seen.

It was Mississippi State (last season), second-and-10, and I actually didn't get us in the right protection. Someone came free and I had to spin, step up, and threw a deep post to George over a safety. It's the one that he didn't catch and I've never seen someone so surprised they didn't make a circus catch.

Frierson: Are you like Rams coach Sean McVay in that you can remember pretty much every play from every game you've been a part of?

Daniels: I probably remember almost every drive since my sophomore year of high school.

Frierson: Is that valuable or is it almost too much in your head?

Daniels: I think it's very valuable. Well, is it really that valuable? I'm not sure, but I do have some sort of photographic memory when it comes to that. I'm photographic when it comes to football but that's about it. I can see it once and I'll never forget it.

Frierson: Have you watched the Peyton and Eli Manning version of "Monday Night Football"? As a guy that can't get enough football, it would seem right up your alley.

Daniels: I'm sure I would like it because they're so entertaining but I don't ever watch football on TV, though. I don't remember the last time I watched a whole game. I watch soccer and basketball. Soccer's my favorite sport and basketball's up there.

I don't watch football on TV but I do watch a lot of NFL stuff on the NFL Films breakdown that we have. And I'll watch highlights on YouTube now and then. I really don't know what it is but I will watch soccer before I watch football, 10 out of 10 days.

UGA TE Brock Bowers is Finally Back on a Football Field. Playing Games Runs in the Family

By Marc Weiszer
Athens Banner-Herald
Published April 13, 2021

ATHENS --The first real college football game for UGA's 16 early enrollees won't come until September, but Saturday's G-Day will probably feel awfully close for Brock Bowers. His last game was 17 months ago.

The tight end from Napa, Calif., was hoping to play as a high school senior, but when his home state still hadn't started its pandemic-delayed season by January, he decided to enroll at Georgia.

"He was devastated," said Warren Bowers, his father. "They kept moving the bar so he was pretty wound up, upset, disappointed and frustrated. That's the last thing you need going into your senior year, right? You want to have a good time and be the big kid on the block. It was a shame."

They bounced the idea of doing what other soon-to-be college players that had no fall football did — move to a state where games were still played.

They talked about picking up and moving to Athens and playing with another member of UGA's 2021 signing class, quarterback Brock Vandagriff at Prince Avenue Christian, or playing for Warren's friend who coaches at a school in Reno, Nev.

They decided to stay put in Wine Country — the closest winery to them is the Fontanella Family Winery — and see whether Napa High's season would be played before Bowers had to leave for Georgia. It didn't.

Bowers, rated as the nation's No. 3 tight end prospect by the 247Sports Composite, spent the fall doing workouts with a personal trainer, John Cortese, during the COVID-19 shutdown.

"He was driven to get better," his father said.

Bowers graduated and is now rooming with Vandagriff and linebacker Chaz Chambliss, another freshman, at Georgia.

His parents flew with him in January to help move him into UGA and are returning this week for the spring game.

Their daughter, Brianna, is also a college athlete, playing outfield for the softball team at Sacramento State about an hour away.

Brock and Brianna followed their parents' path in the same sports that they excelled in at Utah State.

Mother DeAnna was inducted into that school's athletics hall of fame in 2016 after an All-American pitching career. Warren was a three-time All-Big West center at the school.

That made playing games at home rather competitive.

"We were pretty intense, let's put it that way," Warren said. "From everything from front yard football to friggin' Easter egg hunting."

Bowers, listed at 6-foot-4 and 230 pounds, looked to be on a basketball path, but that changed when he went to The Opening regional and ran a 4.55 40 and recorded a 40.2-inch vertical jump.

In the next week, he had an offer from Nevada. Oregon State was on board weeks later, then other offers started piling up. After he went to a Southern Cal camp, the Trojans offered, then other schools jumped aboard, including Georgia that September.

Bowers, who had 39 catches for 1,098 yards with 14 touchdowns as a junior, committed to the Bulldogs last August. He liked Athens' small town feel and the energy of the Georgia coaches, including position coach Todd Hartley.

His father is on the coaching staff at Napa High, which is playing a five-game spring season that started in the state March 5. Brock is catching his former teammates by watching the games on a live stream.

"He's staying up a little too late on Friday nights before Saturday's scrimmages to watch them play," his father said.

It apparently hasn't affected him much. Coach Kirby Smart offered his early impression of Bowers after Georgia's first spring scrimmage April 3 after Bowers already was generating buzz in the closed practices. "He's a talented guy, he's bright and learning quickly; he's got some speed and burst, he has great hands," Smart said. "He's got a ways to go in the blocking game in terms of the run game, but that's something he's going to develop. He's got toughness." That 4.55 speed has shown up on the practice field.

"Brock, he's an excellent player," safety Christopher Smith said. "He's a smart route runner and has a good amount of speed. A couple of times he done broke ankles on me. I had to speed it up a little bit to catch him and hold him down. I didn't know that he was that fast. Brock's a great player, really level-headed. All he wants to do is work and compete."

His parents — Warren is a president of a construction firm and DeAnna a math teacher — are ready for cross-country trips to see Brock play the next few seasons. They bought a condo in downtown Athens.

Georgia already has some big targets at tight end in sophomore Darnell Washington and John Fitzpatrick. Bowers appears to be a strong candidate for touches now as well.

"This kid lined up at tailback in high school and made plays," Smart said, "so he's used to carrying the ball."

Zamir White's Journey From Two Weeks to Live to Georgia's Star Back and Beyond

By Mark Schlback & Marty Smith
ESPN.com

Published Oct. 29, 2021

ATHENS, Ga. -- Shanee White was 14 years old when she became pregnant with her first child. At six months, a doctor told her that her baby, a boy, weighed just one pound and advised her to abort the pregnancy.

Her grandmother, Nancy White, quickly overruled the doctor.

"We're not going to terminate the pregnancy," she said. "No matter what's wrong with him, he's going to be born."

Shanee, already overwhelmed about having a child while still in high school, urged her grandmother to listen to the doctor.

"The doctor is not God, so he doesn't have the last say," her grandmother told her. "If he takes one breath, he's going to take it."

Shanee's baby was born on Sept. 18, 1999. Although he had grown to about seven pounds, he had a cleft lip and cleft palate. The next day, after his body temperature dropped and he was losing weight because he wouldn't eat, he was transferred to a hospital in Chapel Hill, North Carolina. Doctors there told Shanee that her son might not live for another two weeks.

"I was just sitting there staring," Shanee said. "I just looked at him for a long time like, 'What am I going to do?'"

Today, the baby boy that was given just two weeks to live is the leading rusher on the No. 1-ranked college football team in the country.

Zamir White not only survived, he grew to become a five-star recruit, a Georgia Bulldogs fan favorite affectionately known as "Zeus" and a potential NFL draft choice in 2022. And, more importantly, he has become an inspiration for children who were born with the same medical condition as him.

But it wasn't always easy. After three months in the hospital, Zamir survived and finally got to go home for the first time. When Nancy White's great-grandson finally came home, she fed him with a medicine dropper to keep him nourished. At six months, he underwent surgery to repair his cleft lip. Then there was another invasive procedure to repair the cleft palate, which is a hole in the roof of the mouth. According to the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, about one in every 1,600 babies is born with cleft lip and cleft palate in the U.S.

"It's difficult to look at your child," Shanee said. "I kept asking, 'What did I do?' They told me it was nothing that I had done. You just have to keep praying about it."

Shanee's baby boy had other health problems. He spent his second Christmas in the hospital for surgery to repair leaking kidneys. He had another surgery for a hernia, and a few years later doctors transferred bone from his hip to his mouth to further correct his lip and palate. Doctors put tubes in his ears to reduce infections as well.

"They would take him into one surgery and bring him out to another one," said Louise Pegues, Shanee's aunt. "He got so used to going to the hospital that when his mama was driving, he was like, 'No, I don't want to go.' He knew the route."

Despite the frequent surgeries for young Zamir, Shanee didn't second guess to Nancy's advice.

"I'm just glad I listened to my grandma," she said. "I didn't want to have a child in high school. It wasn't something that was planned, but it happened and he's here, and I love him to death."

Once Zamir was home from the hospital, Nancy White ordered her granddaughter back to school and took over his care. Zamir was walking before he was 1 and was running soon after. His great-grandmother had one rule: he couldn't go farther than she could see.

"She wouldn't let him out of her sight because she knew if he got a step ahead, she couldn't catch him," Pegues said. "I had to run him down one day and had a hard time. I didn't know a boy could run like that."

As if Zamir's health problems weren't enough, the family was hit with another crisis in 2003. Nancy's mobile home caught on fire, and Shanee rescued her great-grandmother and toddler son, leading them through the smoke and flames.

"When Shanee tried to go back in to get some of their things, Nancy wouldn't let her go," Pegues said. "They lost everything."

The family moved into another house and eventually to an apartment, which is where Zamir stayed until he left for college in Athens.

When Zamir was six years old, his family signed him up for football at a recreation league in Laurinburg, North Carolina. Almost immediately, his coaches noticed he was different from everyone else. One of them, Richard Bailey, told Shanee that her son would one day be playing in the NFL.

"He told me the truth that day," Shanee said. "I don't know what he was actually envisioning, but I thought the man was crazy, honestly."

Zamir's father went to prison shortly after he was born, and he has never had much of a relationship with him. So, Shanee's uncle, Anthony Pegues, stepped in as a father figure. One day, when Zamir was still in elementary school, he told his Uncle Anth, "I want to be great."

"The greatest player I ever saw was Walter Payton," Anthony told his great-nephew. "You got to know what greatness is. Now, we're not talking about an average player. You said you want to be the very best. So when you say that, you've gotta live it and you gotta eat football. You gotta really want this."

Almost every day, Anthony worked out with Zamir, whether it was running, doing push-ups and situps, throwing the football or learning the gaps in the offensive line.

"I just did like any uncle would do for [his] nephew," Anthony said. "We practiced together. We prayed together. Basically, we did everything a father figure would do for his child."

While school was sometimes a challenge socially, especially after his great-grandmother died, Zamir found his calling on the football field. Between those lines, other kids wouldn't tease him about the scars on his face or his slurred speech. Out there, he was just like everyone else -- only better.

"Football means everything to me," said Zamir, who has 400 rushing yards with eight touchdowns for the Bulldogs going into Saturday's game against Florida. "It's just a safe space for me [where] I can get away from everything I've been through. It's just like therapy for me. I love football."

As a freshman at Scotland High School in 2014, Zamir started the season as the third-string tailback. He scored a 53-yard touchdown the first time he touched the ball, and then supplanted the starter, a senior, after only two games. By his junior season, he was among the most heavily recruited players in the country, with Alabama, Georgia, LSU and others pursuing him. As a senior in 2017, he ran for 2,086 yards with 34 touchdowns in 11 games, averaging 14.1 yards per carry. He left high school as the fifth all-time leading rusher in North Carolina history with 7,169 yards.

"I've been doing it a long time and coached a bunch of [FBS college] football players," said Scotland High coach Richard Bailey. "I've never had a kid work harder than him. And he never missed a practice, never missed a workout. I've never heard him complain. It's always great when your best player is your hardest worker."

Scotland High seemed to be on its way to winning a Class 4A state championship during Zamir's senior season, but then he was injured in the final minutes of a 63-26 victory against Seventy-First High School in Fayetteville, North Carolina, in the second round of the playoffs. Zamir wasn't even carrying the ball when he was hurt, and he didn't think much about the injury when he limped off the field. Georgia's team doctors diagnosed him with a torn ACL in his right knee during a visit to campus the next day.

Georgia coach Kirby Smart said he never hesitated in still taking Zamir after the injury.

"This is a five-star talent, an unbelievable kid, but he has a 10-star character," Smart said. "He's got this undeniable love for the game and just affection for others that we knew this guy was going to be a special part of our program. And an ACL is repairable, it's going to get well."

Then, in another cruel twist of fate, Zamir tore the ACL in his left knee on a noncontact play while covering a punt in practice at Georgia in August 2018.

"That one hurt me because I had just gotten back, and I was like, 'Finally, my groove is back,'" Zamir said. "I was out there practicing and scrimmaging with the guys. It was crazy."

Georgia running backs coach Dell McGee said Zamir's medical challenges as a child helped him come back from two serious knee injuries within a year. Former Bulldogs running backs Nick Chubb and Todd Gurley, who suffered torn ACLs during their college careers, also encouraged Zamir during his rehabilitation.

"I just think it added to his ability to cope with outside factors," McGee said. "It showed a lot of resiliency. Just that mindset of nothing's too big, I can overcome anything, any obstacle. I think all of that from his childhood growing up helped with those issues that he's overcome."

After redshirting as a freshman, Zamir played behind current Detroit Lions tailback D'Andre Swift in 2019, running for 408 yards with three touchdowns. Last season, he took over the starting job and ran for 779 yards with 11 scores in 10 games. After the season, because of Zamir's history of knee injuries, McGee said he encouraged him to enter the NFL draft.

"I thought he should have, just because of the surgeries," McGee said. "You don't want to see him get injured again during his senior year. At least you've got some trail [left] on your tires, but he had faith in his abilities. He had faith that he wanted to improve his draft stock. He also had faith in Coach Smart and this team, and he wanted to do something special."

It would have been easy for Zamir to leave. His hometown of Laurinburg is one of the poorest cities in North Carolina. The town of about 15,000 residents has a poverty rate of 33.8%, about three times as high as the national average. The median annual income is $30,862, less than half the national average. According to the National Center for Education Statistics, all but three of the 1,353 students enrolled at Scotland High in the 2019-2020 school year were eligible for free lunches.

When Zamir left for Georgia, his mother told him, "You've got to do something with yourself. You can't stay here. It's not an option for you to live here in Scotland County. You can't. You've got to leave here."

Shanee, now 36, knows the plight of Laurinburg's residents all too well. She graduated from high school, went to college and earned a master's degree in criminal justice at Fayetteville State University. She works for the state's Department of Public Safety as a corrections officer.

"We've got so many good kids and we have so much talent that comes through Scotland High School," she said. "They just fall victim to the streets and all the stuff that's going on around here. I don't want my son to be a statistic to that. I go to work every day, and I see a lot of guys in prison. That's not what we're doing."

Shanee and her daughter, Zimora McClain, still live in Laurinburg. Zamir wants to get to the NFL to help them leave, too.

"For my mom to go back to school and believe in herself, after having me so early, and seeing her keep fighting no matter what, I'm proud of her," Zamir said. "That's something I've got to pay her back for. I know she's not expecting it. My mother doesn't care about material things, but my goal is to make it to the NFL and support my mother, sister and aunts for what they did for me."

Zamir is paying back in other ways, too. He has worked closely with Extra Special People, an Athens organization that works with people with disabilities. He also has encouraged young people dealing with cleft lip and cleft palate whenever he can.

Jimbo Floyd and his wife, Jenny, learned their first child, James, had a craniofacial abnormality during an exam in the 36th week of her pregnancy. Doctors induced labor right away, and James was born with a cleft lip and cleft palate on March 20, 2009.

Jimbo took James and his younger brother, Henry, to a Georgia football practice two years ago. Jimbo, an insurance agent in Gainesville, Georgia, grew up with Smart and reached out about his sons meeting Zamir. After practice, Zamir threw the football with James for about 15 minutes. Zamir also whispered something to James that he still won't share with his brother and parents.

"I wish I knew," Jimbo said. "I can't describe the smile on his face when Zamir finished talking. He was beaming with confidence and excitement. He immediately struck up a friendship with my son. It was 15 minutes out of a day, but for my son, it meant the world to him."

Ashley Collins, a Bulldogs fan from Decatur, Georgia, met Zamir in the lobby of an on-campus hotel before a football game in 2019. Only a couple of months earlier, Collins and her husband, Casey, had been told that their youngest daughter, Harper, would soon be born with a craniofacial difference.

"I almost told him about it, but I knew I couldn't break down and cry in front of a kid who was about to play in a big football game," Collins said.

Like Shanee, a doctor had advised Ashley that she could terminate her pregnancy, but that it would have to be done soon under Georgia's abortion law.

"Already knowing Zamir's story at the time and then kind of relating it, you're thinking, 'Well, what if his mom had done the same thing?'" Ashley said. "This is not a life-threatening condition. They're going to have a good, sustainable life and be normal. For anyone to have even suggested that was mind-blowing and shocking."

Harper was born with a cleft lip and cleft palate in January 2020. Now nearly two years old, Harper has undergone two surgeries and is thriving. Ashley hopes her daughter will meet Zamir one day, and she has been searching for a toddler-sized No. 3 Georgia jersey on the internet.

"To see the impact he has and being so open about it, it really has given us a lot of inspiration," Ashley said. "He hasn't let it stop him from over-coming and being great. He is such a light. We love Zamir and feel such a connection to him."

Smart said he's proud of the impact Zamir is having on kids with similar conditions.

"He's embraced it most of his life now," Smart said. "So when he sees a young man or young woman with the same thing, they admire him. I've watched kids walk up to him and just light up, and he lights them up because he's so charismatic."

For now, Zamir is focused on helping Georgia beat Florida and winning the SEC. That would give the Bulldogs a chance at trying to end their 41-year drought without a national championship in the College Football Playoff.

And they'll do it while riding the back of a 22-year-old man who wasn't supposed to live beyond two weeks.

"I always felt like God gave him a chance," Bailey said. "I think he felt like he owed it to God and his family and everybody to just make the most of his talent and the most of his opportunity. I get chills thinking about it. But I really do think that part of his drive is, 'I'm not going to cheat this opportunity. I've been given a lease on life.'"

Zamir is making the most of that chance. Doctors have recommended yet another surgery that would involve breaking his jaw and realigning it. So far, he has been reluctant to go through yet another procedure.

"I'm fine the way I am," Zamir said. "I know I'm perfect in God's eyes, and that's all that matters to me."
